March through Rome protesting antiabortion stands

50,000 screaming women denounce Pope

ROME (AP) — Tens of thousands of women marched through downtown Rome Saturday waving their clenched fists and shouting slogans against the Pope and Premier Aldo Moro's Christian Democrats for their opposition to legalized abortion.

It was the biggest feminist rally ever in Italy. Women flocked to Rome by cars, buses and trains from all over Italy and marched for three hours through the churches and palaces of old Rome disrupting traffic. Most were young women.

Estimates of the number of marchers ranged from 50,000 to 100,000.

The turnout was exceptional since the demonstration was organized hurriedly after the Church-backed Christian Democrats joined with the rightist Italian Social Movement in the Chamber of Deputies to win approval of a provision allowing abortion only in rape cases and when the woman's life is endangered. The vote upset traditional political alliances and led to a postponement of further voting on the abortion bill.

Pope Paul, the Vatican and Premier Moro were the favorite target of sarcasm and fourletter words in the slogans and streamers. But many in the crowd also denounced Communist leader Enrico Berlinguer for his efforts at working out a compromise solution with the Catholics.

Among the most moderate slogans that roared through the streets and in the oval Piazza Navona where the women rallied for a night of proabortion vigil were:

"The body is not to be managed by the doctor or even less by God, the womb is mine and I manage it myself."

"We are not whores, we are not saints. We are all women."

"Today in the square to abort. Tomorrow in the fight with the gun."

"Yes, yes, yes, let's abort the Christian Democrats."

"Berlinguer, Berlinguer, they have cheated you too."

As the demonstrators streamed into Piazza Navona, a newlywed couple walked out of the baroque St. Agnes' church. The marchers stormed the blackdressed bridegroom and the bride in her ankle-length white wedding gown waving posters and shouting "abortion! abortion!"

The couple ducked into their car and sped off. Priests hurried to lock up St. Agnes' and another church in the square. Hundreds of young male sightseers cheered the proabortionists.

Some women marched pushing their babies in carriages. Two lines of women marched joining hands on both sides of the column keeping men away.

Some of them were seen pushing and threatening to slap young men who wanted to join. Other girls paused a second for a quick kiss with their boyfriends on the sidewalks.

Thousands of passers-by in the warm sun stopped to watch the women go by. Young men and women smiled in sympathy. Many older people looked on in amazement.

The march came as Italy prepared to celebrate Monday the 30th anniversary of the law that granted women equal electoral rights as men.

The march also marked a growing militancy on the part of once docile Italian women.

Two months ago dozens of militant women demonstrators overcame police guarding the Milan Cathedral and penetrated inside the building to protest the Vatican's declaration on sexual ethics that continued the Church's ban on sex outside marriage.

Trucks begin rolling as strike is settled

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — A tentative settlement was reached Saturday to end the Teamsters' three-day strike against the trucking industry.

Some trucks began rolling Saturday night and officials said freight-hauling operations would be back to normal by Monday.

Teamster President Frank E. Fitzsimmons told a news conference "the strike has been terminated" and called on the 400,000 drivers and warehousemen of his union to return to work.

Under the agreement, sources said the Teamsters would get a $1.65 an hour pay boost over 36 months, an open ended cost-of-living allowance and $17 a week in fringe benefits.

Teamsters currently average between $7.18 and $7.33 an hour.

The strike, which caused layoffs in Detroit, Wisconsin and elsewhere, also triggered sporadic violence against truckers who kept their rigs moving despite the work stoppage.

Among the hardest hit was the auto industry, which had announced about 20,000 strikeinduced layoffs for early next week.

But American Motors Corp. said Saturday night it will operate three plants that had been scheduled to close Monday. AMC said it was asking its 11,000 employes at the Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., and the Brampton, Ont., assembly plants to report to work Monday.

The AMC spokesman said the company reversed its decision to close the plants because trucks already were on the move with the needed parts late Saturday.

A spokesman for General Motors Corp. said lines at the GMC Truck and Coach division in Pontiac, Mich., would probably remain closed Monday because of the parts shortage, but the Chevrolet Suburban and Blazer plant in Flint, Mich., could reopen if parts were received in time.

Officials at Ford and Chrysler, which have kept assembly lines moving, indicated earlier that they may have to halt production due to shortages caused by the first coast-to-coast Teamsters strike.

The Teamsters negotiating board said it voted unanimously to recommend ratification of the new master contract to the rank and file.

However, some dissident union members said after the settlement Saturday that they plan to fight for rejection and hoped to keep sympathetic members off the roads. Ken Paff, coordinator of Teamsters for a Decent Contract, said the dissidents questioned some of the reported benefits such as the hourly wage hike.

Negotiators for the Teamsters and the trucking industry planned to meet Monday to clarify the language of the agreement. No ratification date has been set.

In Washington, President Ford issued a statement expressing pleasure with the settlement. "I want to compliment the negotiators and Secretary of Labor W.J. Usery Jr. for their efforts to work out a settlement through the collective bargaining process," he said.

Usery, who met with both sides over six days of difficult bargaining, said the union negotiating committee unanimously recommended ratification of the agreement by rank-and-file members in a vote tentatively set for next weekend. Officials said a few supplementary details remained to be ironed out but nothing on the agenda would impede an immediate return to work.

Usery said the pact negotiated by the union with Trucking Employers Inc. was "in the best interests of the nation, the best interests of the Teamsters and the best interests of the industry." He refused, however, to comment on whether he considered it inflationary, saying he had "not had time to assess its impact" in those terms.

Fourth suspect held in shooting

A fourth juvenile has been arrested by Industry sheriff's deputies in connection with the shooting of a 16-year-old Hacienda Heights boy.

Three other youths were taken into custody in the shooting of Mario Rosales Friday afternoon in Hacienda Heights.

FATAL HOTEL FIRE

Firemen fight to control the Avondale Hotel fire in Miami Saturday. Seven persons were killed and 13 were injured in the downtown blaze, believed to be deliberately set.

Ramiro Gomez hangs on to his three pet dogs after escaping from the Avondale Hotel fire. Gomez, the hotel's landlord also has a pet German Shepherd that remained in the hotel during the fire but survived.

Seven die in hotel fire

MIAMI (AP) — Seven persons, some of them too old to crawl out of windows and jump to safety, died Saturday when a fire that authorities said "in all probability" was deliberately set swept through one of Miami's oldest hotels.

Thirteen others suffered burns and other injuries, many caused by 20- and 30-foot leaps.

"We suspect arson," said a Fire Department spokeswoman. "We believe that in all probability it was arson because of the nature of the fire and the evidence we found."

She said officials found in the rear of the building an empty container that had held a flammable liquid. Investigators said the fire began in the back of the hotel.

Earlier, police questioned three men, one of them a former employe of the hotel, but officers said the three were released and the investigation was continuing.

The fire erupted at about 1 a.m. and quickly spread through the 70-year-old Avondale Hotel in the heart of downtown Miami and an adjacent, unoccupied hotel. A third hotel was less severely damaged.

Firemen at the Avondale told of elderly victims standing at their windows, screaming for help and then falling back into the flames before rescuers could reach them.

"Had these old people been a little stronger, they could have stepped out the window, onto a ledge and then onto an adjacent roof," said Fire Chief Don Hickman.

Hickman said some of the first-floor windows had bars to protect the building's 32 residents from burglars, but everyone on the first floor was believed to have made it to safety.

Fireman W. H. Smith said he had just arrived when "somebody jumped out of a second-floor window and hit my shoulder on the way down. He walked away — lucky for him, not so lucky for me."

Ramiro Gomez, the resident landlord of the hotel, said an explosion jolted him awake. Gomez, a 65-year-old amputee, said he could not find his artificial leg in the rapidly increasing smoke, so he waited as long as possible for help. Finally, he crawled from his room.

"I was crawling through the hallway," he said. "I heard people upstairs hollering, screaming. It was full of smoke."

Gomez, who finally was helped to the street by a friend, was clutching his three bulldogs, which followed him to safety. Dressed only in a sheet and dirtied by his ordeal, Gomez waited for hours to learn the fate of a fourth dog. Finally, the animal trotted out of the ravaged building.

"It was horrible. It was horrible," said Joel Meyers, 38. "People were just standing at the window, screaming and trying to get out."

Meyers broke a leg jumping from a second-floor window. His wife escaped uninjured.

The smoke billowed hundreds of feet in the air and covered much of downtown Miami. A brief power outage was blamed on the fire.

Fire officials said that although the hotels were among Miami's oldest structures, they were well-kept.

"There were not flop houses," said Operations Director Craig Hamilton. "They were old as hell, but they had been kept up."

Four hours after the fire started, and as the last remaining flames were extinguished, firemen found 43-year-old Billie Sutton alive, sitting on a bed in a second-floor front apartment.

Michelangelo workroom found

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Art experts have discovered what they believe was a workshop of Renaissance master Michelangelo — including walls covered with his charcoal drawings — in the basement corridor of a basilica.

After four drawings — two angels, a cloaked man and a head of Christ — were uncovered on the basement walls of the Basilica of San Lorenzo on New Year's day, additional scrapings were made that yielded about 50 other drawings.

"Obviously, Michelangelo used the place as his workshop," said Dioclecio Redig de Campos, director of Vatican museums. At that time, the 16th century artist was working on the Medici chapel above the basilica.

Redig de Campos, an expert on Michelangelo who visited the basement recently, said that the Renaissance master "made the drawings to develop ideas or simply for fun."

Florentines of the time considered them "more or less scrawls" and whitewashed them, Redig de Campos said. "They cared only about accomplished works in the 16th century."

The new drawings, charcoal like the four that came to light earlier, display faces, legs and a huge figure of Christ and cover the entire walls of the 30-foot-long corridor.

The director of the Medici chapel, Paolo dal Pogetto, said he made the discovery accidentally while searching for a location for a new safety exit for visitors to the Medici tombs.

Dal Pogetto and his team, chipping and scraping delicately, made their way through two layers of whitewash, he said, but "we hardly hoped that the original findings could lead us to an entire gallery of Michelangelo's drawings."

S.F. strike in 4th day

Labor chieftans, city negotiator talk face-to-face

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Labor leaders and a city negotiator sat down together Saturday for the first time since the start of a four-day municipal strike that has idled public transit and stymied weekend recreation.

Former Mayor George Christopher joined the session at a downtown hotel as a neutral observer. The talks were the first face-to-face negotiations since 2,000 trade union members walked off the job early Wednesday — the third municipal walkout in two years in San Francisco.

It seemed unlikely, however, that the meeting would bring a quick end to the dispute over pay cuts.

Mayor George Moscone said he was encouraged by the negotiations which started after both sides agreed on Christopher as an impartial public observer. Christopher, mayor of the city from 1956 to 1964, met first with the Board of Supervisors and its negotiator, Patrick Mahler, and later with the San Francisco Labor Council to be filled in on the issues before the joint talks.

"The participants are sitting down in an atmosphere in which everything is open to discussion," Moscone told a news conference.

He said each side had expressed willingness to meet around the clock if necessary.

The weekend gave commuters a break from their search for other ways to get to work. Downtown San Francisco seemed eerily empty without the clanging cable cars and other public transit.

Pickets remained at San Francisco International Airport and labor leaders renewed vows of shutting down the airport if the strike continues.

2,000 march on capital for jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 2,000 demonstrators marched to the Capitol on Saturday to demand that Congress adopt legislation committing the federal government to the attainment of a full-employment economy.

The demonstrators, most from the Northeast and Midwest, called for reduction in inflation and aid to cities. They also endorsed extension of unemployment insurance benefits, imposition of a debt moratorium and expansion of the food-stamp program.

ROME (AP) — Italians are shuddering at an outbreak of senseless and sadistic crimes by the offspring of the new rich.

Whatever the motive, the violence has struck with increasing instances of murder, torture and gang rape.

Last week, Olga Julia Calzoni, 17-year-old high school student and member of a blueblood family, ended up in a ditch on the outskirts of Milan, clubbed and shot to death at close range.

Police report two 20-year-old medical students, described as "Olga's childhood friends," confessed to the murder. Police claimed it was part of a kidnaping plan calling for the "elimination" of the victim.

Fabrizio de Michelis and Giorgio Invernizzi, jailed on charges of premeditated murder, both came from comfortable Milanese professional families where money appeared never to be a problem.

Olga, a descendant of the Sforza dukes who ruled Milan during the Renaissance, moved in the same circles — fast cars, weekends in Switzerland or on the Mediterranean seacoast, chic clothes and hand kissing.

Police claimed the youths had planned to kill her, tie her body to a cement block and drop it in a river, then demand a ransom equivalent to $1.3 million from her unsuspecting family. Investigators claimed they found a tape on which Olga, duped by her friends, had recorded an appeal which was to be sent to her parents.

"Probably it was a type of game. Their plan had no chance of success," a police officer told reporters.

According to the coroner's report, the girl had been beaten with a heavy club, then shot five times as she tried to run for her life.

In an equally lurid case last September, three members of Rome's fast set lured two girls to a seaside villa in San Felice Circeo, south of the capital, torturing and sexually abusing them for 48 hours before finally drowning one 17-year-old in a bathtub.

The other girl, 19, lived to tell her story to police only because she was mistaken for dead after being beaten with a tire iron and dumped in a car trunk.

Pier Paolo Pasolini, whose films and books portrayed the restless, impoverished youths living on the edge of Dolce Vita Rome, died brutually — run over by his own sports car — after a homosexual encounter with a 17-year-old last November.

Pasolini, a Communist intellectual, spoke out frequently against what he called "the corrupted morals of Italy's consumer society" born in the rubble of World War II and bred in the go-go years of the 1960s.

Sociologists and the Roman Catholic Church, searching for an explanation for the violent crimes, believe the rapid economic gain destroyed the traditional Italian values of family and church and left only a void in their place.

"There is a youth that has received everything from life except the real motivations for living," Giovanni Cardinal Colombo, archbishop of Milan, declared in a message deploring the Olga Calzoni killing.

"Many youths were assured the means for satisfying every experience of pleasure, but without any ideal for the absolute."

Crime involving the rich and the powerful is not a completely new phenomenon in Italy. The death of 19-year-old Wilma Montesi, whose body washed up at an exclusive beach resort outside Rome in 1953, nearly brought down the government of the time.

But it is such sadistic violence as an 18-year-old girl and her boyfriend executing her wealthy family of five because she wanted their money, as happened in Vercelli in northern Italy last November, that has caused alarm.

As sociologist Sabino Acquaviva put it, "the middle class knows its value system is crumbling and they don't know what values to offer their children."

There is also a political stain on today's rich thrill killers. Some are linked to right-wing and Neo-Fascist political violence.

The three youths charged in the Circeo murder — one of whom is still at large — reportedly had been involved in attacks on leftist youths at the University of Rome.

The two medical students arrested in Milan had no police record but boasted of being experts at target shooting and karate.

NATIONALLY KNOWN SPEED READING COURSE TO BE TAUGHT HERE IN POMONA VALLEY

Pomona (Spec.) Golden State Reading Lab, Inc. will offer a 4 week course in speed reading to a limited number of qualified pople in the Pomona area.

This recently developed method of instruction is the most innovative and effective program available in the United States.

Not only does this famous course reduce your time in the classroom to just one class per week for 4 short weeks, but it also includes an advanced speed reading course on cassette tape so that you can continue to improve for the rest of your life. In just 4 weeks the average student should be reading 4-5 times faster. In a few months some students are reading 20-30 times faster, attaining speeds that approach 600 words per minute. In rare instances, speeds of up to 13,000 wpm have been documented.

Our average graduate should read 7-10 times faster upon completion of the course with marked improvement in comprehension and concentration.

For those who would like additional information, a series of free, one hour, orientation lectures have been scheduled. At these free lectures, the course will be explained in complete detail, including classroom procedures, instruction methods, class schedule and a special 1 time only introductory tuition that is less than one-third the cost of similar courses. You must attend any of the meetings for information about the Pomona classes.

These orientations are open to the public, above age 14, (persons under 18 should be accompanied by a parent, if possible).

If you have always wanted to be a speed reader, but found the cost prohibitive or the course too time consuming . . . now you can! Just by attending 1 evening per week for 4 short weeks, you can read 7 to 10 times faster, concentrate better, and comprehend more.

If you are a student who would like to make A's instead of B's or C's, or if you are a business person who wants to stay abreast of today's everchanging, accelerating world, then this course is an absolute necessity.

These special one-hour lectures will be held the following times and places.

Thursday, April 8 at 6:30 & 8:30 P.M.
Friday, April 9 at 6:30 & 8:30 P.M.
Saturday, April 10 at 10:30 A.M. & 1:30 P.M.

Meetings will be held at Pomona Valley YMCA, 350 N. Garey Ave.

Tuesday, April 13, at 6:30 & 8:30 P.M.
Wednesday, April 14 at 6:30 & 8:30 P.M.

These last two days, meetings will be held at the Uplander Motel, located at Foothill Blvd. and Euclid.

If you are a businessman, student, housewife or executive, this course, which took 5 years of intensive research to develop, is a must. You can read 7-10 faster, comprehend more, concentrate better, and remember longer. Students are offered an additional discount. This course can be taught to industry or civic groups at "Group Rates" upon request. Be sure to attend whichever free orientation that fits best in your schedule.

Candidates scatter on campaign trail

By The Associated Press

President Ford and Rep. Morris Udall sought support in Wisconsin's farm belt Saturday in preparation for Tuesday's presidential primary while Sen. Henry M. Jackson campaigned in New York for that state's primary on Tuesday.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter was in Washington for the annual Gridiron Dinner, but planned to fly on to Wisconsin to campaign for Democratic votes on Sunday.

Ford's opponent in the GOP primaries, Ronald Reagan, spent the weekend in his home state of California.

Elsewhere, city government and labor leaders told a Democratic Platform Committee in Newport, R.I. — the first of four regional hearings — that the party's platform should include a plank calling for full employment to aid the nation's cities and unemployed.

Jackson's campaigning in New York City for the Democratic primary, in the absence of his major opponents Udall and Carter, brought him a handshake from Rep. Charles Rangel, former chairman of the Black Caucus, and an endorsement from New York City Mayor Abranam D. Beame.

"I have heard the positions of all the announced candidates," Beame said, "and I believe that of those whose names are on the ballot, Henry Jackson will do the most for the cities of our nation."

Ford defended his free-market farm policies in Wisconsin's dairy land, accepting gifts of local cheeses and other products from admirers in Fond du Lac and saying "all of us are a lot better off because of my policies."

Earlier, he told an audience of farm families, "we must keep the dead hand of regulation off your farm so you can use the live hands of farmers."

The President started his day with an early visit to a dairy farm, watching milking operations and breakfasting with the family of dairy farmer Peter Senn.

One farmer told Ford that Earl Butz should be fired as secretary of agriculture, but Ford disagreed and said Butz was one of the best men in that post in the nation's history.

"The issue before the voters is jobs," Udall told a regional conference of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes. "Shuffling departments around on some massive organization chart won't put a single person back to work."

Reagan told a Beverly Hills, Calif., news conference Friday that he intends to keep using paid television speeches as extensively as campaign funds will allow. At the same time, Secret Service agents and reporters were told they would have to pay their own way because the campaign could no longer afford to pay $50,000 a week for a chartered jet and then bill reporters and agents later.

After a weekend in California, Reagan is scheduled to leave Monday on a six-day swing through Texas and other Western states. He said the only way Wisconsin voters will see him before they vote Tuesday is on television.

Reagan said Wisconsin had never been regarded as a strong Reagan state, with early predictions placing his vote at 30 per cent. He said he hopes to do better than that, but has decided to concentrate his personal efforts elsewhere.

Reagan said he has "a fighting chance" in Texas, but said even if Ford beats him in both states, he won't drop out.

In other political developments:

—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace began a week-long break from active campaigning Saturday to reassess his finances and tactics but not, he said, "to throw in the towel."

Wallace returned to Montgomery Friday with no plans to return to Wisconsin prior to that state's primary Tuesday. His next tentative campaign trip is April 10.

Wallace had spent a week in Wisconsin, relying on television appearances and newspaper interviews more than rallies in trying to reach voters.

"We want to see how much money we can spend. We don't want to end up in indebtedness," said campaign director Charles S. Snider.

Baltimore County Executive Ted Venetoulis says he'll headup the Democratic presidential campaign of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in Maryland if the California contender agrees to visit the state prior to the Mav 18 primary.

Venetoulis said he was approached on Friday by Brown supporters who asked him to run the campaign in the state. Maryland's primary will mark the first ballot test for Brown, a late comer to the Democratic race.

The county executive characterized the talks as "very, very informal." He said he discussed the possibility with campaign workers in his home area and other parts of the state but would commit himself to a Brown effort only if the 37year-old freshman governor would agree to appear in the state four of five days prior to the election.

"The premise is they want to show some strength in an Eastern state," Venetoulis said.

"There isn't any question in my mind he would do well in Maryland. Of course it is late in the year and it would be tough. But it would be possible because no one else has really caught on in the state."

If Brown actively campaigns here, it would throw a wild card into what is rapidly developing into a close contest among the Democrats.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace, who was shot and critically wounded in Lanham, Md., in 1972, carried the state.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Negotiations on a law of the sea have come under sharp new challenge from the 49 countries that deem themselves "landlocked and geographically disadvantaged."

The group, ranging from Austria, Switzerland and West Germany to Paraguay and Nepal, is demanding ocean access through neighboring states and the right to fish and mine off the neighbors' coasts.

"The landlocked and GDs (geographically disadvantaged) could ruin the conference," declared a conference leader Friday as the talks by more than 1,200 negotiators from 156 nations finished the third of eight scheduled weeks.

Two key proposals before the conference are to extend a coastal nation's territorial sea to 12 miles and to give it "exclusive" fishing and oil-drilling rights up to 200 miles out to sea.

This would benefit only the 100 or so countries that have a substantial coastline. It would give them exclusive control over virtually all the world's fish stocks and known oil deposits.

The landlocked and geographically disadvantaged — countries that have no coastline or face out onto a small and crowded sea — sat meekly through the negotiating sessions in Caracas in 1974 and Geneva in 1975. They are now aware that unless they do something quickly they will forever sign away any claim to the richest third of the sea.

Adding to their anxiety are growing demands by Third World coastal states to control not only fishing and mining in the economic zone but pollution and scientific research as well. To the landlocked and GDs, this smells of "creeping nationalization" that would eventually give coastal states total sovereignty over the 200-mile zone.

So after a series of little-noticed meetings, they made these demands:

—Access to the ocean. This means that a neighboring state could not reject a landlocked state's demand for a route to the sea.

—The right to share in the fishing and mining of a neighbor's 200-mile economic zone. At the very least, the landlocked would demand the right to be first in line for any surplus fish.

—Dropping the word "exclusive" from the economic zone and making clear that coastal states have only specific and limited rights in it, not the right to control pollution or scientific research.

The demands surprised coastal delegates, who had assumed that the landlocked would be pleased with any crumbs. Without a treaty coastal states would claim 200-mile zones anyway, they said, but with the treaty the landlocked states at least stood to gain some revenues from mining in an international zone beyond the 200-mile point.

Major opponents of the landlocked demands are countries that would have to share their economic zones. These do not include the United States and the Soviet Union, who share some of the demands.

The two superpowers, wanting to assure shipping freedom, are reported alarmed at the demands of Third World coastal states for control over scientific research and pollution control in their economic zones.

Worried that the disputes may polarize and even kill the conference, organizers asked their star mediator, Jens Evensen of Norway, to convene a private committee and seek a way out of the deadlock. The committee began meeting late last week.

Although West Germany has access to the North Sea and is a major shipping nation, it still considers itself part of the disadvantaged group.

Argentina bans campus action

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — All political and union activities on Argentine university campuses were banned under a decree published Friday.

People who can't read still can get driver's license, says DMV

SACRAMENTO (AP) — People who can't read well should still have a chance to get driver's licenses, says the Department of Motor Vehicles in announcing a new look-and-listen test.

The test, being tried out at 13 Southern California DMV offices, uses cassette tape recordings to ask an applicant questions about 28 illustrated driving situations.

The new test is an alternative to the written portion of the driver's license test. Applicants must also take a driving test.

He says the new test requires "a thorough knowledge and understanding of driving laws and procedures."

The 30-minute test is offered in Spanish and English. The pilot project, financed by the federal government, started March 1 and ends in the next two weeks at most locations.

Marchi said both good and poor readers are eligible to take the test. He said anyone interested should make an appointment ahead of time.

Applicants must be between 18 and 26, never married, and California residents. They will be judged on poise and personality.

Preliminary judging will be held at the speedway on Sunday, May 2 at 1 p.m. The 10 finalists selected will then attend a coronation ceremony Saturday, May 22 at the Red Hill Country Club. A queen and four princesses will be chosen.

The queen and her court will represent the speedway at various events during the year such as races, golf tournament, parades and dances.

The queen contest is sponsored by the Ontario "500" Festival Association. Helen Palmieri is the festival's executive director and Paul Holtsclaw is queen selection committee chairman. The deadline for applications is April 19.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLASSES — The West End YMCA in Ontario is conducting physical fitness classes each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5:30 p.m.

Men and women may register at the YMCA building, 215 W. C St. For more information, they may phone 986-5847.

ONTARIO HOMES— Ontario building officials issued permits for 108 single family homes during March which represented a $3.7 million valuation.

This boosted to 208 homes and a $6.9 million valuation the totals for the first three months this year.

For March, the city issued a total of 139 building permits having a $4.1 million valuation.

Other permits and the valuations included: residential dwelling alterations, 74 permits and $202,340 valuation; industrial structure, one, $43,500; alterations to commercial and industrial buildings, eight, $45,725; and miscellaneous buildings, 36, $67,470.

Last month's building activity compared with March, 1975 with 320 permits and $9.6 million valuation.

KEEP SLIM — The West End YMCA will begin a new session of "slimnastics" Monday by offering a free introductory class the first week.

These sessions are held each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9:30 a.m. and Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The morning and night sessions can be changed.

The body movement class is for women wanting to improve their health and figures. It includes stretching, trimming exercises and alternate running and walking for improved endurance.

Persons wanting more information may phone the YMCA at 986-5847.

History exhibit

NEW YORK (AP) — "The World of Franklin and Jefferson" is now on view at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York — in exhibition form. The show consists of a selection of artifacts, paintings, manuscripts and photographs illustrating 130 years of American history, 1700-1830.

The exhibition was designed by the Office of Charles and Ray Eames with the cooperation of the Metropolitan Museum for the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, through a grant from IBM Corp.

During 1975 the American Bicentennial was inaugurated in Europe with showings of this exhibition in Paris, Warsaw and London. This premiere showing in the United States will be at the Metropolitan Museum until May 2. The exhibition will subsequently be seen at the Art Institute of Chicago and the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

'Fun Train' to Vegas to run again

CARSON CITY (AP) — A "Fun Train" service between Los Angeles and Las Vegas will begin in early May, state officials say.

The AMTRAK train will run on regular timetables and Neyada will pay AMTRAK one-half of any losses sustained in running the service, an official of the state Economic Development Department said.

Celebrations the thing

NEW YORK (AP) — From the state of Hawaii, with over 50 projects, to New York State, with nearly 1,500, celebrations are the thing this year.

According to Rand McNally's "Bicentennial Vacation Guide," which spotlights festive events plus historic places to visit nationwide, even American Samoa and Guam are planning Bicentennial activities. The book says an estimated 30 million foreign visitors are expected in the United States this year — even royalty.

Broken engagement legally not binding, rules judge

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Ruling that a marriage engagement "in this modern age" is not likely to be viewed by a couple as a legally binding contract, a judge has dismissed a $666,666 damage lawsuit brought by a woman who said she was jilted.

Linda Stannard had sued Raymond Bolin in Spokane County Superior Court, alleging he breached his promise to marry her.

She alleged the breach came after the couple had purchased a home and wedding rings, listed her home for sale, sold her furniture at auction and arranged for a church and minister.

The lawsuit alleged Bolin told Mrs. Stannard, the mother of two children by a previous marriage, that he owned a chain of service stations and was worth in excess of $2 million.

Judge Donald Olson said Bolin broke no laws by refusing to marry Mrs. Stannard.

"It is inconceivable that the public policy of this state considers the break-up of an engagement more serious than the break-up of a marriage," the judge wrote.

Taxpayers foot bill for phone calls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — County employes' personal telephone calls cost taxpayers $2 million to $4 million each year, according to the county communications director.

Edward W. Messinger told the Board of Supervisors Thursday that costs could be cut — if each department were billed separately for its phone service.

The entire county government has 56,000 telephones, he said, adding, "I now pay all of the telephone bills."

Messinger made the estimate as supervisors reviewed a communications budget request of $40.1 million, up $11 million above this year's level.

On campus

The final film in CITRUS COLLEGE'S series, "Backroads, U.S.A.," will be presented Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the college Auditorium.

William Stockdale's color film opens with a humorous montage and covers more than 10,000 miles of the country's unexpected and enchanting countryside.

Tickets for the film are available for $1.50 general admission and $1 for students and children under 12. Senior citizens are admitted free of charge.

A Pomonan is among the 637 UNIVERSITY OF NORTHERN COLORADO students who graduated at winter commencement ceremonies recently. Jennifer D. Bauer, 640 E. Jefferson Ave., received a master of arts degree from the University.

CONTRIBUTORS to the Independent Colleges of Southern California have earned the 15 colleges a $10,000 prize sponsored by International Business Machines Corp. The award was for the second highest increase in support among the country's major independent college fund associations in 1975.

Local participating colleges in the association are Claremont Graduate School, Claremont Men's College, La Verne College, Pitzer College, Pomona College and Scripps College.

British press and the American Revolution

By Dr. Francis G. Walett
Worcester State College

At the outset of the American rebellion the British press realized that there was discontent in a number of the colonies. But most publishers and editors agreed with Lord North in 1774 when he rose in Parliament to condemn Bostonians as "the ringleaders of all the riots in America for seven years."

Englishmen often looked at Boston, Mass., as a kind of political hub of America. Much of the sedition, the MORNING POST of London asserted, could be traced to the Puritan pulpits, which had "done more towards exciting the flames of rebellion than all the other causes united."

Sam Adams and John Hancock, the American rebels best known in Britain were often called "incendiaries and traitors." SCOTS MAGAZINE called Hancock "a generous dupe" of Adams, who was "a man of cunning and abilities, but of no reputation."

No sensible person could blame the rebellion on two men, however; nor could one who was reasonable accuse one colony of starting all the trouble. A publication that was very influential in shaping British thinking was Thomas Paine's COMMON SENSE. Here was convincing evidence that colonists everywhere were deeply offended by British policies, and that a war for independence was imminent.

Regardless of how this unhappy situation had developed, it was generally agreed that it was most infortunate. The British press advocated reconciliation if at all possible. This point of view persisted for a considerable time, even after the failure of early conciliatory proposals. Many clung to the hope for a peaceful settlement conceded gloomily, "The sword is drawn, and the slaughter of the peace is begin."

From the start of the rebellion critics of the government denounced ministerial policies. Almon's EVENING POST in early 1775 called the American War "unnatural, unconstitutional, unnecessary, unjust, dangerous, hazardous and unprofitable." The ministers of George III were berated as "cowardly and treacherous." Another paper, the ST. JAMES'S CHRONICLE, labled the North ministry "obstinately cruel and diabolically wicked."

Some newspaperrs had little sympathy for the American loyalists who flocked to Britain, and at times it was suggested that their troubles were largely of their own making. One harsh commentator in the GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE asserted, "His Majesty's worst enemies could not have conducted his business, either here or in America, in a manner more shameful and ruinous than they have done."

By 1775 there were a substantial number of newspapers and magazines which provided a great deal of news and much commentary on public questions. Many that had been started only recently during the Seven Years' War, now developed wider circulation because of interest in the American war.

Publishers in London put out about one-third of the magazines and newspapers of Britain; and these, the most influential publications, were for the most part hostile to the government. Interest was sufficient to support a number of daily newspapers as well as several triweekly journals. Unlike American papers, these metropolitan newspapers were generally financed by joint-stock companies, and they were not subject to much intimidation from the government.

True enough, there were heavy taxes which limited profits but these did not stifle the papers or periodicals. Although freedom of the press was not absolute, and there were occasional law suits against publishers, editors were usually able to print whatever they liked.

From the outset of the Amercian Revolution many British papers insisted that the North ministry was more responsible than the colonists for bringing on the rebellion. The Prime Minister was castigated in 1774 as he pushed the Coercive Acts through Parliament, and shortly the MORNING CHRONICLE deplored his "obstinate, cruel, and unjust perseverance against the Americans."

The course of the was was hardly reassuring to British editors. Early victories, such as the defense of Quebec and the capture of New York, brought praise for some commanders, and Woodfall's MORNING CHRONICLE was hopeful that the ability of the Howe Brothers would bring quick success.

When the full news of Burgoyne's surrender at Saratoga reached Britain, however, Britons were stunned. The opposition press angrily condemned the conduct of the war, and the GAZETTEER declared that it would be "national suicide" to continue the struggle.

Responsibility for troubles in the war was placed largely on Lord George Germain, the British Secretary of State for America. The "whole of the American bloody business" was blamed on him by the MORNING POST, and there were innumerable demands for his dismissal. Everything considered, the British press showed little confidence in George III, the Ministry and Parliament for the way the war was being conducted Newspapers commented often on a persistent problem facing the British, recruitment and sustaining military morale. Many articles deplored the difficulty of getting recruits, the reluctance of many officers to serve in the war, and the constant squabbling over commands. When the government contracted for German mercenaries to fight in America, the press expressed its disguest that the morale of the nation had fallen so low that it had to hire foreigners to fight her war.

As the American Revolution dragged on, papers emphasized more and more the economic harm that the conflict had brought, and began to wonder (in words of one modern authority) "which of the struggling combatants could outlast its weary and

Dijo el Sr. Juez Municipal David Aaron que una omision de la relacion por Medina "no era de tan seria naturaleza como para justificar la repulsa del demandado a pagar, especialmente cuando el aviso aparecio en ingles y espanol".

Aaron sentencio que la ciudad puede recobrar $216.54 de Medina, incluyendo la cuenta de $206.04 por imprimir el informe mas $8.50 por notificar la citacion y $2 por el procedimiento judicial.

Medina dijo que planea apelar la sentencia. "No hay duda de que apelare. Estoy decepcionado con el fallo," dijo.

Medina ha reclamado que la ciudad erro al imprimir la porcion en idioma espanol de su relacion. Estaba gramaticalmente incorrecto y hubo omisiones, dijo. Las omisiones fueron de dos organizaciones a las que el Sr. Medina pertenece, e indico que esto pudo haber afectado el resultado de la eleccion.

Joan Kruse, Asst. City Clerk, dijo que ella estaba "muy satisfecha" con el fallo, y estimaba que "estaba en orden". Afirmo que a los candidatos no se les cargaba especificamente por las traducciones al idioma espanol que aparecia en las boletas. La cuenta era por la relacion completa, agrego. Medina tiene 20 dias para presentar una apelacion, y el caso entonces iria a la Corte Superior del Oeste.

Las actividades para aumentar fondos durante el año proximo tendran como fundamento acentuar la efectividad de la asociacion y el incremento de las relaciones con las dos ciudades hermanas de Upland, H. Caborca, Sonora, Mejico, y Mildura, Australia.

Receta semanal

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, April 4, the 95th day of 1976. There are 271 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1917, the U.S. Senate approved a resolution of war against Germany.

On this date

In 1932, Professor C.Q. King of the University of Pittsburgh isolated Vitamin C.

In 1933, 73 lives were lost when the U.S. Navy dirigible Akron fell into the Atlantic off New Jersey.

Five years ago: Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress Party called on the Indian people to support rebels in neighboring East Pakistan.

One year ago: U.S. unemployment rose above 8.7 per cent of the work force, the highest level since 1941.

Today's birthdays: Dance teacher Arthur Murray is 81. Airline executive Floyd Hall is 60.

Thought for today: There is a time of speaking and a time of keeping still — William Caxton, pioneer English printer, about 1422-1491.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, British transports carrying soldiers and Tories from Boston were arriving in Halifax, N.S. impoverished antagonist." For years some critics of the government had thought the war too costly, and the press reflected the feeling of merchants that regardless of the politics involved, it made little sense to be fighting one of Britain's best customers.

In the final ayalysis it seems clear that the British press helped to bring the unpopular war in America to an end, partly by criticizing governmental policies, but, more important, by reporting news about this troublesome affair.

Sycamore School

The controversial school which hears a different drummer

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

Sycamore Elementary School, situated in a comfortable Claremont neighborhood since the early part of the century, is proud of its traditional college ties, and its open classrooms where youngsters can enjoy learning without concern for a dress code or a report card.

"Sycamore gives them a sense of identity," teacher aide Mary W. Halstead," comments.

"As a volunteer I have been thrilled with the high quality of teaching I have seen," notes Elizabeth L. Reed, a resident of Pilgrim Place.

"Sycamore School is a place where teachers feel free to be themselves, and the kids are the beneficiaries of the same philosophy," says Paul Douglass, a Sycamore alumnus and now teacher there for 2½ years.

All the "orderly confusion" — as its first principal once called it — at Sycamore has been threatened because the school board decided last year in the face of declining enrollment and a tight budget to close down Sycamore as an elementary school, effective in June.

The decision led to a recall movement and a recall election May 18 of three board members.

The school district has had the first year-round school in the area in Oakmont Elementary School, and probably the first school — Sycamore — with the open classroom approach to education.

The first grammar school in Claremont was built in 1890 on the site of the present Sycamore school on W. Eighth Street. The city bought it in 1907 for $300 and moved it across the street to use it as a city hall.

A seven-room school building, complete with basement and auditorium, was constructed in 1907, and served as Sycamore school until 1938 when it was demolished in favor of the present school.

Not only has the educational program at Sycamore been unique, but so was the underground school proposal in 1937 by Peter L. Spencer, professor of education at the Claremont Colleges.

Spencer said that the entire three-acre site could be used for playgrounds if the school were built underground.

He said that there would be a reduction of noise, smudge, dust and janitorial duties in such a building.

Spencer's plan was rejected, and U-shaped structure was completed for use in January 1939.

The present school was built facing Eighth Street. Additional buildings were erected in 1958 and 1960.

The educational trend for Sycamore was set by Herbert Patten, the school's first principal who came in 1895 and exerted his innovative influence for 20 years.

Believing that young children are "young colts incapable of keeping still for very long, Patten had them change rooms between class periods instead of remaining in one classroom the entire day.

Patten called the world outside "a busy, noisy world," and said that in the classroom "orderly confusion is what we aim for."

In 1926, visiting educator Adelia Samuels addressed Claremont parents at an experimental demonstration school at Pomona College, and said that no two children in an average school room will respond to the same subject equally well, and yet the same results are expected from all.

She explained that in her school rows of desks are not nailed down, but each child is given the opportunity of finding his or her own interests by experimenting.

Thirty-four years later, Mrs. Samuels' type of school came to Claremont, when Claremont Graduate School sponsored a request for a Ford Foundation grant to develop a model for team teaching at Sycamore School.

The result was the reorganization of the entire school into three teaching teams, probably the first fully teamed elementary school in the state.

The new program was financed partially by the grant for three years.

Principal Bobo, who has been at Sycamore three years, shares the enthusiasm of his teachers and students in the "open classroom."

Pets are found in cages in most classrooms because they are part of the real world outside. There are no rows of desks in any classrooms.

In two rooms, 64 students of kindergarten through grade six age work on mathematics assignments individually handled by teachers and teacher aides. It's organized confusion, but each student is busy working at his own level toward a goal.

Deputy D.A. sure refugees will get money

By PHYLLIS CANNON
PB Staff Writer

Orange County Deputy Dist. Atty. Bruce Bridgeman said he is satisfied the Vietnamese refugees in Pomona who had been issued bad checks by Gerald Martin would get their money.

"Now he either pays, or goes to jail," said Bridgeman.

Judge Fenton Jones in Westminster Municipal Court Thursday put Martin, former sponsor of some 185 Vietnamese re-settled in Pomona last September, on two years' probation and ordered him to make restitution.

"We achieved our objective of getting the money back to the people," said Bridgeman, "That was our main objective. I wasn't really seeking a jail sentence."

Bridgeman said that seven victims were listed in the final complaint, some with multiple counts, but that about 40 people were involved in all the counts.

In exchange for pleading nolo contendre to two counts, nine of the counts against Martin were dropped by the court. He was ordered to pay $5,893.69 to the refugees plus any other wages owed refugees which could be verified within 30 days by labor officials.

Bridgeman said the $5,893.69 was the amount represented in the two counts to which Martin pleaded nolo contendre, and that the 11 counts included about $7,000 not $10,400 as had been reported earlier.

"Martin still could go to jail if he does not pay," said Bridgeman. "Nolo contendre is the same as a guilty plea except it does not jeopardize civil remedies Martin may attempt to collect monies due him."

Martin, under misdemeanor charges of insufficient funds for payroll, could have gotten six months in jail and $500 fine.

The complaints against Martin were handled in Orange County because that was where he based the Golden State Garden Co. he set up with federal resettlement funds issued him through Tolstoy Foundation to provide minimum wage employment for the Vietnamese.

As a subcontractor for California Cities, he received some $112,000 from the government and it was reported he used $45,000 to set up the gardening business which failed.

The Los Angeles County Grand Jury, investigating Martin's disastrous sponsorship of the group, indicated "probable violations" of the contracts between Martin and the Vietnamese.

Copies of its two-month investigation were sent to authorities in Kern and San Diego counties since contracts between the refugees and Martin were negotiated at California City and Camp Pendleton.

Red Cross training to begin

Training will begin Monday for residents who want to become volunteer case aides in Red Cross' Service to Military Families (SMF).

Mrs. Judy Chow, caseworker for the Los Angeles Chapter, will coordinate the 40-hour course, which will be held each Monday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. for four weeks at the Pomona Red Cross Chapter House, 420 N. Reservoir St.

Those who complete the course will be qualified to serve as volunteer case aides at their local Red Cross service centers, Mrs. Chow said.

"Individuals with backgrounds in social work, teaching or any occupation involving working with people, may be interested in becoming case aides," she said. Upon completion of the course, they may be asked to commit themselves to work one day a week.

"Although the military is now all-volunteer, service families still are faced with the multitude of problems which can arise when the head of the household is absent," Mrs. Chow explained.

To train case aides to deal with these problems, the course material will include a description of the structure and history of Red Cross and SMF, a review of social welfare organizations, specifics of interviewing and counseling; reporting, communications, assistance in securing government benefits, financial assistance, counseling, information and referral service and assistance for veterans in discharge interviews and in securing government benefits.

Instructors will include Mrs. Sue Cody of the Pomona Chapter, Mrs. Betty Pruneri of the San Bernardino Chapter and Mrs. Penny Lehman of the Los Angeles Chapter.

Claremont's annual clean-up drive

Time to clean out garages, closets

Claremont residents have been urged to clean out their garages and closets for the city's annual week-long clean-up drive April 19-23.

Items such as old appliances, unwanted furniture, tree limbs and other bulky items can be carried or dragged to curbside for pickup by city refuse, street and park division crews.

"We needed a little help with that one," Duffey said, "and we called for a tractor."

Duffy explained that the clean-up week is always scheduled after Easter vacation to give residents the opportunity to decide what they want to get rid of during the vacation week.

Duffy said that a task force of 28 men and 20 vehicles will tackle the job.

The free refuse collection will be carried out on the normally scheduled collection day for a specific neighborhood.

"We want items at the curbside," Duffy cautioned. "There will be no alley pickup."

Duffy said that last year crews collected 430 tons of refuse, compared to a normal collection of 180 tons a week.

Duffy said that depending on the amount of extraordinary materials collected during clean-up week, city crews may not be able to pick up all the refuse on a normal service day. "If this occurs, please don't call us," Duffy said. "Our personnel will pick up the items as soon as possible."

He suggested that leaves be put into boxes or plastic bags, ivy and small trimmings be tied into bundles not exceeding 60 pounds, and tree limbs be cut into 12-foot maximum lengths.

Duffy cautioned that grove trimmings and site clearing materials will not be collected.

"We cannot accept rocks, dirt or building materials," Duffy said.

He indicated that in past years such items as washing machines, barbecues, water heaters and pool heaters have found their way to curbside.

The special pickup also has attracted neighbors who pick through the materials before crews get there.

"We try to discourage that because of the resulting mess along the curb," Duffy said.

Chaffey board sets agenda for Monday

Designation of the management employes in compliance with new collective bargaining legislation, a recommendation for an endorsement of a June 8 ballot proposition and the election of new officers will be included in matters before the Chaffey school board Monday.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Tower Hall board room.

In preparing to enter into 1976-77 negotiations with employe groups, the new law requires that the district identify all employes who serve in confidential or management positions. Lists naming these positions will be presented for board approval.

Schools Supt. Allan G. Smith will recommend that the board endorse Proposition 1 on the June 8 ballot. It would provide a $200 million state school lease-purchase bond issue.

San Antonio Hospital acquires the revolutionary CAT Scanner

San Antonio Community Hospital, Upland, is acquiring the newest and most revolutionary equipment in the field of diagnostic radiology.

The equipment incorporates a new transverse scanning procedure in diagnostic radiology in an extremely short scanning time. The entire body can be scanned in just 20 seconds, with the recording of over 300,000 precise, individual x-ray intensity readings.

The system is called Total Body Computerized Axial Tomographic Scanner.

The exceptionally powerful data processing facilities provided and the two-stage processing method used in the system allows maximum use of the data gained during the scanning, according to John Towers, administrator of the hospital.

The CAT Scanner will provide information previously not available in the transverse scanning of body organs.

Dr. Worth Hooper, director of the radiology department at San Antonio Hospital, presented the need for the scanner to serve the community before a recent meeting of the Inland Counties Comprehensive Health Planning Council. The Council approved the acquisition of the scanner.

In his presentation, Dr. Hooper explained that the non-invasive diagnostic procedure can often decrease the number of days in the hospital for certain injuries and diseases by reducing the time required for evaluation and initiation of treatment.

The radiology department of the hospital has selected the EMI Scanner which has been developed in England and will cost approximately $600,000.

Installation of the CAT Scanner, one of the few being initially received by California hospitals, is due in November, Towers said.

Good reason to drive carefully

If Americans had no other incentive for driving carefully, the soaring cost of automobile repair bills alone should be enough. Inflation has made garage repair bills a disaster in themselves, says the Insurance Information Institute.

It cites a "crash parts index" compiled by one major auto insurer which found that the cost of replacement bumpers, fenders, doors and other damage-prone parts increased at a rate more than four times the cost of living during the second half of 1975. Even motorists who avoid accidents are unable to avoid the consequences of other drivers' mishaps in the form of higher insurance premiums.

The high cost of crash parts was the subject of hearing held by a Senate commerce subcommittee recently, during which some witnesses suggested that the auto companies raised their parts prices excessively to help make up for the slump in new car sales in 1974 and 1975.

Industry spokesmen emphatically denied the allegation and presented their own figures showing that replacement parts are a very small part of their total sales and have not gone up as much as claimed.

In the latest development in this area, however, the Federal Trade Commission has filed an antitrust complaint against the largest of the automakers, General Motors, charging that GM exercises a monopoly control over crash replacement parts because they can be purchased only through the company's franchised dealers.

The FTC action seeks to force all the automobile manufacturers to sell these so-called "captive" parts directly to repair shops and independent wholesalers.

Just how this would introduce more competition into the automobile repair business is not clear. Unlike other replacement parts, such as spark plugs, headlights, hoses, etc., which remain fairly standard and are produced by a number of different companies, sheet metal parts require great tooling up expenses and change from model year to model year.

It is at least a little curious, however, that the cost of, say, a fender for a 1972 car costs more each succeeding year than it did the previous year, even though it may have been stamped out in 1972 as part of that year's excess production for the replacement market.

It takes a thief...

Numerous former criminals are finding a useful place in society by serving as "management consultants" to protect businesses against crimes they, the consultants, once served time for.

According to a story in the Wall Street Journal, an apartment complex in Washington, D.C., for example, is guarded by a security force of ex-felons. They work for a detective agency run by released convicts.

In Los Angeles, a computer expert who was sent to prison for defrauding a telephone company of $1 million now runs a security service that advises companies how to prevent computer fraud. He has also conducted university seminars on computer crime.

Other companies are employing ex-burglars and safecrackers "who know the score" to case their joints in order to point out deficiencies in their security systems.

"We've hired psychiatrists and psychologists in the past to tell us how to cut crime in our stores," says the vice president of one discount store chain. "But nothing seemed to work. These ex-robbers have given us a new insight into the problem."

The success of these reformed criminals depends, of course, upon a continuing supply of unreformed criminals. Fortunately for them, if not for society, there seems little prospect of any shortage developing in that category.

"So what if it's not Washington's style? I call it a masterpiece of socialist realism!"

The public forum

S.D. commission defended

Dear Editor:

At the San Dimas City Council meeting of 3/22/76, a 3-2 vote of the Council approved a resolution to "fire" three Planning Commissioners for "alleged" defiance and disregard for the public interest and city interests. You reported the matter on 3/23/76 in an article entitled "3 Planners Swept Out in San Dimas Power Shift". The unbiased reporting by Mae Tate was refreshing and it's unfortunate that just by reporting you inadvertently perpetuated a blatant lie, conceived by Councilmen Ersher, Wax and Dipple. Anyone can verify those alleged actions by the commission merely by going to city hall and listening to the taped recording of the commission meeting of 3/17/76. Upon listening, one will find that the commission did not act irresponsibly or contrary to the advice of its chairman or the city attorney. The commission did in fact properly act on matters properly placed before it and acted in a manner to protect the constitutional rights of everyone concerned including A-Z Transfer and the residents in the immediate neighborhood.

It is absolutely ironic that two people (and supported by the third) who ran a campaign based on getting the people of the community involved in local government, chose their first official act to be that of placing all city commissions and committees on notice that any thought or action contrary to the feeling of the three, not the council as a whole, but just the three, will be asked to resign or summarily dismissed. Their second act was to approve a resolution firing three planning commissioners, clearly contrary to the advice of the city attorney, who stated that he believed legal precedent made their resolution an illegal act and requested time to research the matter. The city attorney was totally ignored by the triumvirate and the dismissal resolution was adopted by a 3-2 vote.

In a subsequent council meeting, Councilmen Lough and McLean again proposed that the city attorney prepare an opinion on the legality of the "firing" as they were concerned that the city might be creating an unnecessary liability for itself and was in fact encouraging the expense of a lawsuit. The triumvirate refused and defeated the motion again by a 3-2 vote.

Another action of this freshman council, was to adopt a "specific plan" on property adjacent to Arrow Highway and Lone Hill Avenue, which effectively changes the zone of those properties contrary to the dictates of the General Plan. Time and time again citizens Ersher, Wax and Dipple praised this city's General Plan in open forum and verbally chastized anyone that dare propose amending it. Always reminding that the General Plan is a very delicate in balance document, prepared by experts and adopted by the city only after exhaustive "due process". Isn't it again ironic that one of their first council actions is to approve the largest ever amendment to the General Plan. An amendment that was approved in short order, which literally devastates the balance of the plan and one in which no counter-balance measures were considered or even raised.

In October 1974 you printed an article wherein I suggested that Marvin Ersher had dictatorial tendencies. His actions to date as our newly elected mayor not only make that speculation a reality but even more so than I had envisioned. When those of us, elected to a position of public trust, refuse to consider or even hear dissenting opinion the rest of us are in grave danger. — Gerald J. Klein, San Dimas

Nixon's last days

WASHINGTON — Our stories were denied and denounced when we warned in early 1974 that a darkly brooding Richard Nixon might attempt something desperate.

We wrote of his agony over Watergate, of his drinking bouts at Camp David, of his suicidal recklessness in Egypt, of a chilling remark about his power to plunge the world into a nuclear holocaust, of H.R. Haldeman's backroom talk about "one-man rule" and Nixon's "right" to run the country.

By the summer of 1974, we reported that Nixon's behavior so alarmed Pentagon leaders that then-Defense Secretary James Schlesinger took quiet precautions to prevent the White House from bypassing the chain of command and issuing unauthorized orders to the armed forces.

The public found these stories about their President a little hard to swallow. But now this most secretive of all presidents has been dragged out of the shadows and the real Richard Nixon stands exposed in the sun's harsh glare.

It took those indefatigable Washington Post reporters, Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, a solid year to illuminate the hidden Nixon. They interviewed 394 people, some as many as 17 times.

Their new book, "The Final Days," should be read soberly by the American people as a warning that they must choose their presidents carefully. The book also gives substance to the stories we tried to tell while Nixon was still in office, stories so incredible that few people believed us.

We learned from his intimates that Nixon had a dual personality — the shy friend and ruthless politician. We described him on Aug. 5, 1973, as "a deeply private person, a warm, shy, sensitive man who sometimes woke up wondering whether he was President. 'I would have a feeling,' he told a friend, 'that I had something to tell the President. Then I would suddenly shake myself awake and realize I am the President.'"

We told how he had accumulated "psychological scar tissue as he drove himself into one bruising battle after another, slashing his way to the top, suffering inwardly from the political shellfire . . . this lonely, suspicious President who fought so hard for public approval and was rebuffed so often."

For the private Nixon, the Watergate crisis was a lonely struggle. We wrote on Jan. 31, 1974, that "he is showing signs of strain. He is also drinking more martinis. Sometimes his friend, Bebe Rebozo, mixes a small pitcherful before they sit down together for an evening's relaxation.

"The President's favorite is what he calls an 'in and out' martini. He pours vermouth over the rocks, swishes it around and dumps it out. Then he adds the gin."

We wrote about his "restlessness at night" and his long sojourns with Rebozo at Camp David in the Maryland mountains. On April 11, 1974, we reported that Nixon sometimes erupted "with rage and profanity. But most of the time, he has bottled up his feelings and has gone off to agonize alone."

We told of one subordinate who "was awakened early in the morning by a telephone call from the President. Although Nixon was coherent, it was obvious he had been drinking."

Then he would emerge from his introspection and would appear quite normal. But he sometimes lapsed into ominous reflections. The secret minutes of a March 8, 1974, strategy session, for example, quote him as blurting out:

"I could push this button right here and in 20 minutes, 70 million Russians would be dead. And 25 minutes later, 70 million Americans would be dead." Then he added, almost as an afterthought, that "we must do everything in our power to get along" with the Soviets.

On June 14, 1974, we wrote of Nixon's "stubborn determination to visit the Middle East," despite intelligence warnings that an Arab terrorist ring "might attempt to assassinate him . . .

A good gun law

Mike Penzell is one of the nicest guys I know — but he just doesn't understand. Mike said, "I don't know how our congressmen can sleep with themselves — when they fail to outlaw guns!" Mike's indignation derives from a real compassion for the people he sees dying all over the front pages after some nut shot 'em.

"Who needs handguns?" he insists. "Outlaw them!" Mike lives in New York City. New York City has had the toughest gun law in our nation — the Sullivan Law — for 40 years. And it hasn't done a bit of good.

In our nation's Constitution the second provision in its Bill of Rights guarantees your right to have a gun if you want one. The idea was that an armed citizenry would need to defend itself against invasion from without or during any great social disorder within.

But, you say, we have no such need today. Does Switzerland have such a need? The citizens of Swizterland own the largest per capita arsenal of weapons in the world. In Switzerland every adult male is a member of the armed forces and each keeps his weapons at home.

The rate of violent crime in Switzerland is among the lowest in the world. So just "having a weapon handy" is not a cause of crime any more than having matches handy incites arson. It is misuse of matches and knives and guns which must be outlawed!

A law against guns would take guns away from only those people who obey the laws. They are not our problem. Our problem is the people who do not obey laws. It's they who are getting away with murder.

Courts have become so legally hamstrung and/or lenient that it's almost impossible to remove chronic felons from circulation.

Texans tried and convicted a homosexual rape-murderer, sentenced him to six consecutive life sentences — 590 years in prison. He can be out in 20. A California criminal sentenced to 25 consecutive life terms will be eligible for parole in 7.

Some of the righteous wrath directed "guns" might better be vented against our judicial system of paroles and furloughs. A Washington, D.C., armed robber-rapist committed his last crime while on unguarded furlough from prison.

Chief Justice Warren Burger is urging judicial reform eventuating in mandatory sentences for certain crimes. Many jurists object. They prefer a prerogative with which they can bargain; sometimes for bribes.

Banning booze didn't work; jailing drunks does. If anybody using any kind of gun in the commission of any kind of crime were arbitrarily, mandatorily, irrevocably sent to prison for 20 years (in Switzerland the mandatory sentence for murder is "life"), then the bad guys would either be deterred or corralled.

And the good guys would not have to suffer the loss of another of their inalienable rights.

Just in jest

Why any American should worry about making a living these days is a mystery to me when all he has to do to make certain his financial future will be a rosy one is to be able to read some of the advertisements I have been reading lately.

One ad was touting a free lecture which promised to teach anyone attending "How You Can Make Money." Another was offering to sell a book for only $3.88 — a book that contains, "All the knowledge you will ever need to solve problems, reach goals and live abundantly."

With all those good things in life so readily available, and at such reasonable prices too, the amazing thing is there are thousands of people trying to get by the dangerous way. But they do, and the 300,000 bad checks written every day in the United States prove it. However, regardless of how they do it, more and more Americans are apparently enjoying the good life. Why some of them are even carrying 18 karat gold social security cards.

Soviets sour own victories

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Technically, the Russians usually do a superb job in their underground support of Marxist revolutionaries. They keep a low profile, keep a door open for withdrawal without loss of face, inject small amounts of money and arms into a wide front probing for an opening, then pump-in assistance lavishly when it appears their help will turn the tide. They waste no tears on lost causes.

In this, they are more effective than the United States.

When it comes to following through however, the Russians apparently forget the rules they follow so effectively in promoting revolutions and wars.

This post-victory failure may prove to be the Soviets' Achilles heel, overshadowing the strengths of their massive nuclear and conventional arms buildup.

The Russians bumbled by attempting to interfere in Egyptian civilian and military politics. They shut off spare parts and supplies when they couldn't have their way. No country will take such abuse and the Egyptians had an option: they could turn to the West, and did.

The Russians made the same mistake in dealings with Mao Tse-tung's China. They supplied Peking with nuclear know-how, technicians and aid, then demanded that Mao follow Russian policy in the Far East and in South Asia. When Mao refused the Russians abruptly pulled their men and aid, leaving Chinese industrial development in a shambles and building an enmity difficult to eradicate. Mao mistrusted Moscow to begin with but his views were far from universal among Chinese Communists leaders.

Moving on to Eastern Europe — East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Albania in particular. Yugoslavia and Albania have openly broken with Moscow. There have been serious revolts in Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary, despite the strong presence of Russian troops in or about their borders. Rumania is kept in check by the same overriding presence.

One country after another in the various African countries, assisted by the Soviets for their own ends, has moved to weaken those ties and to build relationship with the U.S. and the West after a period of growing suspicion of the Russian presence.

Of those lands allied with Russia but not so close as to be threatened by Soviet troops, Castro's Cuba stands out as the one which seemingly has not soured its relationships, though the Cubans have had provocation. Perhaps it is because Fidel Castro has learned that he can milk the Soviet Union for billions in continued assistance and secure the backup he needs to move around the world transporting revolutions, a policy he attempted in Latin America but which blew up in his face.

Now we shall see what happens in Angola. Will the victories of the Marxist faction stick? The work of the Cuban expeditionary force, from all accounts, was not impressive but the victors had an overwhelming supply of arms and equipment. The question now is whether they have the ability to hold their control — quite a different matter from winning a war. And if they do retain control, will the Russians botch the relationship?

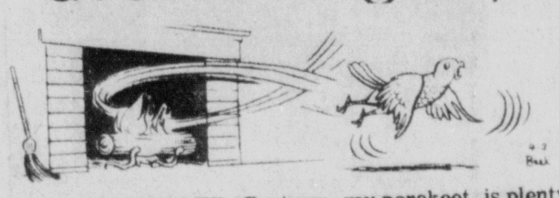
Confinement averts tragedy



DEAR DR. MILLER: Bertram, my parakeet, is plenty sharp, usually. Yesterday, he pulled one of his rare dumb stunts and almost got himself killed again. This time he flew into the fireplace. It was burning merrily, but fortunately he flew right out again before he really got into it. It left me shook for the whole day. How do you go about training such a bird to avoid such insane moments? — H.B.

DEAR H.B.: Bertram's best chance for survival, long-term, is to rely on confinement, not training, to avoid catastrophe. You simply don't have the time or the ability to teach him to avoid all the potential household hazards prior to a fatal incident. Nor do his cage bird instincts tell him to avoid swinging doors, boiling water, carpets and human feet, chairs and human posteriors, windows (open or closed), kitchen aids, whirring fans or any other murderous, man-made devices. A bird already used to flying free will resent being caged less if he has some space, as in an aviary. A caged bird kept in large enough quarters from the beginning won't miss the free flight time it's never had. Such continuous confinement not only circumvents the problem of re-adaptation for the bird, but also avoids those hazardous flights, any one of which could be the last.

DEAR DR. MILLER: How big can a lump get before it's considered dangerous? I mean if it were cancer or something like that. — S.F.

DEAR S.F.: Unfortunately, the only way to determine whether a lump is worth a checkup and doing something about, is to have the checkup. Veterinarians simply can't tell without the examination whether or not the examination is necessary. Rather than take a chance on waiting and allowing something potentially dangerous to develop past the point of doing something about it, have any lump checked early. Even if nothing needs doing at that point, at least your veterinarian can provide guidelines as to when and if surgery or whatever may be called for.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Are the chewy bone things you get in pet departments always safe for your dog? — J.K.

DEAR J.K.: These products are certainly safer than genuine bones. Some of them are excellent under any conditions. But others can, when chunks of them are bitten off and swallowed, cause serious gastrointestinal problems in some canines.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I've discovered my puppy really loves to lap up iron tonic. Actually it's mine, but if he did have some anemia, wouldn't this iron tonic be good for him? — G.M.

DEAR G.M.: An anemic puppy needs a lot of things more than he needs iron. An iron supplement designed for an adult human could cause vomiting, diarrhea, and other signs of iron poisoning in a young puppy, for it would be easy to overdose. A straight iron supplement is rarely, if ever, prescribed for puppies anyhow, so don't try it on yours.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Monday, April 5, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be logical and sensible where your self-interests are concerned today. If you let your heart rule your head a problem could result.

TAURUS (April 10-May 20) Be careful today that you don't spend more than you take in. It would be wise to salt away your surplus rather than blow it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although friends will treat you helpfully today, you shouldn't request favors from them for things you can easily do yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you don't keep your goals in mind at all times today, you're likely to slack-off when you should be going full steam.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't read more into a situation than was intended, if a member of the opposite sex is especially friendly toward you today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Care for duties and responsibilities before turning your attention to something more frivolous. Make this a productive day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your decisions today are likely to be well-thought-out. However, they won't mean much if you don't do anything about them. Get going.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Normally when you undertake a project you see it through, but today you might be tempted to settle for half measures.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In dealing with youngsters today, you won't get your message across if you pamper them too much. Be gentle, but also be firm.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have a tendency today to add more frills to your handiwork than may be needed. Don't let creativeness exceed your good taste.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may find things of a speculative nature very appealing today, so be on guard that you don't take financial risks impulsively.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Make the most of your opportunities today. Though they may be small ones, they could still be worth taking advantage of.

Your Birthday April 5, 1976

This coming year is a good time to add to your store of knowledge subjects that can be used to advance your personal ambitions. You'll find they can be put to an excellent use.

If she had life to live over

Dear Ann Landers: The following was written by Nadine Stair of Louisville, Ky. She is 85 years old and I believe she has a real message here. — Long Time Fan

Dear Fan: I agree. Here it is with my warm thanks:

IF I HAD MY LIFE TO LIVE OVER

I'd dare to make more mistakes next time. I'd relax. I would limber up. I would be sillier than I have been this trip. I would take fewer things seriously. I would take more chances. I would take more trips. I would climb more mountains and swim more rivers. I would eat more ice cream and less beans. I would perhaps have more actual troubles, but I'd have fewer imaginary one.

You see, I'm one of those people who live sensibly and sanely hour after hour, day after day. Oh, I've had my moments and if I had it to do over again, I'd have more of them. In fact, I'd try to have nothing else. Just moments, one after another, instead of living so many years ahead of each day. I've been one of those persons who never goes anywhere without a thermometer, a hot water bottle, a raincoat, and a parachute. If I had to do it again, I would travel lighter than I have.

If I had my life to live over, I would start barefoot earlier in the spring and stay that way later in the fall. I would go to more dances. I would ride more merry-go-rounds. I would pick more daisies. — From Association for Humanistic Psychology Newsletter, July 1975.

Dear Ann: From now on my motto is: "Be a stinker. Let someone else be 'Miss Nice Guy.'" Here's what happened.

A gal in our office was being married. We were all invited to the wedding. There are 38 employes here. We decided to buy one important gift instead of 38 insignificant ones. I volunteered to collect the money and select the gift. It was quite a job, considering I had to drive 100 miles to get exactly what I wanted.

Well, the gift was too large to lug, so I had it mailed to her. Unfortunately, I did not insure it. The gift was lost in transit. Now everyone is furious with me. They think I ought to replace it out of my own pocket. I don't have $380 to throw around. Do you feel I should bow to the pressure? Or should I ignore the insults and refuse to handle office collections in the future? — Abused

Dear Ab: I doubt that you'll be asked to handle anything in the future. A person who would send a $380 gift in the mail, uninsured (and other people's money yet!), is extremely irresponsible.

Yes, I believe you owe it to them to replace the gift.

Microphone has its own mind

If there is anything in this world as fiercely independent as a microphone, I don't know what it is.

I mean, imagine the year is 1775. At the Provincial Convention in Virginia, statesman Patrick Henry rises to make an impassioned plea for liberty or death. He approaches the microphone and as the entire assembly awaits his first words he asks, "Can everyone in the back hear me?"

Those seven words have preceded more speeches than the proverbial cocktail hour.

In 10 years of lecturing, I have seen microphones go from an occasional passive screech to real screaming militants. To begin with, microphones do not like to be touched by a union or otherwise. Because I am short, I tried to adjust one the other week. I gave it just a simple tweak, mind you, and it went as limp as a $2 permanent in a sauna. I gave the entire speech from a squatting sprinter's position.

Some microphones work great, as long as you blow into them. So you stand there like an idiot blowing and saying, "Are we on? Can you hear me?" Everyone admits they can hear you blowing. It's only when you speak the microphone goes dead.

Others have a weird sense of humor. They're punchline poopers. You'll be sailing along with a three-minute story, building to a big pitch and just as you say, "So why isn't the dog drinking his daiquiri?" the microphone goes silent and you're left muttering, "Gee, I guess you had to have been there."

Some speakers spend half their lives looking for the on/off switch of microphones. There aren't any. I've looked for them under the light, on the shelf, on the side, the goose neck, offstage. I suspect most of them are triggered by a remote control in a 1936 pickup truck in a garage across from the auditorium.

I have been warned that some microphones are super sensitive and you have to talk right into them to be heard. These are usually the ones that cross you up by picking up your entire luncheon conversation including, "My gosh, do you mean the management is charging you $10 for this lunch! Has he never heard of the Geneva Convention?"

Some speakers, more secure than I, have dared to make fun of microphones. Recently, book columnist and reviewer Bob Cromie spoke in our town and opened with the traditional, "Can everyone in the back hear me?"

When someone yelled, "No!" he said, "then how did you know what I asked?"

All night long that microphone floated toward the door. Didn't surprise me a bit.

Dr. Lamb

New treatments for cataracts

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am going to have a cataract operation and my doctor said he can put in some permanent contact lenses because my eyes are healthy. He said they sew them in and they are permanent. I have talked to a lot of people who have had this done and they are happy because they don't have to wear any other glasses and they don't have to take them out.

What could you tell me about this or can I have the other operation and put contact lenses on and wear other glasses besides the contact lenses? Are these permanent glasses that the doctor wants to put inside my eyes approved?

I would sure hate to lose my eyesight. I am 69 years old and never wore glasses when I was young.

DEAR READER — I wish I could give you a definite answer. Certainly implanting an artificial lens inside the eye is a very promising technique. Eventually I would guess that it will become the standard procedure in all healthy eyes, but I don't think we are at that stage yet. There are a number of eye specialist in the country who are very enthusiastic about this procedure and they have reason to be.

Let's start at the beginning, a cataract is an opacification of the lens in the eye. All of the light that enables you to see must pass through the lens. The cataract operation simply removes that opaque, clouded lens.

Before contact lenses were popular, individuals who had catarats removed wore very thick glasses that magnified images 25 to 30 times their normal size. This greatly distorted the field of vision.

The successful development of contact lenses has been a great benefit. The amount of magnification and distortion by the contact lens resting on the outside of the eyeball after the cataracts have been removed is minimal.

Now we have implants of a new lens into the eye itself. Since these are internal they require none of the usual care attended to contact lenses. The amount of magnification and distortion with such lenses is really minimal.

If there is other disease inside the eye then the use of an implant may not improve vision nor will an external contact lens or ordinary glasses. At least the amount of improvement will be limited by the degree of other disease in the eye.

Some specialists who have been implanting lenses have seven to eight years experience now and to date there have been no serious complications. The problem is, in advising people who may read this column, that there is no experience over a longer period of time. How will these lenses work in 10 or 15 years? That would be important in a young person.

You will have to depend on your doctor's recommendation and your own feeling about it. You could wear contact lenses and you could wear contact lenses plus ordinary glasses if you needed the same kind of effect that bifocals provide for some people.

What people say

"Some critics suddenly pretend that the Soviets are 10 feet tall and that America, despite all evidence to the contrary, is becoming a second-rate nation. They know these erroneous and reckless allegations to be dangerous becuase they may, if continued, persuade our allies and adversaries of our weakness, tempting the one to accommodation and the other to adventurism."

Opening lead — 4 ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Josephine Culbertson was the outstanding woman player in the early days of contract. Jo's great strength was her soundness and her ability to make things easy for her partner.

At the same time, she would take unusual action when it seemed necessary and the results were apt to be very good ones.

Here is a hand she defended against no less a declarer than the great Hal Sims.

It was obvious to Jo from the bidding that her partner couldn't hold much of anything. She decided on the desperation lead of the four of spades.

Sims played low from dummy and East won the trick with his 10. He led the 10 of trumps. Sims won, drew trumps and went after clubs. Jo was in with her ace and promptly underled her spade ace for the second time. Hal played low and Ely's queen and Joe's ace set the contract.

Can anyone really fault Hal for going wrong? We know that we can't.

Ask the Jacobys

An Idaho reader asks if a raise of partner's two notrump opening to four notrump is Blackwood or just a notrump slam try.

The answer is that the response merely says that you have slam interest and want your partner to go on if he has a maximum two notrump. However, be careful about making his bid with a new partner. He may play all four notrump bids as Blackwood.

Native hunters who stalk men

It's fairly likely that the most fierce of all the world's natives are the Danakil tribesmen of Ethiopia. They're hunters of men. Not by happenstance, but in planned expeditions. They track, stalk, and ambush. Black men, brown men, white men, they don't care. And they invariably castrate their quarry. They're trophy collectors.

FARMERS' WIVES

Why is it that farmers' wives so rarely manage the family money? Studies show such to be the case. That's not generally true among wives of carpenters, mechanics and heavy equipment operators. More often than not, those ladies do handle the household finances. Point is that farmers' work involves all three jobs to some degree — carpentry, mechanics and machinery operation — but unlike those other professionals, the farmers tend to keep personal control of the cash.

How to clean ceramic tile

By NORMAN H. STARK

Ceramic tile is made from various types of clay and other minerals. The mastic mix (dough) is packed into molds and then fired at high temperatures. In some cases the initial firing may also produce the final finish, however in others a finished coat, called a frit, is fired on the surface of the substrate as a secondary operation.

Frits are made up in liquid form, and painted or sprayed on the substrate. These usually contain glass in some form or the other, such as sodium silicate (waterglass), and the color desired for the finished surface. When the piece is fired, the glass softens and the particles flow together forming a dense, impervious finish. This is, of course, an oversimplification of the way frits are made. Because of the density of the surface on most ceramic tile, cleaning is not difficult. Here's a formula that's inexpensive to make and will do a good job.

You'll need two tablespoons TRISODIUM PHOSPHATE (TSP) — available at hardware stores — and one gallon of WATER. Mix the TSP into the water and wipe over tile with a sponge dampened in the solution. Store the solution in glass or plastic jug.

The cost of making your own ceramic tile cleaner is approximately one-fourth of a cent per ounce.

To determine your savings, divide the cost of your store-bought brand by the number of ounces it contains. Then compare the per-ounce cost — you'll be surprised at how much you can save for so little effort.

Note: Material costs are based on the prices at retail outlets of national drug, grocery and hardware chains. These costs will vary, depending on the geographic area. If you wish to make up a larger quantity — and save even more — buy your materials at a chemical supply company (see the Yellow Pages).

(Like any chemical product you use at home, you should store this one safely, label it — listing ingredients and noting any cautions — and keep it out of reach of children.)

Tragedy of Judy: Text refutes authors

By ROBERT E. MORSBERGER

(Robert E. Morsberger is professor of English at Cal Poly, Pomona.)

There is a fascination in the lives of celebrities who seem to have everything — talent, fame, fortune, beauty, love — and whose lives end in early disaster.

They are like meteros burning out in self-consuming flames, and we both envy them their stardom and avenge that envy through their deaths, so that in a sense they become our surrogates and scapegoats and die for our sins.

There is an industry of books about such people — Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald, Marilyn Monroe, and currently Judy Garland. "Young Judy" is an attempt to explain the legend of Judy Garland by exploring the childhood of Frances Ethel Gumm. What were the inner torments that drove her to drugs, breakdowns, comebacks, ruined marriages, and death at the age of 47?

The authors claim to have discovered the clue. A lurid comment on the dust jacket says that Judy "had a childhood which has been shrouded in mystery and conjecture for years . . . The authors reveal a shocking realization which Judy fought against all her life; her handsome, talented father was a homosexual. The effect this had on a sensitive child appeared later in her life . . ."

Yet the text consistently refutes the authors claims. They insist that she never knew of her father's deviation and that she had a happy, wholesome childhood. She always claimed to adore her father, while denouncing her mother as "the real Wicked Witch of the West, who was no good for anything but to create chaos and fear," the quintessentially monstrous stage mother. Dahl and Kehoe defend the mother and claim that, scarred by her husband, she sought fulfillment through her daughters, especially Frances, the youngest and most talented.

The story starts with the childhood of Frank Gumm in late 19th-Century Tennessee, where he grew up in genteel poverty. An Episcopal Choirboy, he became a vaudevillian but settled down as manager of a movie house in Grand Rapids, Minn., after marrying Ethel Milne in 1914. They continued performing vaudeville routines to supplement the films, and added their children to the show as soon as they were old enough.

Frank was a smooth, polished performer, a good dancer, singer, raconteur, choirmaster, civic leader, and popular host who gave lavish entertainments. But the development of "Frank's sexual degradation" as the authors call it apparently forced such a breach in the marriage that Ethel wanted to abort the third child. She was talked out of it, and Frances Ethel Gumm was born in 1922.

When she was two years old, Ethel became the youngest of the three singing and dancing Gumm Sisters. But two years later, the family left for California. Though the facts seem to contradict it, the authors insist that Frank was driven out of Grand Rapids because of rumors of his homosexuality.

The family next settled in Lancaster, a small desert town about 80 miles northeast of Los Angeles, where Frank again became a succesful movie-house manager.

As an adult, Judy Garland attacked the community and its people, but the authors show that she misrepresented her childhood and Lancaster as scapegoats for adult pain. Though the authors keep promising to reveal the sources of her pain and disturbance, they insist that she had a remarkably happy childhood: "The life of Frances Gumm verged on the sublime" and "until the end of childhood she had never know suffering."

Though "Young Judy" is relaxing reading and succeeds in recreating the nostalgic charm of vaudeville and of small town life in the early decades of the century, it fails to put its thesis into focus. The narrative tends to ramble, and is frequently interrupted with several pages of obituaries or of reviews of Judy's stage performances.

But the authors never do solve the source of her malaise. The best they do is to claim she was always loved and admired as a child and so came to have a compulsive need for devotion and applause, that led her to drugs and emotional dependencies.

Nevertheless, the detailed and profusely illustrated text will reward if not entirely satisfy fans of the girl who became Judy Garland.

Sycamore School...

"They are given the responsibility to make decisions for themselves," Bobo says. "We find out what they enjoy doing, and what would be beneficial to them.

In still another room, 5-through-8-year-olds are working on similar projects, all according to their own abilities.

Such a set-up requires individualized attention, and in this matter, parents and students from the colleges lend a valuable hand.

Bobo said that from September through December 1975, 79 parents and college students logged 1,440 hours as teacher aides.

"College students gain on-the-job training here," Bobo commented. "Sycamore serves as a learning station for them."

At least six students attend El Roble Intermediate School for such classes as German and French.

"We realize that all children don't begin to read at the same time just as we know that all flowers don't bloom at the same time," Bobo said.

Bobo believes that Sycamore's educational program is successful for three reasons:

— The dedication of teachers to become involved personally in their pupils.

— The support and involvement of parents and the community makes for individualized, personalized giving.

— The smallness of the school (298 students) allows pupils to know each other.

Bobo calls Sycamore a "United Nations" school because it contains 30 students born in countries other than the United States. Thirteen spoke no English when they were enrolled at Sycamore, Bobo said.

Seven Southeast Asia students were kept together this year in the K-6 Classroom to allow them to find themselves on a maturation level.

"This is a kid's school. The out-of-doors is an extension of the classroom," said Bobo.

"Each classroom contains storage space for essentials. There is no dress code. We don't worry about such things. We want them to feel comfortable."

He said the success of the Sycamore experiment is due to a blend of teachers' age and experience with the youth and enthusiasm of college students.

He explained that the school's adding a seventh grade last year "is a natural progression for students."

Bobo noted that Sycamore has 59 intra-district transfers of students who want to attend the school. On the other hand, 46 children living in the Sycamore area attend other elementary schools in the district.

If Sycamore is closed in June, can its program be transferred to another school?

"It's important that the students be able to take with them the support of parents to another school," Bobo said.

"There's something special about our relaxed atmosphere here," he said.

Last year the Sycamore students shared in a "Save the Whale" program, and even painted on the playground asphalt the area which such a creature would occupy if placed in the playground.

Of course, Sycamore is not the only school in Claremont with a non-graded approach to education.

Oakmont School is non-graded, like Sycamore, unless parents specify that's what they want.

Dist. Supt. Richard Kirkendall who was principal four years at Sycamore when the team teaching program was developing said that if Sycamore is closed in June, most Sycamore students will be transferred to Mountain View. That would include all living north of Sixth Street, and west of Indian Hill Boulevard to First Street.

The remainder would be transferred to Oakmont.

Kirkendall said that on problem might be th selection of the staff a Mountain View.

At Sycamore, most the teaching staff was in the advent of the ope classroom concept.

Mrs. Pat Rohrs has bee with the district 23 year Billie Vincent, who wa with the school district years before she retire last year is writing a boo about Sycamore.

Mrs. Gay Collins has years of service, and Mr Lillian Page has been Sycamore 18 years.

Mrs. Georgia Warden a reading specialist, an Paul Douglass, a teachr for 5-through-11-year-old are both products of Sycamore and have returned to teach at their alma matr.

Each spring, students in Mrs. Rohr's class sketch the flowering apricot tree which the teacher had planted at the school. Affectionately called the "popcorn tree," the students paste popcorn to their drawings.

Mrs. Rohr gladly gives visitors a twig off the tree.

How Claremont residents feel about the Sycamore program has been reflected in letters addressed to the school board.

While they were living at Williamsburg, Va. in 1975, Larry and Alice Oglesby wrote that their children had attended Sycamore as intradistrict transfers from 1971 until the time they moved and that the children will attend Sycamore in the future. They did return to Claremont and enrolled their two children at Sycamore.

"We picked Sycamore for our children," the Oglesbys said, "because they are very curious and motivated to learn, and we wanted them to attend a school which provides maximum encouragement.

"We have not been disappointed."

Mrs. Oglesby was a Sycamore volunteer and had the opportunity to see many children "learn for the love of learning. Their enthusiasm is truly delightful."

Mary W. Halstad, a teacher aide, said Sycamore offers Claremont's little children "some of the things we try so hard to provide the olders. It gives them a sense of identity. It helps them with their learning problems. It turns them on to school."

She mentioned that 86 children attended Sycamore on intradistrict transfers last year "who simply could not handle going to school in their own areas. At Sycamore we are helping those children find their way in education."

Mrs. Pat Trent, 344 Taylor Drive, said that she is convinced that the children of Claremont will get a good education no matter what school they attend because there are quality teachers at various levels in all the schools as well as a "solid core" of parents volunteering their time in the classroom.

Sycamore school: it's history and comments...

"Sometimes we as free-thinking individuals must relinquish some freedom for the good of all," she said.

Eleanor C. Pontius, 1072 Lake Forest Drive, said that she has spent time observing classrooms in various schools and that she came to the conclusion that her young sons would benefit greater "socially and academically" if they were placed into a more open, informal type of school program such as Sycamore's.

"Being able to choose our children's school was actually the reason my husband and I chose Claremont as our home five years ago, she said.

Joseph C. Hough Jr., who is the Claremont Committee for Recall candidate to replace Taylor if he is recalled, speaking for the city Human Resources Commission, said that "we do believe that the impact on the community which surrounds Sycamore may be rather serious."

Elizabeth L. Reed, 742 Plymouth Road, a resident of Pilgrim Place, a retirement community, said that as a volunteer at Sycamore she has been thrilled with the high quality of teaching which she has seen.

"The children are challenged intellectually," she said. "They respond with whole-hearted enthusiasm and are eager learners."

"The closing of a school is like a death, traumatic and without reason," said Dawn Ridder, an Oakmont teacher.

"Sycamore serves not only Claremont's citizens, but its colleges as well. Claremont Graduate School often draws from the Sycamore faculty for its teaching staff, and graduate students learn at Sycamore."

Committed to teaching the way he has for 2½ years since he gained his master's degree is Paul Douglass.

"We use many different methods to reach the kids," he said. "If one method doesn't succeed, we try another."

Douglass explained that putting 32 children K through 6 into one classroom calls "for careful selection of students. Such a program wouldn't work for some."

Asked if the Sycamore program could be moved to another school, Douglass gave a conditional yes.

"If a serious attempt is made to move all the different significant parts, including teachers, students, parent and college volunteers before school is out in June, it would take a tremendous effort to make it work," Douglass said.

Remember the Sycamore program depends on parents and college aides by the dozens."

First year in '70s that Navy to build more than it scraps

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The United States will build more warships than it will scrap this year for the first time in the 1970s, says Secretary of the Navy J. William Middendorf.

"I am very optimistic," he commented.

Middendorf, in a recent speech, said the "slight edge we presently enjoy over the Soviet navy" is the result of decisions made a decade ago.

The United States, he said, is militarily superior to Russia because of quieter submarines.

Efforts being made to save it

The plight of the tortoise

Efforts are being made to prevent the extinction of a small colony of desert tortoises which gradually is being grazed out of food in southern Utah, California Fish and Game Department biologist Frank Hoover said.

The plight of the colony, numbering about 350, was revealed last week at a meeting of the Desert Tortoise Council in Las Vegas, Nev. The council is composed of scientists and laymen interested in the dusty, lumbering creatures. Members come from the four states in which the animals live — California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah.

The Utah colony is being denied food by sheep which are eating the forage down to the ground, Hoover said. The colony numbered about 350 in one two-square mile section of that particular 12-square-mile range, according to a survey made in the 1930s by a Long Beach State professor. A recent survey showed the population of the entire 12-mile range has been reduced to about 350 animals. Many of the tortoises which were marked during the original survey remain alive within that southern Utah range, the recent survey showed.

Exactly how long the desert tortoises live has not been determined but they are thought to survive quite a long time, Hoover said. They do not mature sexually until they are about 30 years old, he said.

California desert tortoises are suffering somewhat from loss of their native habitat because of building in the desert, he said. Many also are victims of off-road vehicles driving through their range.

It now is against California state law to remove tortoises from the desert, the California Department of Fish and Game warned recently. Anyone possessing a tortoise must also have a permit from the department. Such permits will not be issued unless the tortoises were obtained in 1973 or earlier, the regulation states.

Anyone possessing a desert tortoise may obtain an application for a permit by writing the Department of Fish and Game Fisheries Base on Bird Farm Road near Yorba Avenue in Chino.

Few on farm

Over 40 per cent of the U.S. population is employed but only 3 per cent now work on farms, The Conference Board observes. Back in the early 1800s only 30 per cent of the population was employed — but 75 per cent of those tilled the land.

Doctors Hosp. gains approval

Doctors Hospital of Montclair has been approved by the Medical Staff Survey program of the California Medical Association.

CMA said the program's surveyors recently completed an on-site inspection to evaluate the quality of medical care received by the hospital's patients, as well as the related administrative functions of the hospital medical staff.

Since CMA began the surveys in 1961, more than 1,000 inspections have been completed, with about 75 per cent of the hospitals receiving approval.

Auxilians will hear program

Mrs. Sharon Du-Rousseau, consultant for community health and safety for Pomona Chapter, American Red Cross, will include demonstrations, films and answers to questions regarding cardiopulmonary resuscitation Thursday for the Pomona Valley Community Hospital Auxiliary meeting.

The meeting will be held at 11:45 a.m. in Pitzer Auditorium at the hospital.

The Red Cross has developed a new training program for the general community on cardiopulmonary resuscitation. Information on the training program may be obtained by calling the American National Red Cross office in Pomona.

Auxiliary schedules program

Pilgrim Congregational Church Women's Auxiliary will present "Our Musical Heritage Barbershop Harmony Style" by the Sounds of Harmony, Sweet Adeline Quartet, at a 1 p.m. program Tuesday.

Mrs. Richard C. Hathaway will give the devotions.

The auxiliary board will meet in the Randleman Room of the church at 9:30 a.m., and the business session is scheduled at 11:30 a.m. in Pilgrim Hall.

The Charity Guild will hostess the 12:15 p.m. luncheon.

Quartet to give concert

The Cleveland Quartet, resident artists at the State University of New York at Buffalo, will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. next Sunday at the Ambassador Auditorium, Pasadena.

The group first played together at the Marlboro Summer Festival in 1969. In 1970 the members followed the cellist, Donald Weilerstein, to the Cleveland Institute where they became the quartet-in-residence. After two years teaching and touring, they transferred to university in Buffalo, succeeding the Budapest Quartet as the resident string quartet.

Starlite to offer dance program

The Jasna Planina Folk Ensemble and the Montclair Recreation Folk Dancers will present a program at Montclair High School at 8:15 p.m. April 15. Admission is free.

This is the fifth event of the season on the Montclair Starlite Series sponsored by the city Recreation Department.

The Jasna Planina group, organized by Nancy Lee Ruyter in the fall of 1972, specializes in Balkan dance and song with an emphasis on material from Yugoslavia. The name "Jasna Planina" means "clear mountain" in Serbo-Croatian. It was chosen as a translation of Claremont where the group is based.

The Montclair Recreation Folk Dancers is an adult group sponsored by the city Recreation Department and instructed by Rose and Harve Edwards, dance entertainers for many years at the Mt. Baldy ski-lifts. Folk dances from Czechoslovakia, Germany, Israel, Switzerland, Russia, Denmark, Mexico, Italy, England and America will be performed.

STARLITE DANCERS — The Claremont-based Jasna Planina Folk Ensemble, directed by Nancy Lee Ruyter, will perform on the Montclair Starlite Series at Montclair High School at 8:15 p.m. April 15. Also appearing will be the Montclair Recreation Folk Dancers.

The Vintage Years'

Bicentennial exhibit to open at MSAC

"The Vintage Years," a Bicentennial exhibition prepared by Mt. San Antonio College, will go on view at a reception from 1:30 to 5:30 this afternoon in the college library. Admission is free.

Area residents are invited to view the 30-panel display of the history of the valley from the late 1700s to the end of World War II. Murals, sketches, photographs, maps, and a shiny smudge pot from earlier days in citrus ranching show some of the growth of the MSAC District.

"The Vintage Years" has been exhibited in several area schools since the beginning of the fall semester and has met with acclaim from young and old alike.

William F. King, MSAC history instructor and curator of the display, said that our highly mobile, constantly changing population needs ties with the past as an anchor to provide stability for the present.

"As our nation celebrates its 200th birthday, it is both appropriate and essential that we pause to rediscover the vintage years in our part of the surrounding valleys," King said in the book he has written about the exhibit.

King and Mrs. Barbara Hall, MSAC community services assistant, gathered the materials for the exhibition and data for the book. They are currently scheduling the display for future showings throughout the valley.

"The Vintage Years" may be viewed by area residents in the library during regular school hours, Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Fridays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. to April 30. It will then move to the Puente Hills Mall for the month of May.

Artist and art instructor Evelyn Dowd of Claremont will demonstrate painting from slides at the monthly meeting of the Pomona Valley Art Association at Pomona First Federal Savings & Loan Association, Indian Hill and Foothill boulevards, Claremont, at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Dowd will show a slide and demonstrate how to paint a landscape in oil from it.

A past PVAA board member, the Colorado-born artist has studied with Robert Wee and Joyce Pike, and has participated in many shows throughout Southern California. She has won prizes in numerous exhibitions. She is also a member of the Associated Artists of Upland.

ON THE ROAD — Robin Strasser stars in Susan Miller's new play, "Cross Country," having its world premiere to June 27 at the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center. The play is a contemporary look at a woman's search for herself and the relationships she has on her trip.

Bassoon recital slated

Bassoonist Jerry Taylor will present her senior recital in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Admission is free.

She will be assisted by Tim Cook, flute; Jim Nagano, oboe; Nancy Miller, horn; Dan Strang, violin, and Sara McCormack, piano.

The program will include Elliott Carter's Woodwind Quintet; Mozart's Concerto for Bassoon, Trio for Violin, Horn and Bassoon by Franz Danzi, and Woodwind Quintet by Anton Reicha.

A painting of a bobcat by Karen Johnston of Edgewood High School won the Best in Show award at the annual student art competition sponsored by the Pomona Valley Art Association.

The 22 prize-winning artists in the competition will show their works through April 17 at the PVAA gallery, 300 S. Park Ave., Pomona. Gallery hours are noon to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday; noon to 6 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday.

Winners in the senior high school division were Jeni Kandel, Edgewood, first; Thomas E. Ford, Claremont, second; and Mary Linden Luiten, Pomona Catholic, third. Honorable mention went to Corrine Doctor, Ontario Christian; Becky Downs, Garey; Karen Gonzalez, Garey, and Kelly Kimberly Connors, Edgewood.

Junior high school winners were Danny Eblen, Slauson Intermediate (Azusa), first; Rhonda Dennis, Simmons (Pomona), second; and Rudy Martinez, Slauson, third. Honorable mention went to Anthus Webb, Simmons, and Chris Mendez, Susan Gomez and Barry Weber, all of Slauson.

Yanks 'free' Andy

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees withdrew their claim to free-agent pitcher Andy Messersmith Saturday, saying the "wearing of the Yankee uniform is not something which anyone will be allowed to take lightly."

Thus Messersmith, the first free agent under Peter Seitz' landmark arbitration decision, remains a free agent, free to deal with all 24 clubs—even the Yankees if he wished.

"The Messersmith matter is closed as far as the Yankees are concerned and I notified the commissioner of that this afternoon," said George Steinbrenner, general partner of the Yankees.

"Someday, Andy may feel entirely different about representing the New York Yankees and, if that day should come, we would certainly be willing to meet to pursue that possibility."

Steinbrenner said the Yankees were convinced that they had dealt with Messersmith and his agent "both morally and legally."

Messersmith, the winningest pitcher in the National League the past two years while hurling for the Los Angeles Dodgers, has steadfastly maintained he never lost free-agent status. The Yankees claimed, however, that Herb Osmond, Messersmith's agent, had entered into a written agreement with them last Sunday morning.

Osmond and Messersmith say that agreement was not a binding contract on the star righthander. It was without his signature and Osmond never had authority to bind Messersmith to a contract anyway. "I don't have power of attorney," Osmond said Thursday while in New York to appear before in a hearing Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn had been expected to make a decision Saturday — but the Yankees made one of their own instead.

Meanwhile, in New York, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said: "I was advised this afternoon by George Steinbrenner that the Yankees were not going to press their claim regarding Andy Messersmith. As far as I am concerned, that closes the matter."

Later, Kuhn told The Associated Press: "I didn't have to reach any final judgement."

He said his most worrisome concern was with the charge that the Yankees had acted in bad faith.

"It was clear to me that the Yankees dealt in good faith," Kuhn said. "They were genuinely trying to bring about a deal. The charge that they behaved badly is unreasonable.

"It was also clear to me that at one point last week, all the parties concerned thought they had a deal. In fact, Andy even was talking about what number uniform he would be wearing.

"I think the fault was with the agent, Osmond. His behavior left something to be desired."

Steinbrenner said the Yankees had been determined to proceed in the Messersmith hearings because it was "imperative that certain facts be set straight."

He said one of those facts was allegations that the Yankees did not always act in good faith. He also denied that the Yankees plied Osmond with drinks in order to persuade him to sign an agreement for his client.

"This alleged statement was totally false and was damaging," Steinbrenner said. "Mr. Osmond's own testimony under oath stated that, in the seven hours he was with Yankee personnel in negotiations that day (March 27), that he only had a total of 1½ bottles of beer," Steinbrenner said.

"If that could, by any stretch of the imagination, be considered as 'plying him with drinks,' then the liquor stores are in trouble. The Yankees just don't operate in that way."

Steinbrenner also said the Yankees felt that it must be brought to the attention of all parties that there are many difficulties which must be recognized in contract negotiations between agents representing ball players and ball clubs."

In New York, Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, said Steinbrenner beat the commissioner to the punch because he knew the Yankees' claim was going to go down for the count.

"I think it was wise of them," Miller said "because neither the commissioner nor anybody else could sustain the claim. The claim was phony."

Steinbrenner said he felt confident of a favorable decision from Kuhn. "We had a real strong case," he said. "But I don't know if we would have won. That was up to the judge."

Steinbrenner said he detected "a small note of sympathy" in Kuhn's voice when the commissioner was told about the Yankees' decision. The Yankee owner said he didn't think the commissioner was going to make a decision Saturday.

Miller laughed when informed of Steinbrenner's opinion, saying: "It was a face-saving move. He knew the commissioner was going to rule against him.

Steinbrenner said: "I think had we been able to sit down head-to-head, this matter probably could have been resolved."

When asked why he hadn't talked to Messersmith to clear everything up, Steinbrenner said, "because of the way his agent reacted. My people tried to talk with Osmond and he wasn't about to discuss anything."

Messersmith had charged the items in the written agreement that Osmond signed were different from the terms in the uniform contract Osmond was later presented.

Rain forces early end to Angel win

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Something new was added to the Freeway Series Saturday night — rain.

The heavens opened up in the bottom of the eighth inning at Dodger Stadium and plate umpire John Kibler, realizing these are still spring training exhibition games, called it off after a short wait to see if the rains would let up.

It was perfectly all right with the Angels, who enjoyed a 4-2 victory to even the weekend series entering today's finale at 1 p.m. at Anaheim Stadium.

The curtailment of the game was the first time a contest at Dodger Stadium has been cut short by rain in the 14 years of the stadium's existence. Only two home games have been rained out in that time — a regular season game against St. Louis in 1967 and a Freeway Series contest in 1969.

With the victory, the Angels have guaranteed retaining their lead in the series, holding a 13-11 advantage entering today's contest at the Big A.

Rightfielder Joe Lahoud was the hitting hero for the Angels Saturday in his battle to win a job in the outfield. He singled home the first run in the first inning and added an insurance run in the seventh when he belted a Don Sutton pitch into the rightfield seats for his first homer this spring.

"I'm just trying to show the Angels that I can contribute," Lahoud said. "We have a good team this season thanks to the trades and additions. We have power to go with the speed now."

Lahoud also hasn't signed his 1976 contract as yet so a good showing this spring might help his chances for a raise.

Lefthanders Andy Hassler, Jim Brewer and Sid Monge held the Dodgers to two runs despite allowing nine hits. L.A. had hits in seven of the eight innings but stranded eight runners.

Hassler pitched himself out of trouble in the fifth by striking out Steve Garvey and Ron Cey after Bill Russell and Dusty Baker singled to put Dodgers on first and third with one out.

The Angels tagged Sutton for two runs in the first inning and could have more but Mike Miley flied out with the bases full for the final out.

Jerry Remy started the rally with a single and stolen base. Bruce Bochte also singled to set the stage for Lahoud's run-producing hit. Ed Herrmann bounced a single off of first base to bring Bochte home for the 2-0 lead.

The Dodgers came back to tie it at 2-2 with single runs in the second and third frames. Ron Cey walked to open the second and scored on Rick Auerbach's hit. Baker's single brought Hale home in the third after he singled and continued to second when rightfielder Lee Stanton couldn't pick up the ball for an error.

Rusty Torres' two-out single to right scored Dave Chalk with the winning run in the fourth for the Halos. Chalk opened the inning by drawing a walk from Sutton. After Miley struck out, Hassler sacrificed Chalk to second.

Hassler worked the first five innings for the Angels, scattering seven hits and striking out five. Brewer hurled two scoreless innings against his former teammates and Monge pitched the eighth allowing one harmless single.

Sutton, who will be on the mound next Friday when the Dodgers open the National League season at San Francisco, walked five and struck out nine in his seven innings.

DODGER DATA — Today's game will feature pitchers coming back from arm surgeries with Nolan Ryan facing Tommy John in the 1 p.m. contest.

Pomona Valley fans are reminded the Orange Freeway (57) is now open from the Foothill Freeway to the Santa Ana Freeway. There are off ramps servicing the stadium at Katella and Orangewood avenues.

Ottinger is fastest qualifer at OMS

L. D. Ottinger of Newport, Ky., was the fastest qualifier in the West Coast 250 stock car trials Saturday at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Ottinger's speed of just over 148 m.p.h. was enough to edge second-place qualifier Jimmy Insolo of Mission Hills. Herchel McGriff of Bridal Vale, Ore., was third.

Broncs win two

SAN LUIS OBISPO — The Cal Poly Pomona baseball squad swept a doubleheader from host Cal Poly SLO Saturday afternoon, winning the first game 5-0 and taking the nightcap 7-6.

The two wins nets the Broncs a 2-1 record in the California Collegiate Athletic Association. In other CCAA action Saturday, UC Riverside swept a twinbill from defending conference champ CS Northridge by scores of 4-0 and 11-2.

SCIAC baseball roundup

La Verne, C-M sweep two

La Verne and Claremont-Mudd continued to pull away from the other schools in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference baseball race Saturday.

The Leos got by Pomona-Pitzer twice at the Sagehens' field, 7-5 and 8-6, while the Stags swept a pair from host Occidental, 5-2 and 7-1.

Those results leave La Verne (7-1) leading the conference in winning percentage with a .875 mark even though the Leos trail Claremont-Mudd (9-2) by one-half game.

Whittier, which was idle Saturday, is in third place with an 8-4 record.

Pomona-Pitzer, whose SCIAC record fell to 3-11 with the double loss, managed to keep both games close against the Leos.

In fact, La Verne trailed 6-5 in the nightcap going into the top of the seventh inning, but the Leos scored a run in each of the last three frames for the 8-6 win.

John Edwards opened La Verne's seventh with a single and pinch runner Jerry Leverau stole second base. Leverau took third on a groundout and scored the tying run on John Lauban's sacrifice fly.

Steve Watson began the Leos' eighth inning with a double but was thrown out at the plate by Sagehen rightfielder Dorman Malone after a single by Pat Proulx. After Tim Burzette walked, however, Wayne Redfearn singled home Proulx with the winning run. The Leos added a run in the ninth on Laubhan's single and a double by pinch hitter Gary Pierson.

Paul McGuire won the second game in relief by allowing no runs on two hits through the final 4 1/3 innings.

The 'Hens had taken a 5-4 lead with five runs in the bottom of the second inning. Chris Dialynas' three-run homer was the big blow.

Ralph Valadez paced La Verne's 17-hit attack with a double and a two-run home run.

La Verne took a comfortable 7-1 lead into the bottom of the seventh and final inning of the first game but the 'Hens came up with four runs on four singles and two errors. Greg Holden's two-run hit was the capper.

The Leos had struck for three runs in the second and two each in the fourth and fifth. Steve Polen hit a solo home run in the second.

Joe Maiberger went the distance for the Stags in the first win over Oxy and Paul Richards followed suit in the second.

Maiberger allowed one earned run on five hits while Wynn Moore supported him with a three-for-four performance, driving in a run and scoring one.

Moore scored along with Greg Thompson on Jamie Opatrny's home run in the top of the fourth inning and doubled home Bob Turek in the fifth. Andy Roundtree singled to drive in Al Golad with the Stags' final run in the seventh.

Vince Gallo collected two hits for the Tigers.

In the second game, C-M's Norm Richards, who pitched a seven-inning no-hitter in his last outing, surrendered a leadoff single to Gallo to end any suspense. Gallo advanced on two infield outs and scored on a passed ball but after that Richards never allowed a runner past first base.

Moore went three-for-five, scoring twice and driving in two runs, Jon Begerow of the Stags and Golad each had two hits and Begerow stole four bases.

Finley feels A's got best of deal

BALTIMORE (AP) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley was not dealing from strength when he traded two of his disgruntled superstars — slugging outfielder Reggie Jackson and pitcher Ken Holtzman—but he still thinks the blockbuster deal with the Baltimore Orioles was a great one for his team.

"I think under the circumstances, it will turn out to be one of the best trades we ever made," Finley said Friday after trading Jackson, Holtzman and minor-league pitcher Bill Van Bommel to Baltimore for pitcher Mike Torrez, rookie righthander Paul Mitchell and outfielder Don Baylor."

The circumstances Finley was talking about were that Jackson and Holtzman were two of his unsigned star players, who would become free agents if the A's did not sign them for the 1976 season.

If Finley didn't sign them, they could sign for the 1977 season with any club in baseball, even making potential big deals with the expansion franchises, and the A's would get nothing in return.

Consequently, Finley went to the market place and all the other dealers knew he was not dealing with the best hand. The other clubs knew, since Finley apparently wasn't going to pay Jackson and Holtzman what they were asking, they were in the driver's seat.

Jackson, was reportedly asking for a three-year contract for about $200,000 a year. Holtzman also wanted a three-year pact totaling $460,000 compared with the $93,000 he earned last year.

Jackson, especially, and Holtzman were not overly happy with the trade. Jackson, in fact, might balk at moving from the A's to the Orioles.

While Jackson was declining comment, his agent and business partner, Gary Waller, said: "I've never seen Reggie more reflective in his life. He has to give it a lot of thought.

"It isn't necessarily true that he will be going."

But Holtzman said: "As much as I hate to leave Oakland, this might be my one chance to get some security in the game. I'm glad more for financial reasons."

Baylor, 27, who hit .282 with 25 homers last season, took the trade very hard. The muscular outfielder had been in the Orioles' organization for 10 years, including five in Baltimore.

"What can I say? I'm shocked," he said. "The guys here have been like brothers to me." Baylor added that when he broke the news to Bobby Grich, Baltimore's veteran second baseman wept.

Torrez, 29, took the news calmly. He made a plane reservation, asked for an Oakland press guide and took his wife out to dinner to celebrate his birthday.

"It kind of makes you wonder what you have to do in baseball to stick around," said Torrez, who was 20-9 last season.

"What really gets me is that it's so late for a trade like this. The last time, at least, it was during the off-season and I had a couple of months to think about it."

"I felt I did a hell of a job for the Orioles. And now, boom, I'm playing for someone else."

The key for the Orioles was Jackson, while Finley said an integral part of the deal was Mitchell, a 25-year-old righthander.

"Since December, at the winter meetings, our No. 1 priority has been Reggie Jackson," Peters said.

Although Orioles General Manager Hank Peters and Manager Earl Weaver wouldn't reveal the details of more than four months of delicate talks with the A's, both men said they had second thoughts about letting Mitchell go in the deal.

The hard-thrower was 3-0 last year with Baltimore after having been called up in June from the Rochester farm club.

Baltimore catcher Dave Duncan said he had no doubts Mitchell was the player who tipped the scales.

"Everyone says Baltimore got the best deal," Duncan said. "But I think Paul Mitchell is the key to the trade. Depending how well he turns out will determine who got the better deal."

Mitchell, himself, paced around the Orioles' training camp in Miami after hearing the news saying, "I can't believe it.

"Surprised wasn't the word for it," he said. "I knew they were trying to make a trade, but never in a million years did I figure I'd be part of it. I am sad, very sad. I hate to go."

At least on paper, the trade was the best deal for the Orioles since they acquired Frank Robinson from Cincinnati in 1965.

As for hitting, Weaver said he hoped Jackson's big bat would return this season, although he said just having him in the lineup would affect the entire team's performance at the plate.

"With Reggie in our lineup, we have better balance between right-handed and lefthanded hitters. I don't know how many home runs he'll hit, but I'll guarantee you one thing—some of our right-handers will hit more than they did last year," Weaver said.

And Peters said, "Since the end of last season, the biggest need on this club has been for a power left-handed hitter who can drive in some runs."

Holtzman, 30, has won 77 games in the last four seasons, including an 18-14 mark last year.

Van Bommel, 24, will be assigned to Rochester, Peters said. The right-handed hurler had a 7-13 record last season at Tucson and Birmingham, but his earned-run average was an impressive 2.90.

All three former Orioles were due to arrive in Mesa, Ariz., the A's spring camp, sometime Sunday. It was not known when, or if, all three former Oakland players would report to Miami.

Cage loop begins soon

The San Dimas Parks & Recreation Department will conduct a "3 on 3" half-court basketball program on Monday evenings at San Dimas High beginning April 19.

Two leagues are being planned this year. A 6'1" and over open league and a 6'0" and under open league will be formed. Games are half-court with teams consisting of three players (five allowed per roster). A 10-minute time limit per game is set. Each team will play a minimum of four games per meeting.

Standings will be kept on a weekly basis and trophies will be awarded to individuals on the two victorious teams. A $10 registration fee will be charged per team. Team registrations are being accepted now at San Dimas City Hall, 245 East Bonita Avenue.

If further information is needed, please call (714) 599-6713, Ext. 40.

Garey High edged cross-town rival Pomona by three points to win the Open Division of the 47th Chaffey Invitational Track and Field Meet at Chaffey's Graber Field Saturday afternoon.

Newport Harbor won the Novice Division over second place Upland by a 46-43 margin. Foothill was third with 22, Lowell fourth with 20, and Garey fifth with 17 points.

Garey won the Open bracket with 38 points followed by Pomona with 34, San Gorgonio with 25, Newport Harbor and Upland tied for fourth with 20 points each.

Viking Stanley Webster won the 180 low hurdles in 19.5 and finished second in the long jump.

Earnest Jarnigan beat Ganesha's Lloyd Jones to win the 120 high hurdles in 14.8 and took second behind Webster in the lows.

The Devil relay team bested Garey with a time of 43.5, but Pomona was disqualified in its heat of the mile relay.

Pomona had placed third in its race but it was taken away as Garey finished second in the heat.

Chaffey's Tim Mattison swiped his two mile race in 9:23.4 while Upland's pole vault duo of Bob Dalquest and Clif Juell finished one-two. Dalquest's winning vault was 13-6.

In the novice division, Upland's John Scheerer won the 70 high hurdles and teammate Jim Bangert won the 220 in 22.9.

Foothill's Mark Spillsbury, who holds the best mark in the nation in the two-mile, won the open two-mile in 9:15.5. Spillsbury came back to win his one-mile heat in 4:25.8.

INGLEWOOD — Irish Mike Baker, the young Washington, D.C. boxer managed by Redskin coach George Allen, has been signed to box on the next Forum ring card, April 28.

The bout scheduled for 10 rounds at 155 pounds, will precede the Danny Lopez-Famoso Gomez world featherweight title elimination contest, which is the feature event that night.

JC baseball roundup

MSAC, Chaffey win

Mt. San Antonio College stayed in the thick of the South Coast Conference baseball race Saturday with a win over Fullerton, while Chaffey upset Citrus in a Mission Conference contest.

MSAC edged the host Hornets 3-2 with a run in the ninth inning, while Chaffey blanked Citrus 3-0.

Mountie hurler Kevin Chapman scattered nine hits, fanned seven and walked only one in subduing the Hornets. One of the two Fullerton tallies was unearned.

MSAC had to push across a run in the top of the ninth to score the win. In that frame, Joe Koval reached on an error, stole second, and went to third on an error on a pickoff attempt by Hornet hurler Bill Riddell. From there Tracy Cowger cashed him in with a sacrifice fly to center.

Fullerton took a 1-0 lead in the game on Joe Martelli's RBI single in the first, but the Mounties came back to go ahead with two runs in the third.

In that inning, Chris Barbone singled, was wild pitched to second, stole third and scored on Koval's single. Later in the inning a Cowger sacrifice fly cashed in Brian Menasco, who had walked.

Larry Marsh had two of the Mounties' seven hits, while Ron Roenicke stole three bases for the victors. MSAC is now 6-3 in league and in sole possession of secong place in the SCC. The Mounties are 14-6-1 overall.

Chaffey threw the Northern Division of the Mission Conference into a tizzy with its win at Citrus.

Citrus, at 8-3 in league, is now tied with San Bernardino for the division lead. Chaffey is only a game behind at 7-4. The Owls are now 16-6 on the year, while the Panthers are 13-10.

Kenny Shea hurled a five-hitter to whitewash the Owls, the first time this year Citrus had been held scoreless in a game. Shea fanned six and walked only two and worked his way out of a couple early Owl threats to post the win.

Sagehens lose to Oxy

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

The undefeated Tigers nipped Pomona-Pitzer, 84-59, and beat Claremont-Mudd, 110-35, at Stags Field on a cloudy, raw and windy afternoon.

The loss was the first for the Sagehens (5-1) while Oxy (6-0) will head into the conference meet at Pomona's track April 30 and May 1 in search of its 32nd consecutive conference title.

The 'Hens had defeated the Stags earlier (115½-29½) in a double dual meet with Whittier and C-M.

"I really didn't know what to expect," said Oxy coach Steve Haas. "I knew Pomona had some good individual performers, but I didn't know how they'd perform as a team. Actually I came in here thinking we'd win easily but for awhile I was afraid we might lose."

The Tigers led the 'Hens 26-15 after five events, 50-35 after 10 events and 75-54 after 15 events.

All hopes of a P-P upset went out the window early because of two bad breaks. Freshman Mark Brown, heading for a second place finish in the high hurdles, stumbled, fell and went UNDER the last hurdle and was disqualified.

Sophomore Bob Menicucci, defending conference shotput champion, had trouble with his takeoff and his 46-11 placed him behind Occidental's Mark Madison, Dave Scott and John Noble.

"We figured we'd get a second in the shot and finish one-two in the highs," sighed Mulcahy. "That was a five-point turnaround for them. That was the key. We lost a few other points along the way and couldn't get back in.

"Brown was headed for a sub-15 (seconds) and a personal best," Mulcahy continued. Individually, Steve Smith was fantastic and Kent Namikas also did a great job."

Smith ran a 9.7 hundred, won the high hurdles in 14.1 and finished one second behind Oxy's Sam Young in the 200-yard dash at 21.5. Namikas won the high jump (6-0) and finished second in the long jump (22-10½) and triple jump (47-2).

John Armstrong, though not pressed, won the mile (4:17.6) and three-mile (14:12.1).

For Oxy, Young won the 220 (21.4) and ran legs on both winning relays. Danny Williams won the long jump (23-5) and triple jump (47-5½) and ran a leg of the intermediate relays.

The Tigers were without their best distance runners, Joe Jameson and Jon Sisler plus Ted Knighton who is their best in the high, long and triple jump.

"I left Jameson and Sisler behind because we have a tough meet with Stanford next week and I didn't think we'd need them," Haas explained. Knighton has a bad ankle and I didn't want to aggravate it."

Claremont-Mudd won two events against the Tigers. Mark Frazier and Dave Arzouman, both freshmen, won the 120 highs and high jump respectively.

"We're young and our guys were just a little shaky going up against Oxy," said C-M coach Gayle Hopkins. "But it was good experience for them. We're 3-2 now and if we can beat Caltech and Redlands next week, we'll finish third. That's not bad, but we want to do better."

The Cincinnati Bengals led the American Football Conference of the NFL in passing in 1975, averaging 231.5 yards per game.

Geiberger leading Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Al Geiberger, who went into a decline after winning the 1966 PGA national championship then resurrected his career nine years later, flashed that shy, almost enbarressed smile of his.

"Surprised," he said. "I guess that's the best way to describe it. I'm surprised to be leading by four strokes. There were so many guys so close I didn't think anybody could really pull away."

But the unassuming Geiberger romped away from a closely bunched field with a late birdie-eagle-birdie burst, fashioned a second consecutive six-under-par 65 and established a commanding, four-shot lead Saturday in the third round of the $230,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

While the lead is one of the largest three-round margins of the year, it really isn't comfortable, Geiberger said.

"This is the kind of course where anybody can get hot, shoot some really low numbers. I've got to go out tomorrow and try to shoot a low number. I can't just relax and try to coast in. There are too many guys back there looking at me.

"Most of the tournaments I've won have come where I had a big lead, three or four shots, at the end of three rounds," he said, and grinned again.

"I guess maybe I needed the big lead."

The quiet, low-key Geiberger, one of seven men who shared the lead early in the mild, sunny day, romped away with from the closely bunched field with his six-under-par effort that was built around the birdie-eagle-birdie beginning on the 13th hole.

The lanky 38-year-old veteran, whose revitalized career has produced three titles in the last 18 months, finished 54 holes with a 200 total, matching the best three-round score of the year on the tour and 13-underpar on the 6,643 yards of rolling hills and piny woods that make up the Sedgefield Country Club.

Mets nix latest offer by Seaver

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The New York Mets told star pitcher Tom Seaver on Saturday that his offer to them for a new contract was unacceptable. A meeting between Seaver and M. Donald Grant, the Mets' chairman of the board, then was set for early next week in nearby Fort Lauderdale.

Seaver, three-time Cy Young Award winning pitcher, including last season when he was 22-9, has not been able to reach agreement with the Mets on contract terms. The Mets exercised the renewal clause in his contract last month and renewed Seaver's contract, at the same $170,000 salary he received in 1975.

But the Mets, like any other major league team, can only invoke the renewal clause against an unsigned player once. If Seaver plays this season without a signed contract, he would become a free agent for 1977, available to all players.

That's why the Mets recently had initiated trade talks with six clubs, since whittled to two. Last week, there were reports that Seaver would be dealt to the Los Angeles Dodgers for Don Sutton and Joe Ferguson.

"It's still alive, but not even close," said Grant of that possible trade. "They merely expressed an interest. We've merely had chats."

Now, Seaver will have a chat with Grant, who had said he would intervene in the contract talks if either party asked for help. Seaver, presumably, asked Grant to enter the negotiations.

Two share Shore lead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth and Sandra Haynie, the two top money winners in women's professional golfing history, matched par 72s Saturday and shared the third-round lead in the $200,000 Dinah Shore Winners Circle Golf Championship at 214.

The two had begun Saturday's round at Mission Hills Country Club two strokes back of co-leaders Pam Higgins and Jan Stephenson, who had completed 36 holes of the 72-hole tournament at four under par.

But Miss Higgins had a 76 Saturday to fall two strokes off the pace, and Miss Stephenson struggled to a 78 to fall four strokes back.

Tee to Cup

Area courses host 'nationals'

By PHIL ROCHE
PB Golf Writer

BILL SAUNDERS, president of National Golf Courses, Inc., has started the ball rolling for the seventh annual National Cup Matches Thursday and Friday at the Corona and Ontario National Golf Courses.

The head pro and three club members from each club participate in the two-day event. The first round Thursday at Corona National will be foursome best ball. The final round at Ontario National will be aggregate net score of foursome.

Three teams from the Bay Area, San Geronimo National, Sonoma National and San Ramon National; one from Sacramento, Whitney Ranch National, and two from Oregon, Meriwether National and Colwood National near Portland, will compete.

JERRY HEARD, though suffering with back problems, had a tie for fourth in the Bob Hope Desert Classic and a tie for 10th in the NBC Tucson Open. However, the problem forced him to withdraw from the Phoenix, Hawaiian and Doral-Eastern Opens . . . Lee Elder withdrew from the Florida Citrus Open because of a wrist injury, went home and then strained his back while reaching for and lifting a case. With $22,621 won, Lee has already earned nearly as much as he banked all of last year.

JUAN (CHI CHI) RODRIGUEZ uses an Indian head nickel to mark his ball on the green, and he always places it heads up. "I like the way the Indian looks," Chi Chi says, "so determined, so fearless." . . . R. H. Sikes, a consistent money winner and two-times in the mid-60s, has been struggling with his game for about a half dozen years. His first 1976 start resulted in a tie for 11th in the Florida Citrus Open. He finished with 68-68 for 10-under par and said: "No one knows how tough it has been. It's not quite there, yet, but my game is getting close again."

Karman Hill was the most improved golfer of the month.

In the two best ball foursome, a special event of Publinx, held at San Dimas Canyon this month, the Los Serranos team of Mary Takanabe, Jean Bantly, Gladys Burke and Bobbie Wright tied for 4th place. Mary Takanabe also won a special prize, holing out a 5 wood to score an eagle 2 on the fourth hole, a 340 yard par 4.

Upcoming Masters dream of every golfer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — "The Masters, the majors, is where it's all at," said Hubert Green.

"This is hallowed ground," said Ben Crenshaw.

"I'm not major-tournament oriented, but I've come so close before, I'd really like to win the Masters," said Johnny Miller.

"Now, the way things have worked out, winning the Masters is the major goal in my career," said Lee Trevino.

"I'd rather win the Masters than 10 regular tournaments," said Gary Player.

"It's a tournament I've grown up thinking about," said Tom Watson.

"I'm tired of finishing second," said Tom Weiskopf.

Those men—possessed of those ambitious, determined attitudes—form perhaps the most outstanding corps of challengers ever assembled to test Jack Nicklaus' domination of the famed Masters Golf Tournament.

"I think it's obvious there are now probably more men with a chance to win—not just guys who have an outside chance but men who have to be considered very strong threats to win— than ever before," said Nicklaus, the pre-tourney favorite, the outstanding player in the game, winner of a record five green jackets that go to the Masters champion, and the defending title-holder.

And, looking forward to golf's annual spring rite that will be held this week in the serene, Ol' South beauty of the famed Augusta National Golf Club course, he ticked off his list of men to beat in the select, invitational, international field of about 77 players expected to start in this, the first of the season's four major tests of golfing greatness.

"Miller hasn't played as well as he's going to," Nicklaus said.

But the slender blond, an All-America type almost too good to be true and generally considered to be the heir apparent to Nicklaus' role of golf's premier performer, got off to his usual sensational start this season, winning two of the first five events.

The young man with that happy history of shooting extremely low rounds, also has demonstrated his proficiency on the 7,030-yard, par-72 Augusta Natonal Course. He played his last two rounds in the Masters last season in a record 131 strokes and came within one shot of tying Nicklaus and forcing a playoff.

"Weiskopf hasn't played particularly well this season, but you know he'll be up there in the Masters," Nicklaus said.

The tall, undeniably talented but sometimes tempermental Weiskopf owns perhaps the most frustrating record in the history of the Masters. He's been second four times—more than any other man—including a tie for that position last year.

"I WILL win the Masters," the grimly-determined Weiskopf said. "It's just a matter of time."

"Irwin and Crenshaw have played extremely well this year," said Nicklaus.

Major Leagues set to open on Thursday

By Associated Press

Despite a seemingly endless stream of labor and franchise complications, major league baseball opens this week, on time ... and perhaps just in time.

There were some people who didn't think the grand old game would make it through a hectic winter of courtroom and negotiating wars. And fans apparently had a stomach-full of the legal wrangles that occupied much of the sport's time since last October.

But now you can forget the reserve rule and the renewal clause. Never mind the unsigned contracts and the free agents. Stick the tax lawyers and super-agents in a back room some place.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, and John Gaherin, chief labor negotiator for the owners, are still duelling over contract commas and clauses. But their debate, which delayed the start of spring training for 17 days, has moved underground. Center stage now belongs to the regular season, which gets underway Thursday.

Two games get things started.

Cincinnati hosts the traditional National League opener with a sellout crowd of more than 52,000 fans on hand at Riverfront Stadium for the game against Houston. Last year's opener drew 52,526, the largest in Reds' history. It could be more this time with Cincinnati raising the world championship flag it won in last year's memorable World Series against Boston.

The delayed start of spring training has most pitchers far behind in conditioning. Ordinarily, ace Don Gullett would be the Reds' opening-day pitcher. But the flame-throwing lefthander may not be ready. Jack Billingham appears to be farthest along and may be Manager Sparky Anderson's choice to start.

That, however, doesn't mean much in the Reds' scheme of things. Anderson, with one of the best-equipped bullpens in baseball, rarely lets a starter go the distance. The Reds had only 22 complete games last year, lowest total in the majors. Anderson has said that in an effort to protect tender arms, he will probably use three pitchers on opening day.

The Astros will go with Larry Dierker.

One of Anderson's trusted aides won't be on hand for the Cincinnati opener, but he'll be busy anyway. Alex Grammas, who coached third base for the world champions, has left the Reds to manage the Milwaukee Brewers.

Grammas' team will host Thursday's American League opener against the New York Yankees. Like most pitching staffs, the Brewers' hurlers are behind schedule and Grammas was puzzling over a starter up to the last minute. The best guess is that Pete Broberg, 14-16 last year, will open.

NFL college draft goes Thursday

NEW YORK (AP) — The question is not what Tampa Bay and Seattle will do but what the other 26 teams will do with what's left after Leroy Selmon and Chuck Muncie are gone.

It's pretty much of a certainty that when Tampa Bay makes its No. 1 pick in Thursday's National Football League collegiate draft, it'll be Selmon, Oklahoma's All-American defensive tackle, who dons a Buccaneers' helmet.

And when Seattle's turn comes, the Seahawks figure to grab Muncie, California's the top running back in a college field of great ones that has tagged this as the Year of the Running Back.

After that, though, speculation will be the order of the day as each team (with the exception of Washington, Philadelphia, Houston and Oakland) go through the first round, looking for that one man to turn a loser into a winner or a winner into a champion.

Tampa has the first pick in this draft since it had the second one behind Seattle in last week's expansion draft of veterans from the other 26 clubs. The first-round order behind them is: New Orleans, San Diego, New England, the New York Jets, Cleveland, Detroit, Atlanta, Chicago, Cincinnati, San Francisco, the New York Giants, Kansas City, Detroit again, Miami, Buffalo, Miami again, Baltimore, Dallas, San Francisco again, St. Louis, Green Bay, Cincinnati again, Minnesota, Los Angeles and Pittsburgh.

In addition to the starting two picks in each of the 17 rounds, the Buccaneers and Seahawks will each have two picks at the end of rounds two through five, giving them each 25 choices over-all. Because of previous trades, Cincinnati has the second-most choices, 24, and Washington has the fewest, 11.

In the first round, it figures that New Orleans, San Francisco, Atlanta, Green Bay and Cleveland will be looking first for offensive linemen; Buffalo, Minnesota and St. Louis will be checking out the defensive linemen; San Diego will be checking out the wide receivers; Cincinnati will go for a tight end; Baltimore, Dallas, New England, Denver and the Giants will be hoping for running back strength; the Jets, Chicago and Miami will be pursuing defensive backs and, along with Los Angeles and Pittsburgh, linebackers; Detroit will pick a center and Kansas City will think about getting a quarterback.

Selmon is by far the star of the cast. As well as being a runaway All-American, Oklahoma's 6-foot-2, 260-pounder was the winner of the Outland Trophy as the best college lineman. As one pro scout once joked: "He may go before the first round."

Muncie, a 6-3, 225-pounder, has both speed and strength. He was fourth in the nation in rushing last year with 1,460 yards on 212 carries and scored 15 touchdowns.

Another prime running back is Ohio State's Archie Griffin, the first-ever two-time Heisman Trophy winner as the best collegiate player and the first ever to surpass 5,000 career rushing yards.

Some observers say that, at 5-9 and 184 pounds, he's too small for the pros. But others say small can be beautiful, pointing out how Mack Herron, Greg Pruitt and other "little" backs starred in the NFL and how Nebraska's Johnny Rodgers tore up the Canadian Football League and Southern Cal's Anthony Davis did the same in the World Football League.

Also highly rated among the running backs are Oklahoma's Joe Washington, Missouri's Tony Galbreath, Kentucky's Sonny Collins, Purdue's Mike Pruitt, Wyoming's Lawrence Gaines, Iowa's Jim Jensen and Bubba Bean of Texas A&M.

Behind Selmon on the defensive line are Texas Southern's Charles Philyaw who, at 6-9 and 270 pounds, could be another Ed "Too Tall" Jones; Oklahoma's Dewey Selmon, Leroy's brother; Purdue's Ken Novak, Notre Dame's Steve Neihaus, Arizona's Mike Dawson, UCLA's Cliff Frazier and Michigan's Jeff Perlinger.

The top linebackers include Arizona State's Larry Gordon and San Jose State's Kim Bokamper. The standouts at defensive back include Arizona State's Mike Haynes, Grambling's James Hunter, Oregon's Mario Clark, Ball State's Shafer Suggs, Kansas' Kurt Knoff and Ohio State's Tim Fox.

On the offesive line, some of the big names are Wisconsin's Dennis Lick, Iowa's Joe Devlin and Rod Walters, Colorado's Pete Brock and Mark Koncar, Purdue's Ken Long, Arkansas State's Ken Jones, Washington's Ray Pinney, UCLA's Randy Cross and Virginia's Tom Glassic.

The pass-catchers who figure to go early are, at tight end, Bennie Cunningham of Clemson, Mike Barber of Louisiana Tech and David Hill of Texas A&I and, at wide receiver, Larry Dorsey of Tennessee State, Billy Brooks of Oklahoma, and Grambling's Sammy White and Dwight Scales.

There doesn't seem to be a Steve Bartkowski-type quarterback this year, but there are four who rate highly.

Trading quiet on the market—too quiet

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, confronted with the national trucking strike, lapsed into a slow decline this past week in the quietest trading of the year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 11.88 to 991.58, relinquishing the place above the 1,000 mark that it had occupied for three days the week before.

Big Board volume totaled only 86.54 million shares, averaging less than 20 million a day for the first time in 1976 after setting a record of better than 1.7 billion for the first quarter.

The strike by Teamsters union members across the country against the trucking companies, begun Thursday morning, took an increasingly dominant position in Wall Street's attention.

By the close on Friday, there had been no word of any settlement.

A primary concern voiced by analysts was that the walkout would interfere with the progress of the economic recovery.

On Friday, two auto manufacturers announced plans for some production shutdowns with their supply lines for key parts and materials closed off.

Beyond that, the situation turned investors' minds to other major labor-management negotiations coming up—in the rubber and construction industries this month and next, for example.

According to figures provided by Robert Stovall at Reynolds Securities, contract negotiations slated for this year cover 4.4 million workers, compared with 2.6 million in 1975.

DALLAS (AP) — Halliburton Company says it has agreed to divest itself of a subsidiary following an antitrust suit filed by the U.S. Department of Justice.

The suit was filed by the department after Halliburton bought Ebasco, a firm that specialized in engineering and the construction of electric power plants, for more than $60 million in 1973.

Testing your knowledge on presidents

By JOE WING
For AP Newsfeatures

1. Which president's shoes will be hardest to fill?
2. What was President Wilson's first name?
3. How many persons have been president?
4. Has any president been elected unanimously?
5. How many vice presidents have become president without being elected to the post?
6. If you want to be president, what occupation is your best bet?
7. What university has educated the greatest number of presidents?
8. Which anniversary of presidential inaugurations will 1977 be?
9. Is anyone likely to equal Franklin D. Roosevelt's record of winning four presidential elections?
10. What enlisted man became president?

PRESIDENTIAL QUIZ ANSWERS

1. George Washington's. Among other reasons, he wore size 13.
2. Thomas. He dropped it in favor of his middle name, Woodrow.
3. Thirty-seven. Gerald Ford is called the 38th president because Grover Cleveland, serving a second-year term after a four-year lapse, is designated 22nd and 24th.
4. Washington's electoral votes were unanimous.
5. Nine: John Tyler, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Johnson, Chester A. Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge, Harry S. Truman, Lyndon B. Johnson and Gerald Ford.
6. The law, by long odds. Education would be a poor second.
7. Five went to Harvard. Three to William and Mary.
8. The 188th. Washington took office in 1789.
9. No. An amendment to the Constitution bars it now.
10. Zachary Taylor.

What happened to ABM sites?

NEKOMA, N.D. (AP) — How much did it cost, all in all? Some say $5.7 billion and some say 20 years of research by dedicated men.

Now some of the citizens of this prairie town near the Canadian border want to convert missile silos to the storage of grain. And some are thinking of converting the 13-story, 200-foot square Missile Site Radar building into a vocational education school, or a barley malting plant, or a pasta factory.

And Glenn Robertson, public affairs officer for the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile (ABM) complex here, is moving to the Small Business Administration in Denver.

The ABM installation in this area — the only ABM site ever completed — was ordered closed last October, a week after it became operational. Twelve sites were to have been built in various parts of the country to protect the nation and its military installations from enemy missile attack. But Congress decided that the usefulness of the ABM system in intercepting enemy intercontinental missiles was essentially nullified by the Soviet Union's switch to multiple warheads. So the decision was made to cancel the multi-billion dollar system that had caused such a controversy in the '60s between Congress and the Defense Department.

The complex of missiles, radar and computers in Nekoma and other prairie towns 100 miles northwest of Grand Forks took eight years to build. An ABM site in Montana was partially constructed, then torn down. Work never began on the 10 other ABM sites because of a 1972 U.S.-Soviet treaty limiting each nation to two ABM sites.

Robertson, walking through the huge missile site radar building, finds it strange. "It's silent now and the lights don't even blink."

When the ABM site here became fully operational last October, it had 447 military personnel, 135 government civilians and 1,200 private contractor employes, most of them living in nearby Langdon. By Oct. 1, the military will be cut to 25, and the rest to about 500 while the decision is made on what to do with the white elephant on the prairie.

John MacFarlane, mayor of Langdon, which will be hardest hit by the shutdown, says the town is not panicked. "The folks here don't break into a rash everytime something goes wrong."

The effect is buffered by an influx of 1,000 Boeing Co. employes, modifying the Minuteman missiles. It gives local people time to find some major new business to replace the ABM when Boeing pulls out.

Bill Verwey, mayor of Nekoma, is a little more sanguine. "Everybody here is pretty disgusted about it, because it put all the towns in such a predicament."

The ABM installation here was set up to defend 150 Minuteman ballistic missiles planted among the grain fields of northeastern North Dakota. It brought $859 million into the state.

The actual operation of the system was handled almost exclusively by Army officers, with enlisted men providing security and other support functions. "We're a select few," one of the officers put it, and now the select few have little to do.

"I feel that when Congress says we're obsolete, it just isn't true," said one officer who hasn't been transferred yet. "Really, we're sort of a rare bird."

HUD REAL ESTATE

IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS: READ CAREFULLY

This bid opening will be for BOTH Homeowner-Occupants and Investors. Homeowner-Occupants will be opened first and will receive priority in the sale. Bids on those properties not sold first to Homeowner-Occupants will then be opened for investors. It is extremely important that the bid envelopes be clearly marked "Homeowner-Occupant" or "Investor".
All offers must be submitted on the "Offer to Purchase and Brokers Tender" (Form 9551) THE OUTSIDE OF THE ENVELOPE MUST HAVE THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION:

1. "Homeowner-Occupant" or "Investor".
2. Date of Bid Opening.
3. Property Address-Zip Code.
4. Case Number

On ALL Homeowner-Purchaser offers, the following certification MUST be written on the back of the offer to Purchase (Form 9551) and signed by the Homeowner-Purchaser: "I CERTIFY THAT I AM PURCHASING THIS PROPERTY AS A HOMEOWNER-OCCUPANT." FAILURE TO SHOW CERTIFICATION WILL REQUIRE THAT THE OFFER BE TREATED AS AN INVESTOR-PURCHASER REGARDLESS OF HOW THE BID ENVELOPE IS MARKED. The government will hold a sealed bid sale on the properties listed below. Bids are to be opened April 13, 1976, 9 A.M. at 3660 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Cal. Room 1245. OFFERS MUST BE SUBMITTED TO ROOM 414, 3660 WILSHIRE BLVD., LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA. NO OFFERS WILL BE ACCEPTED AFTER 4:30 P.M., APRIL 12, 1976. The property disposition branch will no longer accept back-up offers. All guaranteed properties must close within sixty (60) days if the sale falls through. HUD will relist the property HUD reserves the right to withdraw any or all of the properties in this listing without notice, prior to the close of escrow. Damages for failure of performance would be extremely difficult to determine in the event buyer fails to comply with all terms of the accepted offer. It is for this reason mutually understood and agreed that HUD shall retain the successful bidders deposit as liquidated damages and as HUD sole remedy against fire. However, if the sale is rejected by HUD the deposit will be refunded. No one is to enter upon the property for the purpose of rehabilitation or repair until escrow is closed and deed is recorded.

FAMILY RESIDENCES GUARANTEED

HUD guarantees that these houses are eligible for HUD/FHA loans. Check with your Real Estate Broker for details. All homes in the category are in repaired condition. Each home carries a one year warranty against structural defects or defects in heating, central cooling (if so equipped,) plumbing, and electrical systems. Any appliances which are included in the sale price such as range, refrigerator, window type air conditioner, ventilating fan, laundry washer, dryer, dishwasher and waste disposer are warranted against operating defects for a period of 15 days after sale closing. All escrows are handled and paid for by HUD. You incur no closing expense. You pay only down payment, prorations and impounds. ALL BROKERS TO SUBMIT THE HIGH BID HAVE ONE (1) HUD WORKING DAY FROM NOTIFICATION TO DELIVER SALES CONTRACT 9548 AND EARNEST MONEY DEPOSIT TO HUD. CHECKS MUST NOT BE SUBMITTED WITH SEALED BIDS. IN ADDITION, THE PORTION OF THE BID IN EXCESS OF THE MAXIMUM MORTGAGE AMOUNTS HAVE BEEN OBTAIN LIMITED. THOSE PORTIONS OF THE TOTAL BID WHICH ARE IN EXCESS OF THE MAXIMUM MORTGAGE REQUIRED AS DOWN PAYMENTS DEPOSITS WILL BE IN THE FORM OF A CASHIERS CHECK, PAYABLE TO HUD. PURCHASE OFFERS ACCEPTED SHALL BE SUBJECT TO THE PROSPECTIVE PURCHASER MEETING APPROVED CREDIT CRITERIA. Any sales contract submitted without attachments will be returned.

"HUD Properties are offered for sale to qualified purchasers without regard to the prospective purchasers' race, religion, age, sex or national origin."

Use guidelines when choosing contractor

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

That timely reminder comes from Peter Johnson of Hackensack, N.J., president-elect of the National Home Remodelers Assn. which has just had its first consumer show in 43 years.

"There are good guys and bad guys in the business. People should learn how to sort them out," Johnson said.

In addition to the itinerant contractors cruising about neighborhoods looking for prospects, one must be alert also to choosing the right contractor from those called to estimate on a job.

"Lots of gimmicks are used. A contractor may suggest that if you hire him to put siding on your house, he will pay you a good fee for other business he picks up in your neighborhood. The model-house ploy.

"And there are fear tactics — your roof is about to collapse. Or maybe it is your chimney that will fall down. Or perhaps your furnace will blow up — unless you do something about it right away."

Many fraudulent representatives may be spotted by out-of-state license plates on their cars, he says. Or your suspicions might be aroused when he quickly knocks $1,000 off his top-of-the-head $5,000 appraisal of a job. Or he may even produce a fake card that introduces him as vice-president of a big building materials company.

When contracting with anyone to do a good-sized job, be sure to check him out, Johnson cautions. For example:

... The entire agreement should be put in writing. And you should plan to take the hour or so it might take to read even the fine print.

... If it is a sizeable job, make sure he will use an architect, even if he doesn't have one on his own staff.

.. He should have adequate insurance — property damage, liability and workmen's compensation. If the job will cost more than $2,000 ask for references — his banks and the companies he has done business with.

... How many years has he been in business under the same corporate name? If a long-time operator he will honor his guarantees, but if he has changed the name of his company many times, beware.

... Even if he is just building a porch, don't settle for a mere mention of dimensions in the contract. Get all the specifications. What kind of materials will be used? If a room is being added ask even about the molding. Dentil? Cove? If you don't know what they are, ask to see a sample.

... There should be a cleanup clause in the contract. You don't want to be stuck with a pile of junk. The contract should specify the area will be broom-swept at least, and the debris removed from the premises.

... Make sure the contract states who will pay for the permit necessary to do the job. Some permits run as high as $200.

... Starting and completion dates should be incorporated into the contract. Weather, deliveries and other things can delay a project, but at least you will have something to work with. Contractors may need some grace period if they have been hampered by things beyond their control. But the job shouldn't lag. Some contractors take on a lot of jobs figuring they will fit them in when they get around to it.

Brighter future seen for loans

The president of the California Association of Realtors believes a resourceful homebuyer with a good credit rating should find it a "bit smoother" in obtaining a mortgage loan.

"Whether a family is bent on buying a new or an existing home, some fresh statistics indicate that interest rates on loans are declining slightly," said Ira Gribin of Sherman Oaks.

"This decline should result in more people buying homes since money is available."

Gribin pointed to his own area in the San Fernando Valley where building permits were the highest for any January or February on record. The Realtor leader said he believes figures in the San Fernando Valley are a barometer for other parts of the state.

The president stated that the San Fernando Valley Board of Realtors' multiple listing service for February showed sales totaling $77,126,000 — about $10,000,000 more than the previous month and nearly $46,000,000 higher than the same period one year ago. Sales for last month (February) hit 1,446, according to board figures, up about 100 from January but double sales of one year ago.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported interest rates on mortgage loans for both new and existing homes declined in February. Gribin said he noted a prediction by Advance Mortgage Corp., a subsidiary of Citicorp, that mortgages are expected to cost less in the months ahead.

"Interest rates on loans for new and existing homes in California declined to between 8¾ and 9 per cent in February," Gribin stated. "This is a drop of between one-quarter and one-half percent from January rates."

The CAR president said one of the main reasons for declines in mortgage interest rates is that savings flows into thrift institutions may be at the highest in recent years. "The available mortgage money could exceed fundable properties by a wide gap," he said.

"Interest rates have fallen slowly in recent months but waiting for them to drop even lower may prove to be a mistake," he stated.

Real estate

Realtors assigned to groups

Two area Realtors have been assigned to committees on the National Association of Realtors.

Philip C. Smaby, national president, said some 1,100 members were selected to the 38 committees which help guide the association.

The association has about 500,000 members. The headquarters is in Chicago, Ill., and it serves 1,700 local boards and state associations in 50 states, District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Agency is selected at Pointe

The firm of Walker and Lee has been appointed exclusive sales agent for the North Point residential development in Upland.

The selection was announced by Roni Armstrong, marketing director for the builder, Armstrong Development Corp.

The real estate agency has served Southern California for 30 years. Gene Comer, account manager, will supervise the sales.

North Pointe is developed in two separate tracts. One is located on 20th Street near San Antonio Avenue and the second on 22nd Street near San Antonio Avenue.

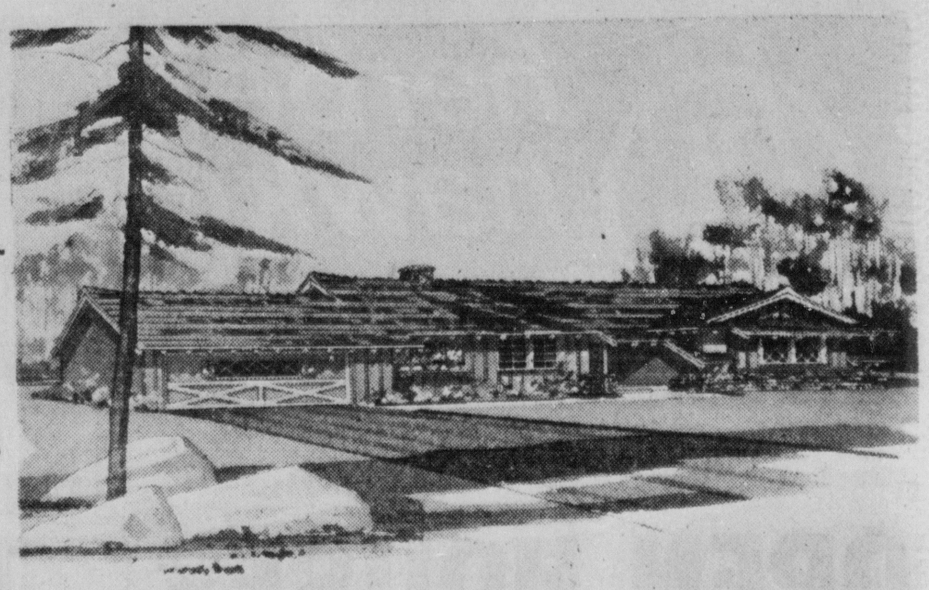
Buyers may choose from homes with three and four bedrooms, six floor plans and 18 exteriors.

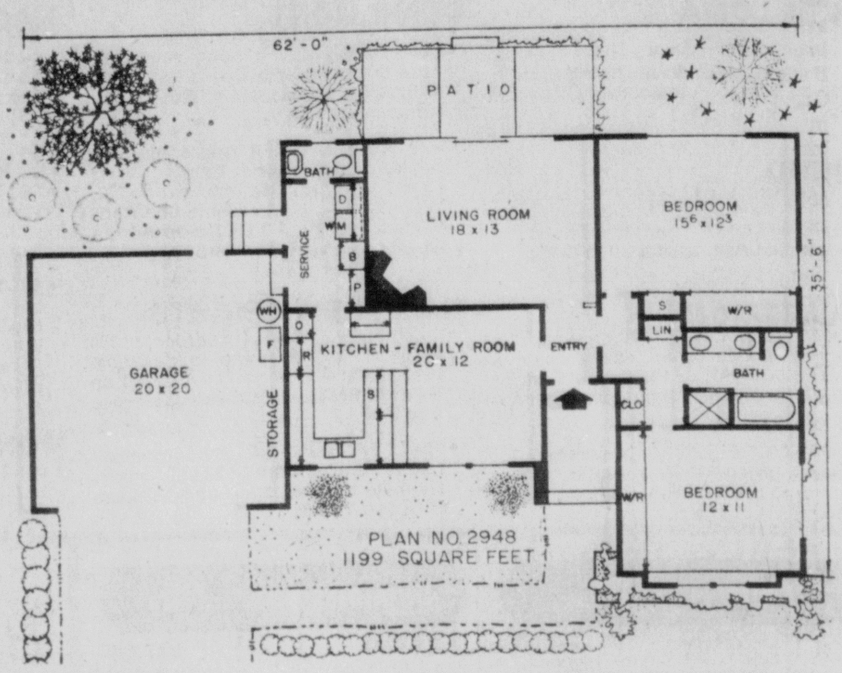
The homes are priced from $57,300 to $60,300 at the 20th Street site and from $67,800 to $69,800 on 22nd Street. Persons wanting sales information may phone 981-2614 or 982-0247.

Preacher fined for shoplifting

BRISTOL, England (AP) — The Rev. William Victor Welch was fined $200 for shoplifting phonograph records. He pleaded guilty.

Prosecutor William White told the court the 48-year-old Baptist preacher used a collection box with secret compartments and two slots, one for albums of records and one for singles. He got the idea while "pottering about in his garden shed," the prosecutor said.





Home plan shows a recessed porch

By HIAWATHA ESTES

An atmosphere of appealing warmth and charm has been achieved in the design of this exterior. The house seems to literally hug the ground.

The used brick veneer and planter complement the wood siding and roof. The appearance of the exterior is further enhanced by the bay window and the extension of the roof along each side of the front wall of the bedroom.

The porch, which is both roofed and recessed, protects your guests from the elements. There is direct access from the entry to all areas of the house.

The main bath features a twin lavatory, semi-private water closet compartment and a separate shower and tub. If preferred, the shower could be located over the tub and the present shower turned into a closet opening to the hall.

The kitchen has been planned so that traffic to and from the rear door will not interfere with any kitchen work. Cabinets — including an eating bar — separate the kitchen and family room.

By locating the water heater and furnace in the garage, there is less chance that possible damage might result if either of the units malfunction. They are also easier to service and most of the noises they generate are eliminated from the home.

Complete working drawings for plan 2948 can be purchased for $13.73 for the first set and $8.48 for each additional set ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these special prices until July 21. Please allow at least three weeks for delivery. Also available are six home plan books illustrating in excess of 850 plans — a $10.34 value — for only $8.22 plus 60 cents for postage and handling. Prices include sales tax. Send all orders to: Hiawatha Estes, P.O. Box 404-PO, Northridge, California 91324.

Interest rate cut is hailed

Reduction of the FHA-VA interest rates to 8.5 per cent is welcome and recognizes the realities of the mortgage market, said John C. Hart, president of the National Association of Home Builders.

"Interest rates in the conventional, non-government backed market, have been slowly falling for some time," he added. "Savings flow into thrift institutions have been at an all-time high and now are running about 50 per cent above the record levels of last year."

With these huge amounts of savings available for mortgage lending, the climate for purchase of homes by the average family is more favorable now than in more than two years, said Hart.

"The dropping of the FHA-VA interest rate by one-fourth per cent will qualify a family making $750 less annual income to purchase an average home."

Young adults

The number of young adults — those between 25 and 34 — is growing rapidly, The Conference Board finds. This age group grew five times faster than the total population during the last five years and will continue to expand rapidly during the next five years.

Woman fits designs to customers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

She is not a cookie cutter interior designer. When Barbara Greene's designs can be recognized in magazines, she knows she "will have stopped doing creative things."

A vivacious, petite, brown-eyed blonde in her mid-30s, she had just learned that she had won first prize — residential category — in the prestigious S.M. Hexter 18th annual awards contest which aims to further good design. Bubbling over, Mrs. Greene was explaining her mode of operation, a different point of view.

"The professional obligation of interior designers should be to expose clients to their education, training and experience. They shouldn't be identified with a style or a blue phase or whatever. They should act as problem solvers. To salvage existing but unusable space has become an ever increasing need."

Her winning room — a living room that is a large "well" of a total (upstairs) apartment — is a basement that had been a bakery. It gave her plenty of latitude in proving her point. Her clients wanted the underground space turned into cocoon-like coziness.

"My emphasis is on total design, not objects. The days of interior designers tastefully assembling beautiful objects in a room are over That is no longer their role," she says.

"People have better taste now and can assemble objects if they want them. But people anyway are getting away from possessions as mere objects of beauty to be looked at. They are much more interested in comfort and they don't want to be worried about destroying things of value or covering everything with plastic to protect it."

In this living room her answer was to cover plywood platforms with brown carpet and set them at 10 and 20-inch levels in four areas for dining, lounging, eating. Cushioned, some have pillow backrests for low-cost seating. Two walls are painted glossy brown to match the brown carpet. White painted walls continue to rooms above, the main part of the apartment.

People want to sit, lounge, play, eat and entertain in comfort. Functional considerations have become as important as aesthetic preferences, she maintains.

"I find out how people function, and then I take into consideration the architectural limitations and advantages, their likes and dislikes — color, pottery, whatever. I don't impose my style or preferences on a client.

Working without windows and with a wall that had two doors, one leading to a laundry-storage room that is shared by other apartment dwellers, and another door that leads to a bathroom that some day would be remodeled, were among the problems.

She installed a partition to conceal the doors and it provides, as well, a backrest for the pillows used with platform seating. It also houses the television and stereo turntable.

Platforms also become storage bins and the wall that encloses the stairs provides an area for deep closet storage and open book shelves. Mirrored surfaces on storage-bookshelf walls give an illusion of depth. Ditto the great painting used at the end of the room.

"I like to be paid as a well-educated professional designer who can solve problems. I am not a furniture vendor. If clients want to order the furnishings themselves, fine. It is a headache I like to get rid of. But even if I order for them, I give them the wholesale price, plus the cost of processing the order for them."

In that way she differs from her designer friends who do not approve of her different way of working, she insists. Most designers make money on the mark-up of furnishings.

"Some people have become afraid to tell how much they can afford when they want to decorate, but I tell them if I know their limit, we can make compromises," she says.

A budget of $5,000 covered the cost of construction, furniture, fabrics, floor and wall coverings and the design fee for her winning room.

Mrs. Greene lives in Greenwich, Conn., with her husband and 2-year-old son. She had left Portland, Ore., to attend Parsons School of Design in New York, where she became known for her talents even as a student. Graduating in 1967, she started a firm with two partners, but now is sole owner. She has done "every kind of home" from the rustic, totally casual house with natural materials to the slick, urban, sophisticated apartment.

One of scores of entries in the awards program, hers was typical of the better quality that was observed in candidates from all 50 states, said Thomas Felber, president of S.M. Hexter.

"The decorating mood is changing even though tastes are geographical. People are developing homes and living areas that work for their own lifestyle. Individual influence is more important than at any time in the past," he said.

ILLUSIONS OF DANCING — Silhouetted against the sky, these construction workers at San Jose Sate University appear to be dancing. They are putting tile on home economics building.

Private property week observed locally

The Pomona Valley Board of Realtors will join state and national associations April 18-24 in observing the constitutional rights of Americans to own real property.

The theme for the observance, previously called Realtor Week, is "The Land-An Investment for All Times."

The observance name was changed to expand the concept and put more emphasis on the role of the Realtor in public service.

Mark Warren, local board president, said "open house" will be held at the realty board office at 665 N. Garey Ave. and at several member firms.

In addition, the California Association of Realtors' 26th District will hold a luncheon April 20 at the Pomona National Golf Club and the Pomona board will host its annual sales conference April 23 at Griswold's Restaurant in Claremont.

Warren invited persons interested in real estate to visit the board office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. during the special week. Ella Ruby, executive officer, and members of her staff will answer questions and serve refreshments.

PREVIEW OPENING

From the shakes on the roof to the carpets on the floor, these are quality homes. Built for people who want and expect more in a house than just bare minimums. Built for people who know what "pride of ownership" really is. And want it.

There's quality where you can see it. Like the heavy shake roofs, better quality carpeting, Ash kitchen cabinets, better hardware, better lighting fixtures, silent electrical switches and more.

There's also quality where you can't readily see it, but where it counts just as much...maybe more. In the construction, the design and the planning. Like our cul-de-sac street design. It makes for a quieter, safer and prettier neighborhood.

If you've been out looking for a new home and just haven't been satisfied with what you've seen, visit Walnut View. We built these homes for people who know what they want. QUALITY!

Property costs may soon catch area 'prestige'

"One doesn't need a crystal ball to sense Alta Loma's rising emergence as a mecca for fashionable residences comparable to its neighboring Upland."

So observed Randall W. Lewis, vice president of Lewis Homes. "The only thing in which Alta Loma has not yet caught up with adjacent prestige centers is its land costs.

"But watch for that to happen quickly," he warned. "The situation provides a unique opportunity for today's home buyer who wants to pick up a couple thousand dollars in savings."

He cited the new Lewis Homes — Alta Loma development as an example. The rapid rate of sales indicates that buyers in the "status-home" category are aware of the area's present and future values.

The Lewis Homes development is located near Carnelian Street and Banyan Avenue. Persons may drive to the homes by taking the San Bernardino Freeway to Vineyard Avenue and then driving north. The street name changes to Carnelian Street. Model homes are open daily for inspection.

The homes are constructed on 10,000 square foot lots, thus providing space for a swimming pool or garden. These are priced from $42,800. Buyers may select from one or two story plans.

Some homes include refrigerated air conditioning in the sales price. Some also have three car garages.

Airiines get rate increases

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Air California and Western Airlines have been granted fare increases by the state Public Utilities Commission for flights within California.

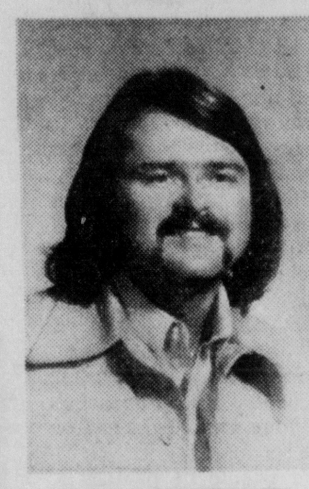
The increases approved Tuesday range from $1 to $2.12 for flights linking Orange County, San Francisco, Oakland, Palm Springs, San Jose and Sacramento.

It was not announced when the increases would take effect.

Air California fares have not increased since April 1974 and the airline said it needed added revenues to offset increased costs.

The PUC said Western was allowed the rate hikes to remain even with Air California on the routes both airlines serve.

OPAL MESSENGER



CHAS. CANFIELD JR.

Why prices going up

Ever wonder why the price of a new home seems to be going through the roof? It's inflation.

In the last five years, reports a leading trade magazine, the cost of financing has soared 148 percent, land costs have jumped 62 percent, labor costs 39 percent and materials 36 percent.

Sales awards given

They are Charles Canfield Jr., who recently opened a Century 21 realty office in Pomona, and Opal Messenger, associated with Metropolitan Real Estate.

Canfield received a plaque for the greatest number of listings sold. He has been involved in real estate since 1971 and presently serves as a director for the Pomona board. He is also a state director with the California Association of Realtors.

Mrs. Messenger received her plaque for having the greatest number of sales. She and her husband, Harry, serve as a "working team" in real estate.

Mrs. Messenger has seven children and 13 grand children.

Handicapped

The U.S. Census of 1970 shows there were about 11,710,139 disabled or handicapped persons between the age of 16 and 64 years in the United States.

Tax laws needed to aid home building

The National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) is opposed to any changes in the federal income tax laws that would discourage home ownership or impede the flow of capital into construction of rental housing units.

NAHB President John C. Hart of Indianapolis, Ind., reported in testimony before a Senate finance committee that multifamily production fell to 268,300 starts last year, the lowest level since 1958. And there still hasn't been any signs of an upturn, he added.

"The national rental vacancy rate declined to 5.4 per cent in the fourth quarter of 1975 and appears to be heading even lower, at the very time when a lot of young people are forming families and requiring rental units," Hart said.

"This is not the time to tinker with provisions of the tax laws which are designed to encourage the construction of multifamily housing."

Hart opposed several provisions of the House-approved "Tax Reform Act of 1975," including the Limitation on Artificial Losses (LAL) provision. The legislation would prevent real estate investors from taking so-called artificial accounting losses — accelerated depreciation and interest and taxes paid during construction — from real estate and using them to offset income from sources other than real estate.

Without these tax incentives, investors would abandon housing in favor of other types of investments with a higher return and less risk, Hart said.

In place of the LAL provision, Hart suggested that the Senate impose a "reasonable minimum tax" to ensure that every one paid his fair share of taxes.

Hart also opposed a House approved provision that would set a $12,000 ceiling on the non-business interest deduction that an individual could claim in any taxable year.

Hart urged the committee to consider a number of other tax incentives that would encourage more investment in housing and help prevent the tight money cycles which have precipitated every housing recession since World War II.

During the 1974-75 cycle, home mortgage rates were at 10 per cent, multifamily rates were above 11 per cent and construction financing rates were above 15 per cent, Hart said. "Many builders went bankrupt and most people, whether buyers or renters, found themselves priced out of the new housing market. Something must be done to prevent the recurrence of such a situation."

To increase the flow of money into the residential mortgage market, Hart proposed the following three-point plan:

— Enactment of a mortgage interest tax credit to encourage commercial banks and life insurance companies to invest a greater percentage of their assets in home mortgages and to make "it attractive for thrift institutions to remain substantially invested in housing."

— Legislation to require large pension funds to invest 20% of their assets in residential mortgage or related residential debt by 1985 in order to maintain their tax exempt status.

Northrup gets Swiss plane pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Northrop Corp. says it will produce 72 F5E and F5F tactical fighter airplanes for Switzerland as part of a $450 million package that also includes spare parts and ground equipment.

The company said Tuesday the agreement was made in a contract through the U. S. government.

Delivery of the planes is to begin in early 1978, the company said in a statement.

The jets are to be built at Northrop's Hawthorne and Palmdale plants with final assembly of some planes to be done in Switzerland, the company said.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — When scalding tomatoes or peaches or blanching corn I place the vegetables in my deep-fry basket and drop it in the boiling water. They are then easily and safely lifted out of the hot water. — MARGARET.

DEAR POLLY — I find it easier and the thread seems to tangle less if I thread a needle with the thread end that comes off the spool first. —MRS.E.G. (Polly's note-I thread the needle before I break the thread off the spool.)

DEAR POLLY — I live alone. When I bought cheese in small amounts I had trouble keeping it fresh until I found that a cloth dampened in vinegar and kept moist keeps the cheese fresh for quite a time. —GERTRUDE. (Polly's note-When any cheese does get dry, grate it to use as topping on casseroles, to make melted cheese sandwiches and so on).

DEAR POLLY — My Dad has to wear white socks because of a foot condition but when he dresses in certain clothes he puts a pair of dark socks over the white ones so as to appear better dressed. —RICHARD.

DEAR POLLY — My wife shortened some draperies and, having taken them down twice for measuring and for hemming, I did not take too kindly to the idea of taking them down again for a steam pressing. I suggested putting the adjustable ironing board table next to the window. The hems were laid on the ironing board and steamed right there. — ED.

DEAR POLLY — I must take a number of pills each day. I bought a small metal recipe box to match the decor of my bathroom, put all the bottles of pills in it. I keep it on the counter. Now they are all in one convenient, space-saving spot. I also wrote on the top of each bottle the dosage. — PAT.

DEAR POLLY -- I made a fake fur jacket and when it was finished I took a nylon toothbrush and gently brushed the seams in different directions. This brushed out the fur ends that were caught between the stitches and the seams blended in with the rest of the fur. —MRS.O.J.W.

DEAR POLLY — When the drainage tube in my frost-free refrigerator plugs up I push a long pipe cleaner slowly down the tube and then pull it nearly all the way out again. I repeat this about six times and then pour some water in the defrost through the drainage tube. This washes any chunks of goop on down into the drip pan. — FRANCES.

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

"HOW IS PAPER MADE?"

MOST PAPER IS MADE FROM THE WOOD OF TREES. TO TURN TREES INTO PAPER, THE WOOD IS CHOPPED INTO TINY CHIPS. THE CHIPS ARE BOILED WITH CHEMICALS UNTIL THE WOOD TURNS INTO A SOGGY MUSH. THE WATERY PULP IS THEN SPREAD ONTO A FLAT SCREEN, WHERE IT FORMS A WET SHEET. LARGE ROLLERS THEN SQUEEZE OUT THE WATER AND PRESS THE MUSHY PULP INTO A FLAT SHEET. WHEN THE SHEET DRIES, IT BECOMES PAPER. BETTER QUALITY PAPER IS MADE FROM A PULP MIXTURE OF WOOD AND CLOTH.

Learn Nature's Weight Loss Secret Of Glandular Control

How to Command your Pituitary Gland to order up to 756 times its own weight in fat to leave your body every single day

Robert Ridgefield, discoverer of Nature's Weight Loss Secret, points to the gland that will make you thin. Your pituitary gland, weighing a mere 1/60th of an ounce, can command up to one pound of fat (756 x 1/60th of an ounce = one lb.) to leave your body every single day. Since all of us have a pituitary gland, everyone—5 lbs. or 105 lbs. overweight can learn nature's weight loss secret of glandular control. The article below will explain how you can reap the benefits of this amazing scientific breakthrough by losing as much as 14 lbs. in two weeks.

By Joan Woodward

Use your head! Millions of overweight Americans could have slimmed down a long time ago by doing just that. For years, people with weight problems have desperately searched for ways to shed pounds. Ironically, even as they frantically searched, they were carrying the perfect weight loss secret right in their own head – their Pituitary Gland.

Allow me to explain. By learning Nature's Weight Loss Secret of Glandular Control, you can command your pituitary gland (nature's built-in fat evacuator) to order up to 1 pound of fat to leave your body every day. You'll continue to shed pounds until you reach your ideal weight – and then stay fat free forever. This weight loss secret works for everyone, whether 5 lbs. or 105 lbs. overweight.

But, best of all, you lose weight while eating the foods you love. In fact, you must eat to lose weight. That's the key to this weight loss secret.

As a reporter for the newsletter "Total Fitness Today", my job is to check out weight loss plans being developed across the country. Since I have a weight problem, I take a special interest in these assignments. When I heard about this revolutionary new weight loss secret, I decided to investigate.

I set up an appointment with Robert Ridgefield, the discoverer of Nature's Weight Loss Secret of Glandular Control. I started with tough questions.

HOW DOES THE SECRET WORK?

Q. How does the secret work?

A. The secret works by making food your ally instead of your enemy. There are two types of food in everyone's daily diet – 'triggers' and 'blockers'. By eating 'trigger' foods, you trigger or turn on your Pituitary Gland (nature's built-in fat evacuator). Once triggered, your Pituitary Gland secretes a fat evacuating chemical fluid. This fluid is transported throughout your body and transforms your body from a fat producing machine to a fat evacuating system. Your Pituitary Gland will work safely and naturally to evacuate fat 24 hours a day – even while you sleep.

Q. If these 'trigger' foods are in everyone's diet, why isn't my Pituitary Gland evacuating fat?

A. Unfortunately, even if your diet consists of 95% 'trigger' foods, it only takes 5% 'blocker' foods to prevent your Pituitary Gland from evacuating fat.

Q. How can I trigger my Pituitary Gland?

A. Not by willpower, not by concentration, not with exercise, but by eating. Only by eating 'trigger' foods and avoiding 'blocker' foods can you trigger your Pituitary Gland to evacuate fat. Remember, the Weight Loss Secret is a nutrition plan, not a diet.

Q. What are these 'trigger' foods, and how much can I eat?

A. These 'trigger' foods are the every day foods you love: juicy sirloin steaks, hearty helpings of beef stroganoff, spicy ham, double cheeseburgers, meatloaf, barbecued chicken, omelets, vegetables; like broccoli smothered with hollandaise sauce, cantaloupes, fruit cocktails – even desserts like strawberries with whipped cream, pumpkin pie, chocolate pudding, ice cream, and your favorite wines, liquors–even beer! You need not drastically alter your eating habits to get rid of the 'blocker' foods, because they don't make up that big a part of your diet.

WHY DOES THE SECRET WORK?

Q. You've told me how it works, but all weight loss methods look good on paper – they just don't work in real life. Why is this one different?

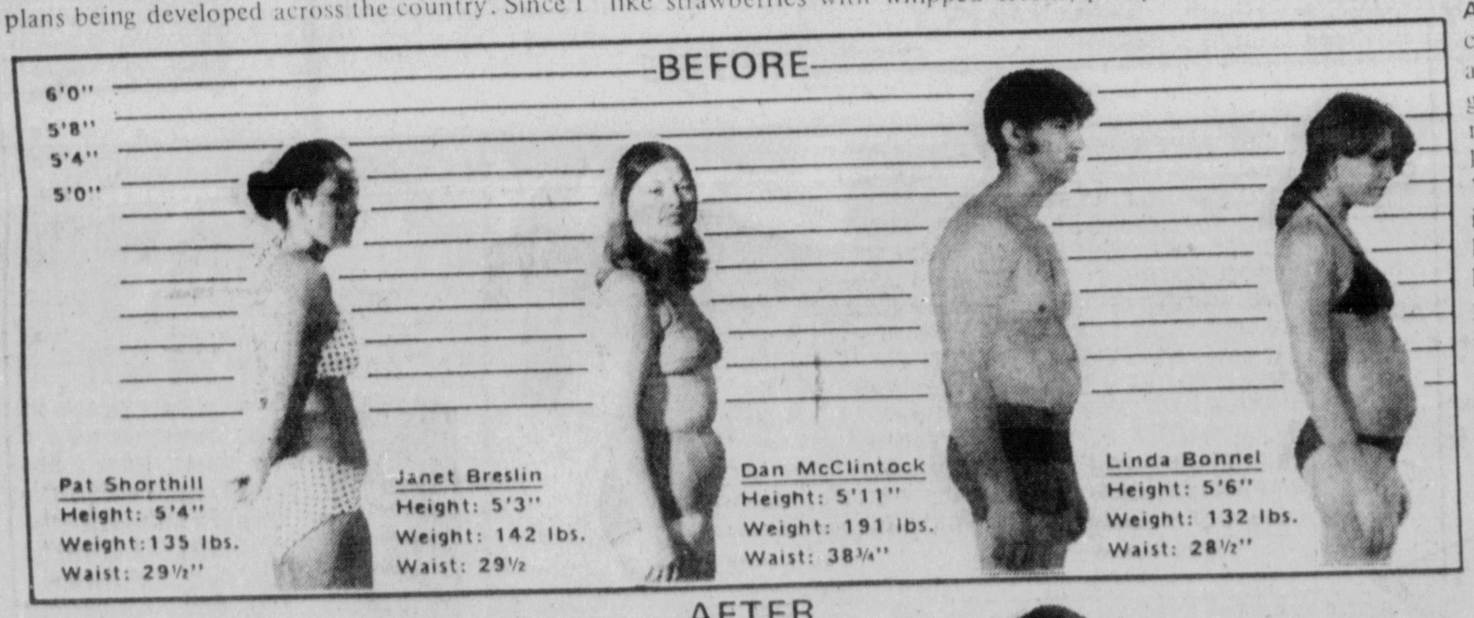
A. In order to understand why the secret works, you must first know why other methods fail. They fail for two reasons. First, other methods work against human nature, and therefore are doomed to failure from the start. People with weight problems obviously love to eat. Starvation is sheer torture. No one in their right mind is going to torture themselves for very long. Strenuous exercise is difficult, worklike, and boring. Diet pills leave you weak, nervous and prone to illness. Second, with most methods, the results, if any, come too slowly. So most people lose hope and quit.

Q. You're right about why they fail. I know, because I've tried them all, without success. But, why does glandular control work?

A. Again, two reasons. As I said, people are overweight because they love to eat. With Nature's Weight Loss Secret of Glandular Control, you must eat to lose weight. Therefore, overweight people will use it. It's as simple as that. The Weight Loss Secret has none of the drawbacks of other methods. There's no starvation, no willpower, no boring exercises, no health ruining diet pills, no weird fad dieting. It doesn't leave you weak and nervous. In fact, it makes you feel healthier and more vibrant than before.

Q. You said there are two reasons why this secret works. What's the second reason?

A. Nature's Weight Loss Secret of Glandular Control always succeeds because it gives fast, steady and permanent results. You start losing weight the first day. You can lose up to 14 lbs. in two weeks. With these kind of results, rather than losing hope and quitting, you will be encouraged to continue and lose even more. You will reach your ideal weight and be fat free forever.



WHAT WILL THE SECRET DO FOR YOU?

By learning Nature's Weight Loss Secret of Glandular Control, you will:

- Lose all the weight you want, as much as a pound a day, while eating the food you love.
- Lose inches off your waist, hips, thighs, and banish ugly cellulite bumps.
- Never go hungry.
- Increase your energy and vitality.
- Look and feel younger.

After I lost my weight, my boss, Timothy Voros, the Chairman of the Board of Consumer Publishing, decided to try the secret. He lost 22 lbs. in 22 days. He was so impressed, he grabbed up the exclusive world wide rights to this revolutionary new weight loss secret. He then commissioned Mr. Ridgefield to author the text and ordered a small press run to be printed. This book is not available in any bookstore anywhere in the world. But, you can learn the secret right now by ordering the book direct by mail.

"You can lose all the weight you want, quickly, and keep it off permanently while eating the foods you love."

Q. One last question. You call the Pituitary Gland nature's built-in fat evacuator. Why is that?

A. The Pituitary Gland was evolved by nature as a survival mechanism to keep man slim and fit. Just as your heart pumps blood, your lungs breathe the air, your Pituitary Gland evacuates fat. Because it's natural, it's 100% safe.

At the end of our conversation, I asked Mr. Ridgefield if I could talk with people who had successfully used the secret. He did better. He introduced me to four people who were going to start the weight loss secret the following Monday, and asked me if I would like to join them.

I took a before picture of Pat, Janet, Dan and Linda. I then followed their progress every day and had an after picture taken. As you can see from the photos, their results were amazing. But, they weren't the only ones to achieve results.

I lost 4 inches off my waist, 3 inches off my thighs and 14 lbs. in 14 days. My whole life has changed. My clothes fit great. I look and feel younger. I've found new self-confidence. But best of all, my love life has improved. The Weight Loss Secret can do the same thing for you.

HOW CAN YOU LEARN THE SECRET?

If you wish to learn Nature's Weight Loss Secret of Glandular Control, simply do this: Write "Weight Loss Secret" and your name and address on a piece of paper and send it along with $6.95 in cash, check or money order. (Make checks payable to Consumer Publishing.) If you have Master Charge, BankAmericard, or American Express, you may charge your purchase by sending the following information: A. name of card B. credit card number C. card expiration date

Mail your order to: CONSUMER PUBLISHING, 401 Market Ave., N., Dept. G-552, Canton, Ohio 44702.

Mr. Voros is personally backing this book with a 100% no risk guarantee. After following the weight loss secret, you must lose all the weight you want, while eating the foods you love. You must feel healthier, happier and look 10 years younger. If this does not happen, or if you are dissatisfied in any way, just send your book back. You'll receive every penny of your money back – no questions asked.

Remember, only a small press run of Nature's Weight Loss Secret of Glandular Control has been printed. To make sure that you get your copy, why not order right now, while you're thinking about it. If you have any questions, feel free to call me, Joan Woodward, at (216) 455–1474

Timothy Bottoms (top), Keith Michell & Susan Hampshire (bottom left), Anthony Quayle, Barry Morse and Jane Seymour star in "The Story of David," a special ABC Theatre dramatization of the Biblical epic of battles, betrayals, politics and passions. The program, filmed in Israel, will encompass four hours of primetime programming on ABC, Friday from 9 to 11PM, and Sunday (April 11) from 9 to 11PM. Timothy Bottoms ("The Last Picture Show," and "The Paper Chase"), portrays David as a young man and warrior. Keith Michell, the distinguished British actor who starred in "The Six Wives of Henry the VIII," is seen as David the King. Anthony Quayle portrays King Saul, David's predecessor as ruler of Israel and his adversary.

CLOSE-UP

'CRUCIAL MEETING'

"I've had a fondness for Harry Truman for a long time. I've read about him over the years, including the book, 'Plain Speaking,' and I've listened to some tapes of him speaking. After Watergate, it's been refreshing," said Ed Flanders. Flanders, a dark-haired actor, portrays the silver-haired President Harry Truman in "Truman at Potsdam," the Hallmark Hall of Fame Bicentennial Special drama on NBC, Thursday from 8 to 9:30PM.

The special, based on the recently published non-fiction book, "Meeting at Potsdam," dramatizes the crucial meeting Truman had with England's Winston Churchill and Russia's Josef Stalin in Potsdam, Germany, during July, 1945—a conference which was to shape the future of post-war Europe.

John Houseman, the Academy Award-winning performer (Best Supporting Actor, "The Paper Chase," 1973) who is also noted as a director, producer and writer, portrays Churchill. Stalin is played by Jose Ferrer, also an Academy Award winner (Best Actor, "Cyrano de Bergerac," 1950). The cast includes two more veteran performers: Alexander Knox as Secretary of War Henry L. Stinson, and Barry Morse as Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

The drama, produced by David Susskind, directed by George Schaefer and adapted from the Charles L. Mee Jr. book by Sidney Carroll, was taped in Germany—in Hamburg, though, not Potsdam, because of the availability of technical facilities.

Exterior scenes were prepared in areas of Hamburg which look much like the areas of Potsdam where history was made in 1945. The house used by Truman in Potsdam was represented by a vintage building in Hamburg which was the former Prussian Embassy to the free city of Hamburg. Many of the props used in the special were authentic. The cars for the chiefs of state were in reality vehicles built in the early 1940s—a Cadillac for Truman, a Bentley for Churchill and a Mercedes for Stalin. Also, old cameras were used by actors posing as newspaper and newsreel photographers covering the 1945 meeting at Potsdam.

In researching his role as Stalin, Ferrer asked to see film footage of the dictator but was able to view only a small piece of film in which Stalin was seen taking a few steps. Said Ferrer: "Our end of the world only knows Stalin's hairline and mustache, not his walk or his voice."

Houseman said he thought he had a certain physical resemblance to Churchill and thought his voice was somewhat like that of Churchill. Said Houseman: "I had jokingly imitated his voice at times but I had never thought of actually portraying him."

Flanders said his search for knowledge about Truman in general and Truman's actions at Potsdam in particular made the actor appreciate the political acts of the President more than ever. Said Flanders: "Potsdam was a big chess game and Truman handled himself beautifully. For him, democracy was right. Truman was a champ."

The extensive make-up necessary for "Truman at Potsdam" was created by Dick Smith, one of the acclaimed pioneers in his field. The most work—even involving dental additions—centered on Flanders.

Said Smith: "Houseman was right, physically, for his role as Churchill. Ferrer needed only a mustache and a hairpiece to make his hairline similar to that of Stalin's. But for Flanders, we had to reshape his face with the use of foam rubber, liquid latex and lots of work.

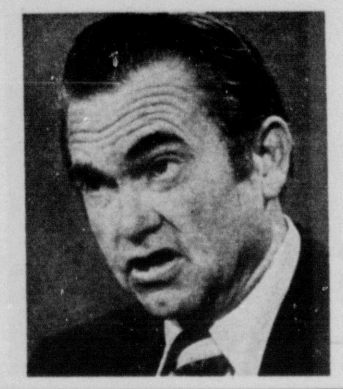
Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.



FOR GOV. GEORGE C. WALLACE

When I visited your Capitol building, there were Confederate and state flags flying, but no Stars and Stripes. Why?—J. A. Anselmo, Hayward, Calif.

● Our state law that the Alabama flag should fly over the Capitol while Representatives are legislating on behalf of the people of Alabama has always been strictly observed. At such times, the U.S. flag has always flown. The Confederate flag flies beneath our state flag because the Capitol building was in the first capital of the Confederacy.

FOR SUSAN SARANDON, star of "Dragonfly"

Has your opinion of movie stars changed since you became one?—R.P., San Antonio, Tex.

● I was never in awe of them, but it was a relief to know they're human, too. Performers come in two categories—stars and those who want to be. The only bad experience I had was with Sophia Loren (on the set of the movie "Lady Liberty"). She was most unpleasant, for no reason. As the star, she should not have been threatened by me. I was distressed and puzzled. Up till then, I had found that the bigger the star, the nicer.

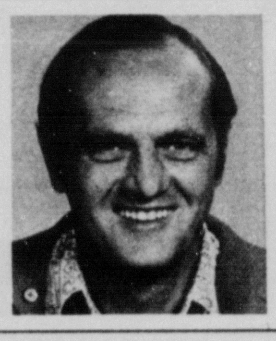
Why do some people feel guilty when they have a good time?—S.S., Asbury, N.J.

● Society and a puritanical upbringing. When we were children, we were told: "The devil finds work for idle hands," and we were convinced that if we weren't productively engaged, we were doing something wrong. We felt it was a sin to enjoy ourselves. If you ever feel this way, you may be able to overcome the guilt by telling yourself that deprivation is a form of sinning, too.

FOR BOB NEWHART

Since you play a psychologist, I'm wondering if you've ever been psychoanalyzed?—R. M. Eddix, Providence, R.I.

● No. I find that facing a live audience does the trick.



FOR ROSE F. KENNEDY

I enjoyed your book, "Times to Remember," and I wonder if you plan to write any more?—Robert H. Rose, Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

● Not now. I work for the retarded, and I'm encouraging my grandchildren to spend some school vacation time working with the retarded in summer camps and with the Special Olympics. I hope the proceeds from my book will be donated to older, orphaned, retarded people. At the moment, it's difficult for them to find good facilities.

FOR SHEILA MACRAE

What was your funniest experience?—H.R., Joplin, Mo.

● During a performance of "Redhead" in Connecticut, the audience laughed at a serious scene. I checked out my wig, my dress and my zipper. But I couldn't figure out why they kept roaring. Finally, I found out. Clinging to the bottom of my long gown was a skunk (I had dressed in the dark and had not seen it). I shrieked, the audience laughed even harder, and the skunk sprayed. After that, of course, I was in no condition to act, and the audience was in no shape to watch.

FOR LAWRENCE WELK

Why don't we ever see you do the new dances on your show?—K.H., Hackensack, N.J.

● Because I know nothing about them. I'm a creature of habit; I like the old stuff—fox trots, waltzes, tangos, polkas. There's no point in doing something I don't believe in and know nothing about. Modern dancing doesn't make my feet tap; but when I hear and play my kind of music, I can't keep still.

FOR BILL ANDERSON, country-western singer

Did your parents approve of your career?—B.I., Ogden, Utah

● They didn't encourage or discourage me. At first they were just amused. I remember Mom telling a friend, "He could have picked out something much worse, like stealing hubcaps." They kept hoping I'd get a "proper" job. (I think they still do.) Dad's advice was, "Whatever you do, do it the best way you can. If you want to collect garbage or put out fires or go down to the mines, do it. But I want you to be the best garbage collector, fireman or miner there is."

FOR JEANE DIXON

Will the African killer bees strike the U.S.? If so, when?—Bob Harris, Clay City, Ill.

● No, I don't think so. But I do sense a real possibility of a plague spread by rats throughout the urban areas of America.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

I once heard Isaac Hayes say he was raised by his grandparents. Was he an orphan?—S.T., Hollywood, Fla.

● When Isaac was 18 months old, his mother died and his father left him and his older sister in the hands of their mother's parents, who were sharecroppers. But four years ago, Isaac Hayes Sr. finally saw the son he hadn't seen in 28 years. Isaac says the reunion was highly emotional. His father (who has a heart condition and diabetes) tried to explain why he had abandoned his son, but Isaac stopped him. He said that the past was unimportant and what they had to do was make up for lost time in the years ahead. Isaac Sr. is very proud of his talented son, and his most treasured possession is the first newspaper report about Isaac, now faded and worn. "No one believed me when I said I was your father," he reported, "but they sure will now."

What Is Medicine Finding Out Now?

By T. K. Irwin

America's "Top Doctor" Answers

John Neubauer

Dr. Cooper of H.E.W. reveals some dramatic medical breakthroughs.

Major medical advances in the past year or so have been developed to heal our ills and keep us well. This country's "top doctor," Theodore Cooper, Assistant Secretary for Health at H.E.W., puts it this way for Family Weekly: "Everything that doctors do for people now, and everything they will be doing for people, comes from research. I'm happy to say that the medical research community is very much alive and well." Here are some of the recent milestones.

ON THE HEART FRONT

An "Umbrella" Fitting: A 17-year-old girl, Suzette, had a hole in her heart, known as an atrial septal defect, which usually called for an open-heart operation. Instead, resorting to a new technique, New Orleans doctors used a catheter to thread a Dacron and stainless steel umbrellalike device to Suzette's heart to cover the hole. The hour-and-a-half procedure was the first successful attempt to mend this kind of defect without going through the open-heart surgery ordeal. Cardiac tissue is expected to grow over the device, permanently incorporating it. The new method shortens the hospital stay, doesn't require heart-lung machines, leaves fewer emotional and physical scars.

Life-Saving "Jolt": Each year at least 350,000 Americans die from cardiac fibrillation—when the heart's pumping action fails. To save such victims, an electric shock can be applied to the chest to restore normal heartbeat. But the jolt has to be given quickly. Now there's a portable seven-pound defibrillator that can be kept in a home, factory or ambulance to aid victims in the nick of time.

How can you (and your doctor) tell if there is a high risk of your ever having heart disease, besides the clues of high blood pressure, elevated cholesterol or susceptibility through a bad smoking habit? Last year, heart specialists in New York and at the Mayo Clinic produced evidence of another sign: a suspicious crease running from the lowest corner of the ear-opening diagonally down the ear lobe. Dr. Jack Sternlieb of the Mayo Clinic theorizes that the crease results from impaired blood supply to the ear. But unless you have telltale chronic chest-pain symptoms, don't worry if your ear lobes look creased.

BATTLING CANCER

Poison That Cures: Ordinarily, up to 85 percent of children with cancers of the lymph system succumb to the disease within five years. A new drug therapy developed by Dr. Isaac Djerassi, a Darby, Pa., blood specialist, achieved a 50-percent survival rate in such children, and he is trying the same treatment in adults. The treatment involves massive doses of a drug that poisons cells, which is followed by a second chemical that rescues normal cells but not cancer cells from the poison. For the lymphoma-type cancers, Dr. Djerassi says an 80-percent "cure" rate might be achieved with his therapy and other available therapies.

The two drugs also appear to improve dramatically the life expectancy of children with a highly lethal bone cancer called osteogenic sarcoma. Sen. Edward Kennedy's son, Edward Jr., whose leg was amputated because of a related bone cancer, is getting the combination drug therapy to prevent his disease from recurring.

Pion Therapy—Killer of Tumor Cells: Through a new approach known as pimeson or pion therapy, tumors may be destroyed by causing miniature atomic explosions within the cancer cells without much harm to normal tissue. Pions (a kind of nuclear glue) are about three times more effective in killing tumor cells than X-rays at a comparable radiation dose. They promise to greatly enhance the accuracy and effectiveness of radiation and to extend the usefulness of this therapeutic tool to cancers not currently treatable by other means. A pion therapy machine, however, is extremely costly and may not be readily available. Potentially, pion therapy could save the lives of about 50,000 cancer patients a year.

NEW MEDICAL TOOLS

Body Scanners — "Computer" X-Ray Wonder-Workers: "In diagnosing disease," Dr. Cooper points out, "total body scanning machines are probably the biggest breakthrough in radiology since the invention of the X-ray tube. They produce very detailed pictures of the brain and other organs, allowing physicians to see, for example, the precise size and location of tumors barely visible on standard X-ray."

The revolutionary machines produce pictures of any part of the anatomy in less than five minutes. They have revealed enlargement of the liver and spleen, abnormal cavities in the spinal cord and cerebral blood clots indicating types of strokes. The two major virtues of the scanners: discovered tumors can be treated at an early stage, and many risky exploratory operations to determine if an organ is diseased can be averted.

Coral for Arthritis: To replace or shore up diseased bone in people with arthritis, fractures or other disorders, coral from the South Pacific has been fashioned into artificial bones remarkably like the genuine. At Penn State University, scientists employing new techniques have devised pins, screws and bolts from coral to support even whole artificial joints. The material is also being tested as a substitute for human teeth.

New "Insight" for Kidneys: Easier diagnosis of suspected diseased kidneys is made possible by various endoscopes, instruments that examine the inside of hollow organs. The method permits the urologist to rule out the presence of malignant tumors without resorting to surgery.

FEATS OF SURGERY

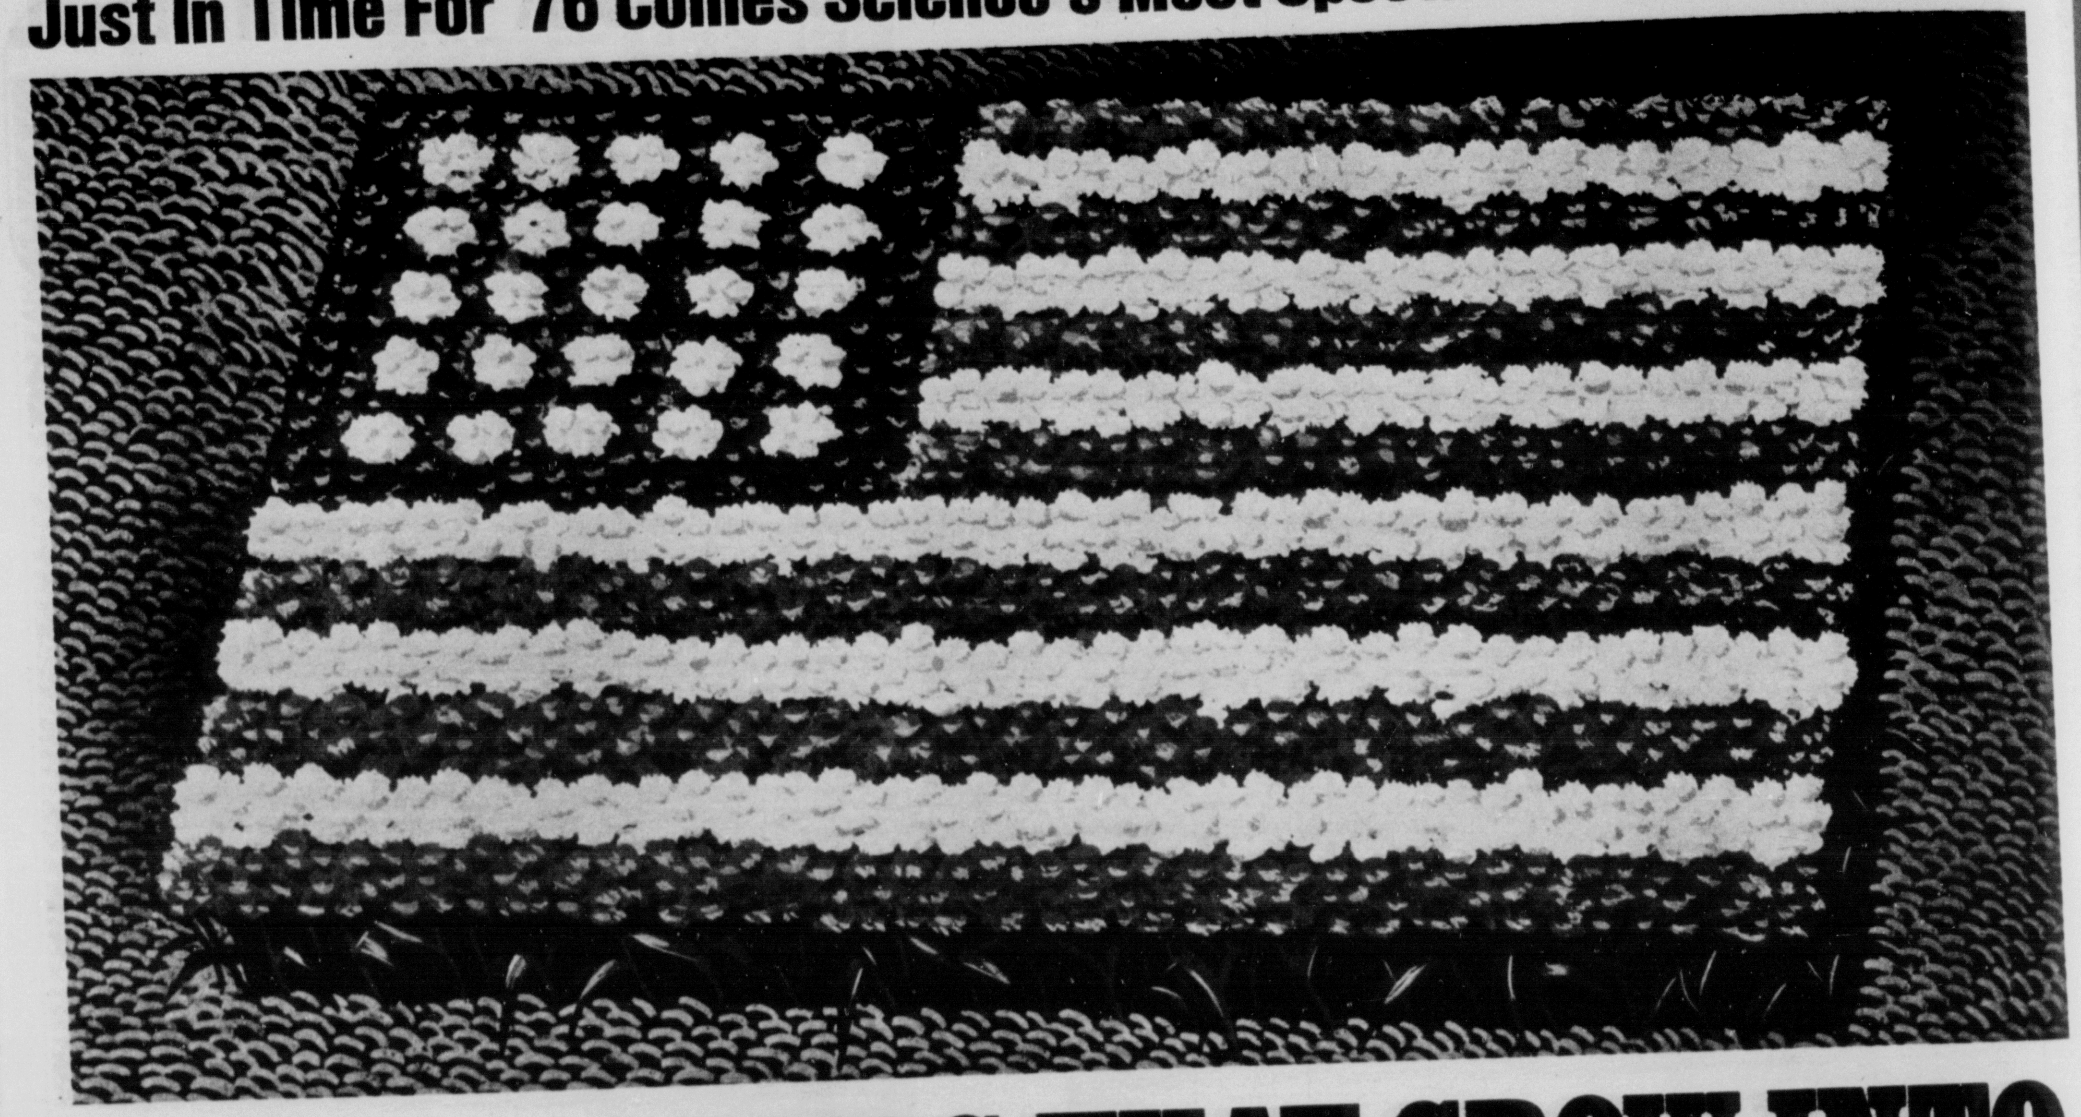
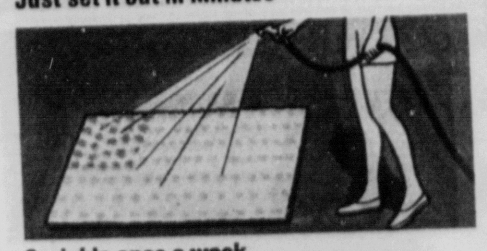
Just In Time For '76 Comes Science's Most Spectacular Achievement!



NOW! FLOWERS THAT GROW INTO ★ A LIVING AMERICAN FLAG! ★

JUST A FEW SHORT WEEKS FROM TODAY!

Just set it out in minutes



Sprinkle once a week

SO NEW—SO DIFFERENT, YOUR NEIGHBORS WILL REFUSE TO BELIEVE THEIR EYES!

Now — for the Bi-Centennial — comes the most incredible sight you've ever seen! One you have to walk up to and touch to believe it is real. Think of it! For the first time ever — a giant 3-foot by 5-foot LIVING AMERICAN FLAG, that surges into full red, white, and blue bloom in just a matter of weeks . . . and stays in full glorious color ALL SUMMER LONG! Yes, it's guaranteed to be the most stunning, traffic-stopping sight on the block this year. Yet it's all so easy that with nothing more than a few sprinkles a week, even a 6-year old child can grow this amazing LIVING FLAG!

WHO EVER HEARD OF FLOWERS SO SMART THEY GROW INTO LIVING PICTURES?

The secret behind this revolutionary development is unique pre-seeded matting of specially developed red, white, and blue flower seeds . . . scientifically trained to march forth in solid ranks of bloom all the same height, same width, same rate of growth. Meaning that you simply set out this pre-seeded, bio-degradable wonder matting anywhere in your garden . . . water just once every 7 days . . . and in a few short weeks see it erupt into a giant 3-foot by 5-foot flowering American flag, so magnificent that passing cars will actually stop to take pictures.

1976 IS BARELY HERE—YET SUPPLIES ARE ALREADY SORELY LIMITED—SO ACT NOW!

Naturally, a development as spectacular as this is bound to cause an avalanche of orders. In fact, initial demand is so great, supplies are already desperately strained. To make sure you do not miss out, order now on guarantee of full satisfaction, or money back!

By cooling her body and totally arresting her circulation, surgeons were able to shrink the tumor away from vital areas of the brain and then remove it.

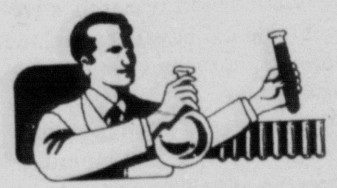
Heparin, an Anticlot Life-Saver: Lives of thousands of surgical patients can be saved each year if given heparin, an anticlotting drug, before and after major chest and abdominal operations. Reporting this finding, Dr. Sol Sherry of Temple University explained that in many patients blood clots form after an operation, break loose, then move through the heart and into the lungs, which can prove fatal. Dr. Sherry urges use of low-dose heparin in all patients over 40 who face major surgery.

Postcataract Lens Implants: More and more "spare" parts for our bodies keep coming along. Take cataracts, a leading cause of blindness—over 400,000 Americans undergo surgery each year to remove diseased lenses in the eyes. Up to now they've had to wear extra-thick glasses which can seriously impair peripheral vision; or contact lenses, an uncomfortable nuisance for the elderly.

The latest development: a plastic substitute lens permanently implanted within the eye, in front of the iris. It's unobtrusive and provides vision which is virtually as good as the natural lens. The patient's prescription is ground into the lens before implanting. Since the process is not applicable to all patients (such as diabetics), it's still a controversial issue.

Body-Chilling for Infant Surgery: Only a day-and-a-half old, the boy suffered from a deadly congenital heart defect. At Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston, doctors anesthetized him, put a plastic blanket over his body and covered it with cracked ice. When his temperature dropped to 77 degrees, the baby's chest was opened, and he was hooked up to a heart-and-lung machine that pumped cooled blood through his body. He lay in suspended animation, his heart motionless, his circulation at a standstill. Then, in less than an hour, surgeons rearranged the blood vessels leading from the lungs to his tiny heart.

The baby benefited from open-heart surgery aided by what is known as deep hypothermic circulatory arrest (total body chilling). Revolutionizing cardiac surgery in children under the age of one, it can prove a boon to many of the 11,000 babies born each year with critical heart defects.



FOR SAFER CHILDBIRTH, BETTER BABIES

Birth-Defect Test Is Safe: "This past year," Dr. Cooper notes, "we completed a major study that showed that amniocentesis is a safe and accurate way to detect genetic disease in the unborn baby."

This previously reported prenatal diagnostic technique, a needle tap of a pregnant woman's amniotic fluid, is recommended for those who have an increased risk of giving birth to infants with abnormalities.

Birth-Safety Predictor: At St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica, the new oxytocin challenge test has taken the danger out of hazardous births. It involves a drug (oxytocin) similar to a body's natural labor-inducing substance and a fetal heart rate monitor. With the test, a safe time for birth can be predicted.

BEAMING IN ON ULCERS

Lasers to Heal Ulcers? Traditionally, bleeding ulcers have been treated by drugs, diet or surgery. Now laser beams help control internal bleeding, markedly reduce the number of blood transfusions and the time spent in hospitals. According to doctors at the University of Southern California, the laser can be used for patients who are poor bets for surgery. The procedure, however, is still in an experimental stage.

Ulcer-Proneness Test: Taking a test may tell whether you're apt to come down with a peptic ulcer. A research team at Chicago's Michael Reese Hospital reports that a blood sample drawn from an arm vein can be checked for an "ulcer factor." Some of the blood is

FOR BETTER HEARING

Coming—an Electrode for the Deaf: Incredibly, there was a 9-year-old girl, born deaf, who now could hear her own voice for the first time. Her newfound hearing was made possible by an implanted electrode in her cochlea (the spiral-shaped part of the internal ear containing the auditory nerve endings). The electrode was connected through a "button" behind her ear to a device in her pocket, about the size of a cigarette pack. Several types of implantable hearing aids are being developed with varying success at the Los Angeles Ear Research Institute and in other labs. Few, however, are yet available to the general public.

MENTAL/PHYSICAL HEALTH

Personality and Heart or Cancer Vulnerability: Your "personality profile" could have an impact on what diseases you incur sooner or later. Long-term studies at Johns Hopkins University reported, not surprisingly, that victims of mental illness and suicide had nervous habits, were heavy coffee drinkers, tense and insomniacs. Heart-attack patients showed anger under stress, were tired on awakening and often depressed.

Most unexpectedly, the study revealed a link between personality patterns and cancer. The cancer-prone generally had placid, gentle, nonaggressive temperaments. Like victims of mental illness, they felt a remarkable lack of closeness to their parents. But why cancer? Specialists believe the body's immune system plays a vital role in protecting against malignancies; people susceptible to stresses involving loss of strong relationships might produce hormonal changes and failure of the immune system.

Heredity and Depression: In mental health research, striking biological advances include evidence that genes play an important part in schizophrenia and depression. Though schizophrenia itself is not inherited, there is almost certainly a familial predisposition to it.

BOON FOR DIABETICS

A Secretion as Important—Maybe—as Insulin: Evidence supports the theory that glucagon, a pancreatic hormone, plays as important a role in diabetes as insulin does. Too much glucagon perhaps contributes to higher levels of sugar in the blood. Lately a protein called somatostatin was isolated at the Salk Institute to inhibit the release of glucagon from the pancreas. Infusion of this drug reduced the patient's blood-sugar levels by 25 percent, even without insulin. Given with insulin, it may give diabetics a greatly improved chance of life free from such serious complications as blindness and kidney failure. For the time being, use of somatostatin is restricted to research studies.

BIRTH CONTROL

Hormonal Contraceptives: A new year-long contraceptive combines features of The Pill and IUD but avoids some of the drawbacks. The new device, initially launched under a Ford Foundation grant, is designed to be implanted by a physician to prevent pregnancy by slowly releasing a hormonal agent.

The latest FDA warning about oral contraceptives is that the risk of heart attack is three- to five-times higher among women on The Pill than women not taking it. Reports of studies announced last year indicate women over 40 especially should switch to some other form of contraception.

WHAT'S AHEAD?

"In future basic research," says Dr. Cooper, "we will be learning much more about how a single fertilized egg cell divides during pregnancy into different kinds of cells, such as bone, brain, muscle and kidney cells.

"We're going to have more studies on the health hazards in the environment and the work place, on the role of nutrition in health and on health problems of children.

"And an area of research that is attracting many bright scientists is research on the biochemistry and molecular biology of memory, learning, drug addiction and mental disorders."

To all those bright scientists in white coats, relentlessly seeking breakthroughs in the nation's labs and hospitals, we owe a vote of thanks—and, eventually perhaps, our lives.

In an interview with FAMILY WEEKLY, Dr. Theodore Cooper, Assistant Secretary for Health at H.E.W., summed up these recent medical advances:

- Progress in the understanding of viruses and immunology—the way the body defends itself against disease and other invaders.
- The knowledge that viruses and the immune system have much to do with chronic and degenerative diseases, as well as infectious disease.
- The identification of the basic structure of antibodies. This may lead to the ability to make antibodies synthetically.
- Progress in diagnosing disease.
- Preventive progress against certain genetic diseases.

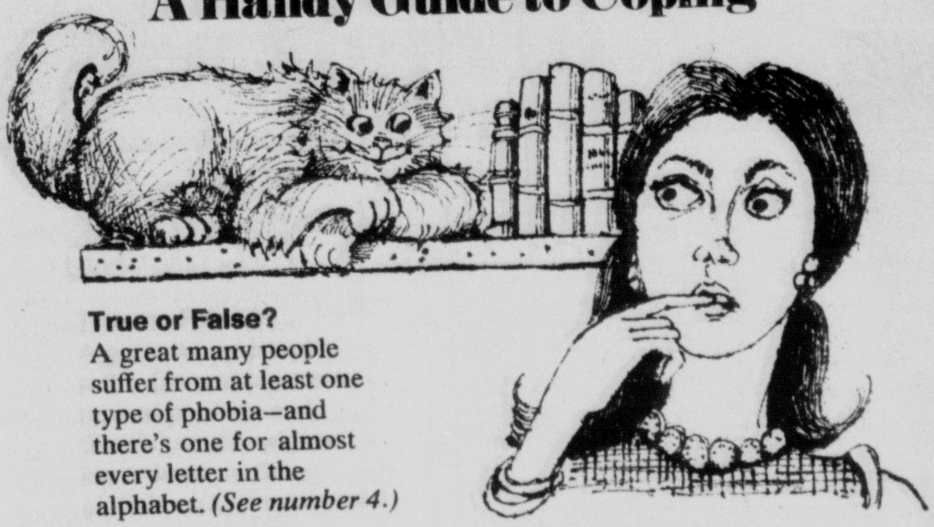
People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

Our Fears:

A Handy Guide to Coping



True or False?
A great many people suffer from at least one type of phobia—and there's one for almost every letter in the alphabet. (See number 4.)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Most of a person's fears, anxieties and apprehensions are self-generated and stem from within.

2. If you will simply try to ignore the various fears and anxieties which are part and parcel of daily living, most of them will gradually fade away and cease to trouble you.

3. There is a simple psychological yardstick that measures a person's fear of failure—and even his fear of death.

4. A great many people suffer from at least one type of phobia—and there's one for almost every letter in the alphabet.

5. A phobia is different from a rational fear in that there isn't much you can do about it, except learn to live with it.

ANSWERS

1. True—according to psychiatric studies, which show that primarily a person's fears and anxieties—feelings of apprehension, tension or inner restlessness—result from a disapproving conscience, which rightly or wrongly takes issue with some of his attitudes or actions. And other investigations have shown that people who are on the best terms with their conscience tend to have the fewest fears and inner conflicts, the greatest peace of mind. Some fears, of course, result directly from outside sources. However, there is a tendency on the part of many people to make external causes the scapegoat for fears and anxieties which are self-generated.

2. False. The best way to deal with your fears and apprehensions is to face them squarely. They will lose much of their power to intimidate you once you get them out in the open and subject them to a frank and objective appraisal. Most will fall into two categories: those you can do something about by taking action and those which prove groundless. Suppressing your fears, bottling them up and refusing to admit them, can result in physical as well as psychological problems. Studies have demonstrated, for example, that such suppression of feelings and emotions is frequently a factor in high blood pressure.

3. True. Investigations have shown that the person with a high fear of failure (as well as a high fear of death, among other things) is one who has a wide discrepancy between his real and his ideal self. To put it a different way, the greater the gap between your actual self and the person you feel you should be, the greater your susceptibility to these fears—and the stronger they are likely to be.

4. True. Phobias—defined as the obsessive and usually groundless fear of some particular object or situation—are so numerous that they run the gamut from A (acrophobia: a fear of high places) to Z (zoophobia: fear of animals), and even include phobophobia: a fear of being afraid—which is more common than you might expect. And some people even have a phobia about Christmas, for various reasons. ("I just dread Christmas! I'm so relieved when it's over.") Though this type of phobia has not been officially catalogued, perhaps it might be referred to as Santaclaustrophobia.

5. False. In a study conducted by a team of specialists at London's Institute of Psychiatry, men and women with long-standing specific phobias were given a rapid treatment that consisted simply of continuous exposure to their phobic objects (spiders, cats, birds, fear of water, etc.). The treatment was found highly effective. Example: a 20-year-old woman was terrified of cats. She was first told to fantasize that there was a cat beside her. After she got used to the "fantasy cat," a real cat was placed on a table six feet away. Looking at the cat provoked intense anxiety which subsided after about five minutes. The cat was then brought closer and closer by degrees, and after a few minutes she became able to touch and stroke the cat. The report concludes: "She spent the last 15 minutes of the two-hour session cuddling the cat on her lap, without anxiety."

Grass Seed Is For The Birds! Zoysia Saves Time, Work, Money

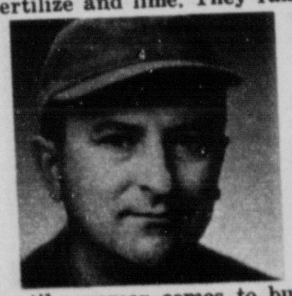
By Mike Senkiw
Agronomist

Every year I see people pour more and more money into their lawns. They dig, fertilize and lime. They rake it all in. They scatter their seed and roll and water it.



Birds love it! Seeds which aren't washed away by rain give them a feast. But some seed grows, and soon it's time to weed, water and mow, mow . . . until summer comes to burn the lawn into hay, or crabgrass and diseases infest it.

That's what happens to ordinary grass, but not to Amazoy Zoysia.

"MOWED IT 2 TIMES," WRITES WOMAN

For example, Mrs. M. R. Mitter writes me how her lawn ". . . is the envy of all who see it. When everybody's lawns around here are brown from drought ours just stays as green as ever. I've never watered it, only when I put the plugs in . . . Last summer we had it mowed (2) times. Another thing, we never have to pull any weeds — it's just wonderful!"

And from Iowa came word that the state's largest Men's Garden Club picked a Zoysia lawn as the "top lawn — nearly perfect" in its area. Yet this lawn had been watered only once all summer up to August!

Cuts Your Work, Saves You Money

Your deep-rooted, established Amazoy lawn saves you time and money in many ways. It never needs replacement . . . ends re-seeding forever. Fertilizing and watering (water costs money, too) are rarely if ever needed. It ends the need for crabgrass killers permanently. It cuts pushing a noisy mower in the blistering sun by 2/3.

CHOKES OUT CRABGRASS

Thick rich, luxurious Amazoy grows into a carpet of grass that chokes out crabgrass and weeds all summer long. It will NOT winter kill. Goes off its green color after killing frost, regains fresh new beauty every Spring — a true perennial!

For Slopes, Play Areas, Bare Spots

Your Own Supply of Plug Transplants

NO SEED, NO SOD!

There's no seed that produces winter-hardy Meyer Zoysia. Sod of ordinary grass brings with it the problems of seed, like weeds, diseases, burning out, other ills.

Meyer Z-52 Zoysia Grass Was Perfected by U.S. Govt.; Released In Cooperation With U.S. Golf Assoc. as a superior grass.

RESISTS WEAR & TEAR

Amazoy lawns take cookouts and parties — children playing on it won't hurt it, or themselves! Stays green right thru scorching heat and drought!

NO NEED TO RIP OUT PRESENT GRASS PLUG AMAZOY INTO OLD LAWN, NEW GROUND OR NURSERY AREA

When planted in existing lawn areas plugs will spread to drive out old, unwanted growth, including weeds. Easy planting instructions with order.

PATENTED STEP-ON PLUGGER IS . . . . . FREE WITH ORDERS OF 600 PLUGS OR MORE

Amazoy exclusive! No one else can offer you this patented 2-way plugger. Saves bending, time, work. Light, rugged, invaluable for transplanting. Cuts away competing growth as it digs plug holes

Every Plug Guaranteed to Grow In Your Area • In Your Soil

- AMAZOY WON'T WINTER KILL—has survived temperatures 30° below zero!
- AMAZOY WON'T HEAT KILL—when other grasses burn out, Amazoy remains green and lovely!

Plug Amazoy into an entire lawn or problem areas. Plug it into poor soil, "builder's soil," clay or even salty, sandy beach areas. I guarantee every plug, regardless. Any plug failing to grow in 45 days replaced FREE. Since we're hardly in business for the fun of it, you know we're 100% sure of our product!

If it isn't Amazoy, you're not getting the plugs that made Zoysia famous.

Order guaranteed Amazoy now, get your bonus plugs FREE. Your order will be delivered at earliest correct time for planting in your area.

We ship all orders the same day grass is taken from the soil, shipping charge collect via most economical means.

Lee Marvin, at 52, looks like a character out of a Hemingway novel—lean, deeply tanned, strikingly handsome despite the gray stubble on his cheeks and chin. He quickly won the admiration of the British movie crew while he shot his new movie, "Shout at the Devil," about a flamboyant ivory poacher during World War I. The movie was shot in South Africa and Malta.

Lee has been called "Hollywood's favorite bad guy." He has earned a reputation for off-camera familiarity with his own three B's: "broads, booze and brawls." He seems, however, to have mellowed since his marriage five years ago to his second wife, Pam Feeley, who always travels with him and who was present during this interview:

FAMILY WEEKLY: Why did you turn down roles in big moneymakers like "Jaws" and "Earthquake"?

MARVIN: For many reasons. I thought "Jaws" was a piece of junk. They wanted me to play the part of the shark fisherman who, in the end, is had by the shark. I have too much respect for fishermen to cop out on a cheap story like that. In "Earthquake," you know what's going to happen, so why scare all the old ladies in Los Angeles? That's not my role in life really. Besides those are both sick films.

MARVIN: It's hard to find anything that's really good now. As your taste either develops or changes or decreases, or whatever it does, the targets narrow.

FW: I hear you like marlin fishing. When do you have time for it?

MARVIN: I don't care when it is, I go! There are so few great boats that the good ones have a waiting list that runs for years. Pam and I are lucky to have found this guy who, when we finish one trip, asks, "What time next year?" And Pam's not bad at fishing [proudly]. In fact,

FW: Is it true that you're building an extra room onto your house to mount your marlin?

MARVIN: Sure! I can't stick it in the bathroom or over the fireplace! It's 15 feet and one inch and weighs 1,320 pounds. You don't have the actual fish mounted. You saw off the bill of the marlin and save that for your trophy. Then you take very careful measurements because, as you probably know, they're pretty classically formed. The moulder puts it together and puts in a glass eye. Otherwise, the fish is mostly plastic. Then they ship it off to you.

FW: You once told me that it was impossible to take a vacation because you always have something on your mind.

MARVIN: I still have something on my mind. It's just that I've made up my mind that if I can't handle it, I don't think about it. I don't look for the answer any more.

FW: Why did you leave the Malibu movie colony to live in Tucson?

MARVIN: I think I wore it out. I spent 10 or 12 years there. It lost its uniqueness for me. Maybe it's the fact that I've seen the bigger surfs. It was time for a change, or, I should say, it was time for a change because nothing ever changes.

FW: Do you enjoy going off by yourself?

MARVIN: Listen, I do that wherever I am. I don't need to make a physical move to be by myself. I can do that in the middle of a riot. I just turn off mentally.

FW: Has doubling your family changed your life? [Lee and his wife have four children each by previous marriages.]

MARVIN: Not at all, especially with the kind of financial freedom I have. If I had to feed them by driving a delivery truck, I might have a problem. Now it's simply a matter of feeding them and let's see what they do. If anything, having more kids gives you more freedom. If you have only one or two kids, you're more likely to throw a lot of hysterical pressure on them about life and all that. But if you have a lot of kids, you tend to treat them equally: "Look, I'll give you the opportunity, but you have to do something with it." We're lucky now —we only have one child at home. She's 13. Listen—I don't pay too much attention to the kids until they get to the rebuttal stage and start bucking me. That can be anywhere from the teens on into the forties.

FW: Are you a strict father?

MARVIN: Nope, I'm only strict about myself: when I want to be in control and when I don't want to be in control.

FW: You seem very happy and relaxed. Are you?

MARVIN: Life has always been good to me. Every once in a while, bad times beat you to it. I like Jimmy Whitmore's line, "Ever since 1945, it's been gravy." That's a good line.

MARVIN: It gives them a tremendous opportunity they might not otherwise have. It's more than just a sightseeing tour. Movies can trap you in an endless number of places where you wouldn't even stop to go to the men's room. Also, if you're stuck on a job, you don't pay much attention to your surroundings. It's important to share what's around you: "Look at that beautiful tree," or "What a lovely garden." Besides, as every man knows, if you're staying in a motel or hotel, you've got two choices: dinner or the bar. That always leads to trouble or confusion or gun shots or letters from attorneys. I save myself a lot of trouble and bring my wife and kids along.

FW: Have you set any goals for your children?

MARVIN: I wish the heck they'd get out on their own. That's what I want, just for them to show up for Thanksgiving or send a Christmas card. I'd be content! No. Goals are individual.

MARVIN: Cope is a modern expression. Education takes many different forms. But education is all you can really give a child besides a certain amount of love.

MARVIN: Very much so! I am a puritan. That's my stock.

FW: You recently turned down a beer commercial. Is that part of your puritanical thinking?

MARVIN: No! That has nothing to do with being a puritan. But I don't have to drink their beer. Otherwise, I would have to be flashing it in every bar I stepped into. Guys would say, "You've sold out." Now, I'm not selling out by any means, but they'd think so if I made the commercial.

FW: Puritanical thinking isn't exactly "in" today, is it Lee?

FW: What's your definition of Puritanism?

MARVIN: There was a marvelous ancestor of mine, Matthew Marvin, who came to America with Thomas Hooker (one of the early Colonial clergymen who settled in this country in 1633.) When they settled in Connecticut, Matthew headed up the militia. The farmers would have the Sabbath off and they enjoyed having a little ale. And it turned out that every Sunday they poured into the taverns, but nobody could get them to church. Matthew's way of handling this was to ride into town on Sunday morning with his militia and, at gunpoint, take the men out of the gin mills and into church. That's puritanical! Haven't you noticed how one guy simply does something because it has to be done, as against the guy who says, "But why did you do it?" The first guy answers: "Someone had to do it. Let's get on with it."

FW: You think we should treat life the same way, just get on with it, whatever comes along?

MARVIN: You have to.

The world's most incredible scissors at an incredible price! The idea originated with the Scandinavians — why not a scissors anatomically designed to fit the human hand instead of fight it . . . why not make it out of a cushion-y plastic that would rest rather than tire the hand? The brilliant result — a breakthrough in scissor design . . . is still selling in some better stores for $8 and more!

An Exciting New Dimension in Scissor Performance — Cuts Like Magic

You can whiz through the heaviest of velvets to the most gossamer of silks as fast, as perfectly as a professional dressmaker. You can turn corners, make circles, cut angles, zoom straight-as-an-arrow along a table edge so easily it's like the scissors is cutting all by itself (your fingers are along for the ride!)

And you can sas-shay through tricky patterns with incredible ease and precision, end your paper "rip offs" forever — cut coupons and recipes without ruining the rest of the paper! Quality-crafted with the famous Scandinavian features including soft plastic orange handle, and stainless steel blades, 8¼″ long. Special safety "points" make it safe for the children's crafts, too! Weighs only 3 ounces. Order now — the sharpest buy of your life at ONLY $1.99.

Jobmanship

Should You Confide in Co-Workers?

It all depends. There are some things you might want to tell your boss. Other things you'd be wise to keep to yourself even if you almost choke on them. Trying to act as a personal listening post for a boss usually backfires. By telling what "people are saying" about him or her, you will definitely earn a special spot—as a gossip and troublemaker. But if a jealous co-worker is circulating lies about you that are serious, you might quietly confide in your boss. Bosses may do nothing about situations like this when they learn of them, but their knowledge will protect you when the false rumors reach their ears. Personal troubles are a whole category of their own. If there's serious illness in your family, it may be right to let people know. You may think you're behaving normally at work despite your worries, but others may notice erratic actions. If they understand the cause, they'll be more willing to overlook occasional lapses. However, when you're beset by marital and romantic difficulties or embarrassing legal, monetary and personal dilemmas, don't be too quick to let it all hang out. The one person you're telling it to may be all right. But what about that one person's other good friend who will soon be hearing the story? And the next person after that? Why compound your difficulties by smearing your image at work? Then you'll have two problems instead of one.

My Ten Favorite Records

FREDA PAYNE

Within the past three years, Freda Payne's recordings of "Band of Gold" and "Bring the Boys Home" have sold over a million. These, along with her top-selling LPs—"Contact," "The Best of Freda Payne," "Payne and Pleasure,"—led to headline appearances in world-famed clubs, theaters and concert halls across the U.S. Before this, she caught the attention of Broadway audiences when, as Leslie Uggams's understudy in "Hallelujah Baby," she performed in the starring role. In 1973, she made her movie debut in "Book of Numbers." Born into a middle-class family in Detroit, Freda's world as a teenager was one of singing and dancing. At 18, she entered show business in the chorus of Pearl Bailey's night-club troupe, and later accepted an offer from Quincy Jones to join his tour with Redd Foxx and Billy Eckstine. International tours plus her recordings and TV guest spots have brought her the acclaim she enjoys today.

The Bible: More than meets the eye!

Millions of people read the Bible. Many others are puzzled by this and wonder what it is all about. Still others are aghast that the Bible can make devout and thoughtful neighbors of some and obnoxious fanatics of others. "The Bible saved our marriage," says one couple. A second couple says just the opposite.

Clearly, the Bible is not a simple book that one can sit down with and immediately understand in its fullness. One needs help and preparation before he can discover God speaking to him through the printed word.

Mindful of the incomparable value of the Scriptures and of the need for proper preparation before reading them, the Catholic bishops at the Second Vatican Council in 1965 wrote a special document On Divine Revelation. Written primarily for Catholics, it has since proven to be interesting and helpful to an even wider audience. The complete document is now available from many sources, but by way of simplifying it, we have prepared a less technical version. A free copy of this is yours for the asking. Simply mail the coupon. No one will call on you.

Smart Cooking For Tired Cooks

Family Weekly Food Editor Marilyn Hansen recommends the one-pot, slow-cooking method for short ribs. "It really brings out the flavor of this main dish," she advises.

Short Ribs, Cooked In Wine

Slow-Cooked Short Ribs with carrots and small, plump onions simmers all day, is ready to serve when you arrive home in the evening.

MARILYN'S MENU
Slow-Cooked Short Ribs in Wine*
Poppy Seed Noodles
Applesauce and Horseradish*
Three Bean Salad Italian Bread
Cabernet Sauvignon
Baked Rum Fruit*
Coffee Tea Milk

*Recipe Given

SLOW-COOKED SHORT RIBS IN WINE

6 lbs. well-trimmed short ribs cut into individual ribs
3 tablespoons liquid gravy seasoning
1 lb. fresh or frozen carrot chunks
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 bay leaves
¼ cup minute tapioca
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon thyme leaves
2 teaspoons salt
2 envelopes instant bouillon
2 cups red wine
1 cup water

1. Brush short ribs with gravy seasoning and place in bottom of a 5½-qt. crock or slow-cooker. Add carrots, onions, garlic and bay leaves.

2. Combine minute tapioca, pepper, thyme, salt and instant bouillon. Sprinkle mixture over short ribs. Pour wine and water over all and cover.

3. Place crock in outer cooking shell. Cook on high setting for 4½-5 hours.

Makes 6 to 8 servings

APPLESAUCE AND HORSERADISH

1 jar (1 lb.) applesauce
2 tablespoons white horseradish

Blend applesauce and horseradish. Serve as a relish with hot or cold meats.

Makes 3 cups

BAKED RUM FRUIT

1 can (1 lb., 4 ozs.) cling peach halves, drained and halved
1 can (1 lb., 4 ozs.) pineapple chunks, drained
1 can (1 lb., 1 oz.) dark, sweet pitted cherries, drained
1 can (1 lb., 1 oz.) unpeeled apricot halves (reserve liquid)
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1⅓ cups light rum
1 pt. sour cream

1. Preheat oven to 350°F.

2. Combine fruits and apricot liquid in shallow 3-qt. baking dish. Sprinkle with brown sugar and pour 1 cup rum over fruit.

3. Bake for 1½ hours, uncovered, stirring once.

4. Pour on remaining ⅓ cup rum. Serve warm or cold with a generous spoonful of sour cream on each serving.

Makes 2 qts.

What's Smart: Buy short ribs or flank cut from chuck, the fore-quarter of beef. Be alert for specials or the meat manager's sale for a good price. Short ribs cut from the end of the rib roast generally have too much fat.

Is your cigarette less than More?

More has more style. It has more flavor. It has more. Over 50% more puffs than most 100mm cigarettes. Yet More doesn't cost more.

And what's more, More comes in both regular and menthol. They're both long, lean and burnished brown. Regular More delivers rich tobacco flavor while More Menthol packs a cooling blast. Puff after puff after puff.

More and More Menthol. They sit neat in your hand like they were made for it and fit your face like they found a home.

The Seven Medals of the Princes of Monaco

By the exclusive Appointment of His Highness Prince Rainier of Monaco

The only North American minting of a valued edition, limited to five thousand sets in pure gold (24 karat) and ten thousand sets in pure silver (.999 fine).

Recently, Prince Rainier III celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary as the Sovereign Prince of Monaco. In special commemoration, The Prince authorized that seven medals be struck in precious metal to honor the sovereign line of the Monegasque princes.

These medals, portraying the princes of Monaco, were designed partly from the treasury of old coins and medals in the Prince's private museum. The minters are especially obligated to retain an exceptionally high standard of quality.

Classic High-Relief

To accommodate the requirements of the present Prince, the customary minting procedure was enhanced. Using hand-cut dies in a double striking sequence, minters are able to obtain the high-relief notable in the medals of earlier centuries. The subsequent beauty of each medal—a result of this difficult, rarely used technique—serves to explain why this collection, in its brief term of issue, has become almost legendary to the European collector.

Justly, the seventh medal in the series—bearing the likeness of Their Serene Highnesses, Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace, in a striking of the highest caliber—is among the finest masterpieces of the medallist's art to have been produced in our century.

Every set made available to the general public is accompanied by a numbered certificate bearing the signature of Prince Rainier III. A brief chronicle of the Monegasque princes portrayed is also provided. The names of the original purchasers will be inscribed in a Roster of Owners in the Palace Archives of Monaco. Each subscriber will be assigned a serial number unique to his set. This number will be stamped on the edge of each medal. Numbers will be assigned in the order in which subscription applications are approved.

The medals themselves, along with the tools used in their minting, have already been placed on public display—for present and future generations—in the Palace Museum of Monaco.

Exclusively Minted

"The Seven Medals of the Princes of Monaco" is available in North America only through The Hamilton Mint, which has been appointed and entrusted officially with the minting of this exclusive issue. The use of pure gold (24 karat) and fine silver (.999) signify the purest metals available.

NANCY WALKER
"Only morons are happy"

The petite comedienne talks about the serious problem of modern man's depression: "Let's face it, how many people do you know who are truly happy? You'd have to be a moron to be happy in the midst of all the turmoil and political scandal around the world. So, if we want to keep our sanity, we cope as best we can. Many people today are taking an interest in psychiatry or meditation. But I don't think these are anything more than superficial, temporary answers to our present state of national depression. Perhaps the most important social development of this century is our new-found candor. Everyone from actors to housewives can now vent their feelings, bare their souls and confess their sins without the threat of being reprimanded. That's why there are fewer and fewer "closet" alcoholics and homosexuals. It's not that man is any more willing to condone 'antisocial' behavior, but when the truth is plainly in evidence and somebody is crying out for help, at least we can begin to deal with these problems and anxieties."

Franz Furst

Or would you rather be a bear? The bear taking his ease at the zoo has very little in common with that bear for fitness, Eileen Fowler, who says none of us will ever be the picture of health unless we get up early every morning and do some exercises outdoors. Here are Eileen's other five rules for physical fitness, in her own words: "1) Don't stay up late. 2) Don't eat large meals late at night. 3) Get plenty of sleep. 4) Don't live on a diet of fish and chips (french fries). 5) Don't choose a career in acting." Ms. Fowler, England's No.-1 fitness teacher, feels that it's harder to get the English to keep fit than it is Americans: "In America, you're obsessed with youth. In England, it's just the reverse. We're almost conditioned to grow old. We're convinced that until gray hairs and double chins appear, we're not respectable and distinguished. I've been fighting this inbred British nonsense for 40 years!" What's the first sign of old age? "My grandmother once told me that you are as old as your feet. Always remember that. If there is anything wrong with your feet, it will show in your face." Eileen Fowler is a podiatrist's godsend, and at 69, a testament to her fitness philosophy.

Pictorial Parade

. . . While Eileen Fowler, fitness expert, recommends a somewhat more active life with exercise—but plenty of sleep as well.

Why Americans never understood the Vietnam war and may never understand the war in Angola: "We had always supported a recognizable ally against a clearly discernible enemy: the French and English against the Germans, for instance, or the Chinese against the Japanese. But in Vietnam there was no language or cultural difference between friend and foe. Vietnam's disorienting effect on our society, the indeterminate nature of that war we couldn't seem to win or abandon, was reflected in our movie makers' inability to find an appropriate format for presenting the war to a mass audience. Central to the war movie is respect for action. But Vietnam made any action mere busywork and turned the mechanics of war into monstrosities. Likewise, the moral justifications of a 'good' war were missing. In countless World War II films, the enemy was shown destroying civilians and setting up puppet governments—now we were doing it." From "Looking Away: Hollywood and Vietnam," by Julian Smith (Scribners, $8.95).

"But, Pop, I'm telling you I heard it!!! The ice cream man!!"

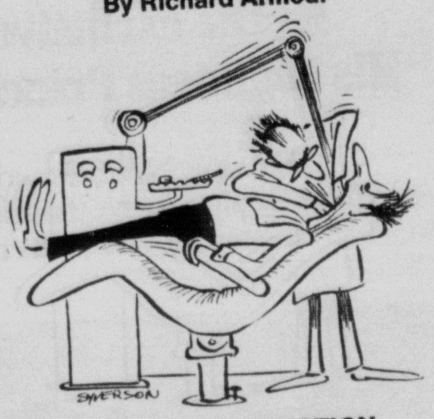
ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour



TOOTH AND FRICTION

With all that scraping, all that buzz,
I don't know what the dentist does.
He knows: he has a little mirror

From time to time I jerk and wince,
And now and then he tells me,
"Rinse."
But with no mirror, I can't see

Though in the light, I'm in the dark
About the dentist's little lark.
I cannot see, he will not tell,
And, frankly, it is just as well.

"I've got good news and bad news," said the caddy. "The good news is that you just made a hole in one on the fourth hole."

"What's the bad news?"

—Samuel J. Stannard

A few years ago we were worried about machines destroying us. Now we're worried about machines that keep us alive! —Robert Orben

Nostalgia makes the present tense and the past perfect.

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

Kids see life differently. Send contributions to "Child," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022. $10 if used—none returned.

My friend was in the hospital recovering from surgery when he received a telephone call from his small granddaughter. Jokingly, my friend said, "My! Sissy, you look pretty today!" Without hesitation, the child replied, "Aw, Grandpa, all you can see is my ear."
